DOCTOR OPERATES ON HIMSELF

Standing Before Mirror He Made Incision, Cut Flesh, Scraped Bone and Sewed Up Wound

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Jan. 7.—Driven to desperation by pain under his inability to find a surgeon who could relieve him, Dr. William Breck of Clarkfield, Minn., stood before a mirror in his office, made an incision just below his left jaw, cut away the flesh from the chin almost to the left ear, scraped the bone and then sewed up the wound. His operation, however, failed to relieve him of a growth which threatened to destroy the jawbone and today he is in a local hospital, where another operation has been performed.

When Dr. Breck performed his own operation he was aided only by a nurse, who was the first to give away under the strain.

The invitation was signed by the committee in charge of the celebration and headed by the name of the mayor, Frank A. Duane.

30 DEGREES BELOW ZERO

At Miles City, Montana, This Morning

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—Thirty degrees below zero at Miles City, Mont., this morning formed the climax of the cold through the west, extending southeastward to the gulf states. The northeastern part of the country has temporary protection by the development of an area of high pressure over the Atlantic near the coast but this territory, according to the weather bureau sharps, gradually will feel the cold shortly. In Colorado this morning it was below zero, at Salt Lake 20 below, at Cheyenne 24 below, in Manitoba 36 below, at El Paso, Texas, 6 above; Amarillo, Texas, two below, and the freezing temperatures extend through Texas to the Mexican border and eastward to Louisiana. The thermometer reading at Omaha was zero, at St. Louis 22 above, Fort Worth 14, San Antonio 29, Chicago 28, Memphis 34, Atlanta 38, and New Orleans 68.

PAUPER DEPARTMENT

Greatly Benefits by the Mild Winter

Officials in the pauper department are elated over the fact that there is not so much misery in this city this time of the year as there was in the two previous years. The clerk stated this morning that there were by far less demands for aid during the month of December than last year or the year before. This he said he believes is due to the mild winter, also to the fact that there is considerable more work in Lowell than before.

them being deceased's two brothers, Wilson Bell and Secly Bell, both of Moncton, N. B., who were present when the doctor passed away; also the former's two children, Lawrence and Miss Grace Bell. Dr. Bell's third brother, Lawrence, is a resident of San Francisco, but at present is in Egypt.

There were also large delegations from the various fraternal and social organizations of which deceased was a respected member. The service, which was very simple, was conducted by Rev. Appleton Grannis, pastor of St. Anne's church. There was a profusion of beautiful floral offerings, showing the esteem in which deceased was held.

The bearers were six close friends of deceased, Messrs. E. L. White of Boston, H. Kirk White, W. T. White, Larkin T. Trull, T. E. Parker, R. L. Jones, Willis Farrington and C. L. Knapp. Burial was in the Lowell cemetery. Funeral arrangements were in charge of Mr. George S. Motley, Undertaker George W. Healey having charge of the burial.

This dancing party is to be one of the prettiest and most enjoyable that young people of this city will have an opportunity of attending this season and all who attend will, as in past years, be well pleased.

HAMILTON MILLS

The New Style Shuttle Now Used Entirely in the Company's Plant—More Satisfactory Than the Old

At the Hamilton mills the self-threading shuttle has been in operation ever since the beginning, and the agent declares that they are far more satisfactory than the suction kind and are quicker to handle. Dr. Simpson, who is a sort of medical advisor to the mill, says that in Fall River about 40 per cent. of the shuttles are of the old kind, and in New Bedford the percentage is even greater.

ALD. BROWN CHARGES ALD. DONNELLY WITH ILLEGAL ACTION

Mr. Donnelly Discharges One Hundred Men Put to Work in the Street Department Yesterday

It would seem that the year 1913 promises to be one of turmoil at city hall if we are to judge of the proceedings this morning. In the first place Commissioner Brown raised a howl over what he termed an illegal action on the part of Mr. Donnelly in making out a voucher in advance of payment. Next Mr. Donnelly, as head of the street department, ordered Supt. Putnam to discharge as many of the men put to work by Alderman Brown as were not needed. As a result 100 were dropped. It is alleged also that Alderman Donnelly will revoke the increase of wages ordered by Alderman Brown when he found he was to be transferred from the department.

The Performance

There was something doing in the commissioner of finance's office at city hall for some time, when a sort of conference, if one would call it that, was held between Commissioner Brown of the finance department, Commissioner Cummings of the lands and buildings department and City Solicitor J. Joseph Hennessy, while Messrs. Elie Laporte and Arthur Cummiskey, the latter agent for the Studebaker automobiles, were present and listened attentively to the performance.

During certain moments the voice of the commissioner of finance pierced the walls of his office and could be heard in the hallway. There was a racket in the office for some time, all men talking together, and finally the city solicitor and the commissioner of public buildings walked out and returned to their respective offices.

The entire fuss came over what Commissioner Brown called an illegal act on the part of the former commissioner of finance, James E. Donnelly, but which he admitted was not criminal. It was relative to the purchase of the Studebaker automobile for the lands and buildings department. The said machine was to be delivered before the end of the year according to the requisition, but arrived yesterday morning. On Dec. 31 Commissioner Donnelly, at that time at the head of the department of finance, issued a voucher to the treasurer for the payment of the said machine to the amount of $1320 on delivery, but however, the auto was not paid for and at the present time the salesman is still wailing for his pay. However, Commissioner Brown claims the act was illegal and, therefore, the fuss. This morning he summoned the city solicitor, the commissioner of public buildings and Mr. Cummiskey to his office and the matter was thrashed out, but despite the fact that each one present endeavored to explain, Mr. Brown would not listen and shouted at the top of his voice that the act was illegal. He further stated that there is no bill for the machine in the lands and building office, but as a matter of fact the requisition is on file in the said office, and reads as follows:

Dec. 14, 1912.

Requisition:

One automobile to meet with approval of inspector of buildings and commissioner of public property, to be paid for from 1912 regular appropriation and to cost approximately $1200.

When wanted: Before the end of the year.

Where to be delivered: Inspector of public buildings department.

Signed, Francis A. Connor,
Approved, Lawrence Cummings,
Alderman.

Commissioner Cummings when asked about the voucher said that the machine was not to be paid for until delivered, and the delay was made until he had found out if he had money to pay for it. He also stated that the automobile will not be paid for until Jan. 15.

Mr. Brown argued that the illegal act was the fact that the commissioner of finance issued the voucher without the consent of the members of the municipal council, but it was said this morning that the matter was settled at a recent meeting.

100 Street Employes Discharged

By order of Street Commissioner Donnelly over 100 men were laid off on the street department this morning, and thereby hangs a tale.

Although the municipal council passed a vote on Saturday changing the designation of Commissioners Brown and Donnelly, Commissioner Brown went to the city stables yesterday morning and put to work over 200 men, in fact, nearly everyone who showed up at the barn was given employment. It was common talk at the barn at the time that Commissioner Donnelly would put them all out the following day, but they reckoned that one day was better than nothing.

Commissioner Brown made a speech to the employes, expressing confidence that he would be back with them again and telling them what sacrifices he had made in their behalf.

During the day the employes received somewhat of a shock when it became noised about that they might not get their pay for the time given to the department under this special order from Mr. Brown.

Commissioner Donnelly, who is not such an early riser as his predecessor in the department, did not put in an appearance at the stable, but Supt. Putnam was there and he laid off all but the necessary complement.

While a question of legality is involved in the employment of the men who worked yesterday, Commissioner Donnelly will not take any action in the matter, but will allow the men their day's pay, inasmuch as it was no fault of theirs that they were illegally employed if such is the case.

Wages Raised

While the payrolls of the different departments usually go to the auditor the first or second day of the week before leaving the street department, on Saturday last, Commissioner Brown had the payroll made out for that week and after approving it sent it to the auditor. Commissioner Brown raised wages of bosses and teamsters as well as laborers, 25 cents per day. This raise if allowed to go for the year will mean an additional expense to the street department for labor of about $40,000. Commissioner Donnelly will not interfere with the payroll as sent in, but will immediately order all wages back to the original amounts until such time as he can readjust them himself. He realizes that this action of his predecessor as well as the employment of a lot of men who were not needed, was meant to embarrass him.

MOTHER DEAD AND SON DYING

Young Man Slashed Mother With Razor, Then Cut His Own Throat

NEW YORK, Jan. 7.—When his mother refused to let him have his mandolin today Harold Harrison, a young musical genius in Brooklyn, jumped out of bed and slashed her to death with a razor. Then he locked himself in the bathroom of their apartment and cut his throat. He cannot recover.

Neighbors said that Harrison, who is 24 years old, was affected by overstudy and subject to fits of insanity. He was suffering from one of these fits today and his mother had induced him to go to bed. He was heard to demand his mandolin and Mrs. Harrison told him he could not have it. Then followed the sound of a struggle and neighbors rushed in to find the mother dead and the son dying.

SENATOR HOKE SMITH

To Confer With President Elect Wilson

TRENTON, N. J., Jan. 7.—Gov. Wilson was at his desk today long before any of the employes or department heads reached their offices. He explained that he had a great amount of work to do.

Senator Hoke Smith of Georgia will confer with Gov. Wilson here tomorrow. The meeting is regarded as one of the most important which Gov. Wilson has had since he began to consult democratic leaders. The president-elect has not declared himself explicitly on the senate rule in committee organization but the activity of Sen. Smith and other democrats immediately identified with the Wilson organization has led some to believe that he tacitly approves the reorganization.

Gov. Wilson also wants to learn the views of the Georgia senator covering presidential appointments to the cabinet. Although Mr. Smith's name has been among those mentioned for a cabinet portfolio it is believed he wishes to remain in the senate.

Senator Thomas Gore of Oklahoma will accompany Senator Smith tomorrow. The Oklahoma senator has been conspicuous in the movement to reorganize senate committees and it is known both he and Senator Smith have been in correspondence with Gov. Wilson on the situation in the senate.

Oil Breaks Violent Waves

PLYMOUTH, England, Jan. 7.—The steamer Ascania suffered severely from the storms in the Atlantic on her voyage from Portland, Me., to this port. On one occasion the vessel had to heave to for six hours so big were the seas. Oil was successfully used to break the violence of the waves.

ARM CRUSHED BY BOOM

Second Mate on Boat Made Heroic Rescue

NEW YORK, Jan. 7.—With one arm hanging crushed and helpless, Second Mate William Webb of the British steamer Sagamore, as the vessel was being swept by big seas in mid-ocean, dashed to the rail and rescued an apprentice from going over the side.

Webb's arm had just been crushed by a swinging derrick boom when he saw the apprentice floundering about in the scuppers. He ploughed his way through the water and grabbed the boy by the collar as a big wave tumbled on board. Part of the Sagamore's rail, all her cattle fittings and a portion of her bridge were carried away by the series of westerly gales which she encountered nearly the entire voyage.

Promises to Shave Negroes

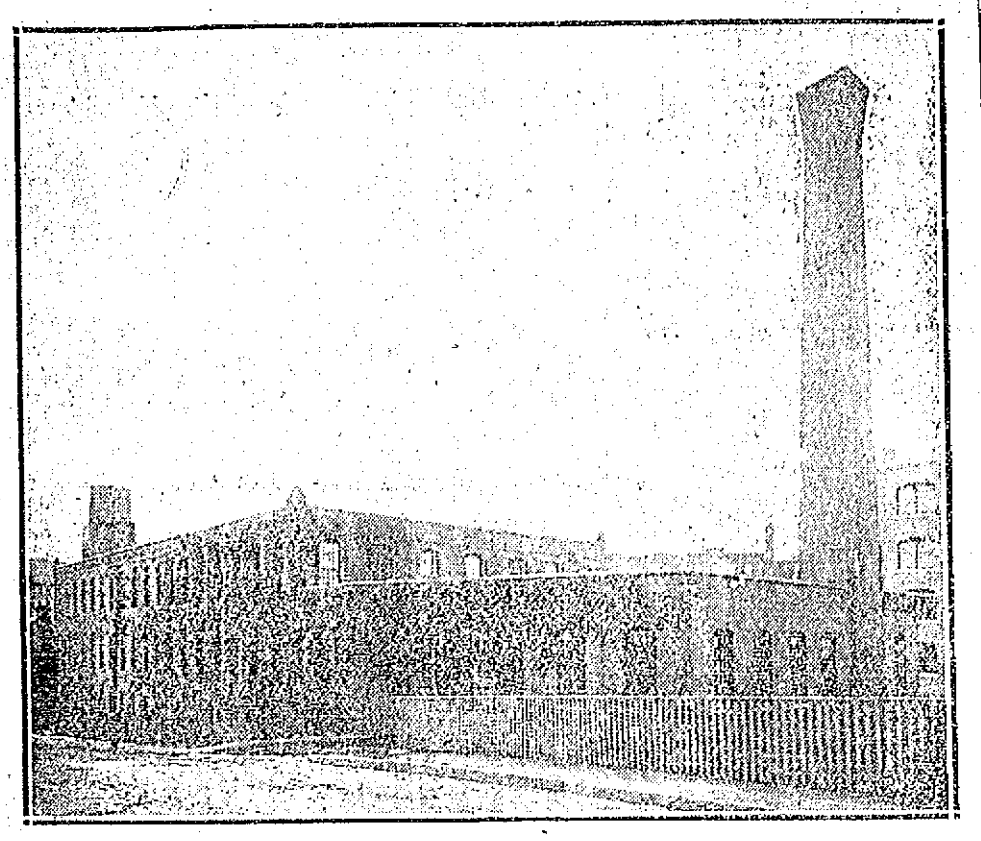

CONCORD, Jan. 7.—Albert Oliver, a Main street barber, was found guilty yesterday of discriminating against a person of color in refusing to shave a colored man in his shop. Oliver had a sign up, "Only White People Shaved Here."

The case was placed on file upon Oliver's promise to take down the objectionable sign, and shave colored citizens. He denied he had discriminated.

"I never pointed out the sign to a colored customer," he told Judge Keyes. "I may have pointed to the hair tonic sign next to it, because I recommend it to all my customers."

The presence of the sign and the probability of its effect was considered by the court and a verdict of guilty rendered. Last night Oliver expressed willingness to shave anybody in Concord whose face was looking like sprout land.

W. J. Barry Shoe Company to Start Business in the Old Whittier Mill on Stackpole Street

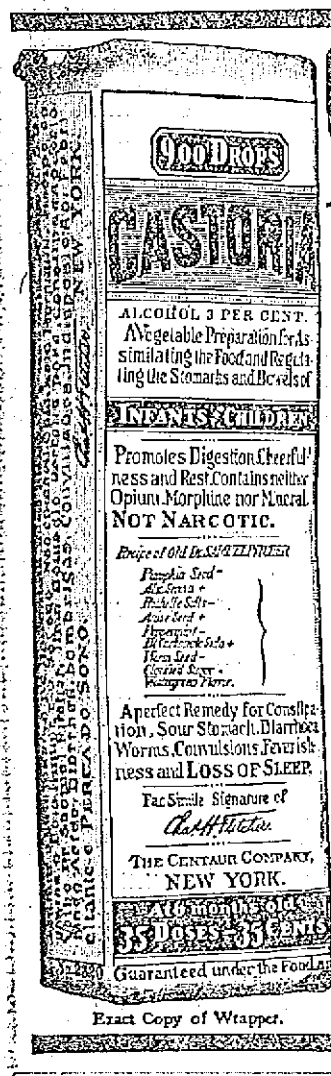

PLANT OF THE W. J. BARRY SHOE FACTORY.

The W. J. Barry Shoe Co. of Salem, as already announced by The Sun, is to locate in the plant of the Lowell Shoe company in the old Whittier mill in Stackpole street. It has purchased the equipment and established a plant which bids fair to grow rapidly and add to the already large number of shoe manufacteries of which the city can proudly boast at the present time.

The new company is already operating the plant and the output of shoes is about 1200 pairs a day but it is expected that within a short time more than twice that number will be turned out daily.

The W. J. Barry Shoe Co. has been in business in Salem for about four years and still runs its plant in that city. William J. Barry is the treasurer, Timothy J. Griffin is president, and James M. White is secretary. Messrs. Griffin and White are working with the new plant in this city and all are experienced shoe manufacturers. Mr. White is superintendent, Mr. Griffin attends to the office work, and Mr. Barry is the buyer and seller. The company sells most of its shoes to western firms but will extend its field of operations after it gets well started in this city.

THE SAILORS MUST BUY

Navy Will Not Stand for Expense

BOSTON, Jan. 7.—Hereafter the bluejackets of the navy will have to uniform and equip their athletic teams at their own expense, as requisitions for athletic gear and supplies will no longer be honored by the pay officers at the various navy yards and aboard the ships in the fleets.

An order issued in February, 1909, made it possible for the enlisted men to secure such athletic supplies as they needed by applying in writing to the pay officers and general store keepers. This order has been revoked by the secretary of the navy.

The order does not go into effect until the present supply of athletic gear is disposed of. As the supply of jerseys and other equipment is pretty near exhausted the sailors will soon have to save up to purchase their own baseball uniforms and equipment.

BURN FRIGATE WABASH

Purchasers Seek Metal in Her Hull

BOSTON, Jan. 7.—The famous old United States frigate Wabash, which has been a familiar figure at the local navy yard for many years, will shortly leave here for Baltimore, where she will meet the same fate that has befallen others of the old naval craft—destruction by fire.

When the Wabash was stricken off the naval list some months ago it was believed that some historical society would purchase her on account of the association connected with her name, but none did.

A Baltimore concern bid her in and they will burn her to get the valuable metal contained in her hull. The price paid for the frigate was $22,055. The copper in the hull is believed to contain a percentage of gold and silver, so the purchasers feel that they got a bargain.

Since 1875 the Wabash has been at the Boston yard, serving as a receiving ship and in that time accommodated more than 250,000 apprentices. During the Civil war she took part in several important engagements and was in Hampton roads when the Monitor and Merrimack fought the famous battle. At the close of the war she went on a cruise to Europe and became flagship of the American squadron in European waters. She returned to Boston and has remained since.

A SOUR, GASSY, UPSET STOMACH.

"Pape's Diapepsin" Regulates Your Stomach and Ends Indigestion in Five Minutes

Wonder what upset your stomach—which portion of the food did the damage—do you? Well don't bother. If your stomach is in a revolt; if sour, gassy and upset, and what you just ate has fermented into stubborn lumps; your head dizzy and aching; belch gases and acids and eructate undigested food; breath foul, tongue coated—just take a little Diapepsin and in five minutes you truly will wonder what became of the indigestion and distress.

Millions of men and women today know that it is needless to have a bad stomach. A little Diapepsin occasionally keeps this delicate organ regulated and they eat their favorite foods without fear.

If your stomach doesn't take care of your liberal limit without rebellion; if your food is a damage instead of a help, remember the quickest, surest, most harmless relief is Pape's Diapepsin which costs only fifty cents for a large case at drug store. It's truly wonderful—it digests food and sets things straight, so gently and easily that it is really astonishing. Please, for your sake, don't go on and on with a weak, disordered stomach; it's so unnecessary.

FRESNO DAN REAL HEIR

Says Woman Witness in Russell Case

BOSTON, Jan. 7.—"Positive" identification of "Fresno Dan" as the real Daniel Blake Russell and the repudiation of "Dakota Dan" was made by Mrs. Ada B. Skinner of Proctorsville, Vt., a witness for the Russell estate at the identity hearing at the East Cambridge court house yesterday before Master G. A. A. Pevey.

Mrs. Skinner, who is a daughter-in-law of the Rev. Charles A. Skinner, a former pastor of the Fourth Universalist church in Melrose, where the Russell family attended and was an intimate friend of the family, admitted on the cross-examination of Attorney Scharton, that she had seen Fresno Dan for the first time two weeks ago, although she had readily identified him from a picture she saw in a Boston newspaper early last July and that it was his mannerisms and his relating to her incidents of his early life in Melrose and his strong resemblance to his mother that had convinced her that he was the missing heir.

After the adjournment of the morning session yesterday several women spectators who have been in constant attendance at the trials for the past three years, engaged in a heated discussion in the corridors.

Some of the women are adherents of Fresno Dan, and others maintain their confidence in Dakota Dan. The quarrel of the spectators, which was of a wordy nature, lasted only a few minutes but it was called to the attention of Master Pevey.

At the opening of the afternoon session Master Pevey announced that any expressions of the spectators to the testimony of witnesses for either side, such as nodding of heads or making grimaces, would be dealt with severely by the court.

HOSPITAL OVERCROWDED

Boston Institution May Refuse Patients

BOSTON, Jan. 7.—Boston's City hospital may have to turn patients away, as the result of the failure of the city council to provide the necessary money for an extension of the contagious department.

In a letter which the mayor received yesterday and forwarded to the city council the hospital trustees stated that the hospital is already overcrowded.

Need More Air Space

The trustees in their letter stated that owing to the crowded conditions of the hospital at present, the patients suffering from contagious diseases have not half enough air space.

They said further that in the near future it will be necessary to refuse patients suffering from scarlet fever and diphtheria admission to the hospital. Such patients, the trustees stated, will have to be sent to the hospitals of nearby cities and towns, and the city will have to pay $10 a week for each patient sent them.

In a statement the mayor said that he has repeatedly tried to induce the council to pass a loan order of $257,000 for the extension.

He put the responsibility up to Councillor Kenny, who is the chairman of the city council committee on finance, which has the loan order before it.

Kenny Says City Is Protected

Councillor Kenny said yesterday that the city has the land upon which to build an extension for a contagious diseases department of the City hospital, and that the city is thus protected upon this score. The property in question is rented and pays the city well, he said.

He declared that in the Massachusetts Homoeopathic hospital in Allston there are 250 beds which may be used by the city. Then the two Brigham hospitals are being built and will take care of a great many patients, he said.

Councillor Kenny declared that he believes that there is no urgent need of the immediate building of an addition to the hospital, and that this matter will be taken up by the council in due time.

From Superior Court

In the suit of Johnson & Company vs. John F. Lazarakis, which was tried before Judge McLaughlin in the superior court last December, the court has made a finding in the sum of $500.48 for the plaintiff. This was an action for breach of contract. The plaintiff alleged the defendant bonded himself to manufacture all his cigarets on a certain patent machine owned by the plaintiff.

DECISION IN HORSFALL CASE

Supreme Court Sustains Exceptions on Two Counts, But on One Verdict is Upheld

BOSTON, Jan. 7.—An important decision in an automobile case was handed down by the full bench of the supreme court yesterday, in the matter of the indictment against James H. Horsfall, who ran down a Mrs. Kittredge, aged 74 while driving an automobile on the state road between Tewksbury and Woburn, causing her death.

He was charged in one count with recklessly operating an automobile, and his conviction on that count is sustained by the appellate court. In a second count he was charged with operating the machine while under the influence of liquor, but he was acquitted by a jury at the trial. In a third count he was charged with knowingly going away while operating the machine without stopping and making himself known after causing injury to a person, and a fourth count charged him with similar conduct after causing injury to property.

Law Not Correctly Stated

His exceptions as to the third and fourth counts are upheld on the ground that the trial judge did not correctly state the law to the jury in his charge. The new trial of the case will be confined to the third and fourth counts, if the government wishes to further prosecute the case. In view of the conviction on one count being confirmed, the government may elect to have the defendant sentenced on the one count on which his conviction is upheld.

In regard to the reckless driving charge, the court holds that the requests for instructions made by the defendant were rightly refused, as the judge had explained the meaning of the words reckless driving.

Sent Man Back to Scene

"Upon the counts which charged that the defendant 'did knowingly go away without stopping and making himself known after causing the injury,' to person and property," the court says, "there was evidence tending to show that the defendant while waiting for a considerable time at his own automobile, which was disabled by the accident, sent a man named Brooks back to the place where the woman was injured and where the other automobile remained, with instructions to disclose his identity, and that Brooks, although going to the place, did not tell who the defendant was.

"Upon this aspect of the case the jury were instructed, in substance, that even though the defendant told Brooks to go back and tell his name and residence and relied on him to do it, and supposed he had done it, yet if Brooks failed to do as requested then the defendant had not complied with the statute.

"The question is as to the meaning of the statute. Its obvious purpose is to enable those in any way injured by the operation of an automobile upon a public way to obtain forthwith accurate information as to the person in charge of the automobile. It should be interpreted in such a way as to effectuate this end. Manifestly it imposes active and positive duties upon the operator of the automobile.

"It is not satisfied by stopping at some remote, obscure or inaccessible place, nor by mere passive willingness to answer inquiries. In unmistakable language it requires the tendering on the spot, and immediately, of explicit and definite information as to himself of a nature which will identify him readily, and make it simple and easy to find him thereafter.

Information Must Be Given

"While the statute does not state in terms to whom this information shall be given, its plain implication is that it must be furnished to those whose person or property has been injured, if reasonably possible, and if not, to someone in their interest, or to some public officer or other person at or near the place and time of injury. But the inhibited conduct consists in 'knowingly' going away without giving this information.

"There are many statutes which prohibit the performance of a certain act without regard to the intent of the actor or his knowledge that elements are present which constitute crime. It would have been simple for the legislature to have made the act of going away by the driver of an automobile without making himself known after injuring person or property a crime, and this would have been accomplished by omitting the word 'knowingly' from the statute.

"The insertion of this word cannot be treated as immaterial. It is a principle of statutory construction that all words found in the act shall be given effect, if possible. 'Knowingly' is a word frequently inserted in statutes creating crimes. In such connection it commonly imports a perception of the facts requisite to make up the crime.

"For one who operates an automobile 'knowingly' to go away without making himself known requires a consciousness not only of the fact that he is going away, but of the further fact that he has not made himself known. If in truth he has delegated the duty of revealing his identity to an agent and honestly and with good reason suppose that this delegated duty has been performed, he cannot be said 'knowingly' to have failed to do what the statute requires, even if the agent did not discharge his duty.

"If the transaction was genuine throughout, the driver of the automobile may thoroughly, though mistakenly, believe that the requirement of the law has been observed. The charge of the court did not state accurately the law upon this branch of the case and hence this exception must be sustained."

Verdict of Guilty Stands

"No error is disclosed as to the trial of the first count of the indictment. The verdict of guilty upon that count is to stand. The exception which is sustained relates only to the third and fourth counts, and the new trial must be confined to those counts to which no exception was taken. As bearing upon that charge, the court says the defendant's conduct after he saw the woman was by no means decisive, for his driving prior to that moment may have been such as to ignore the rights of other travelers, even if he did not see them. Antecedent conduct may be found to be reckless, even though all possible care may be exercised after the specific danger is actually discovered. Indeed, a person might be guilty of reckless driving, although no one was upon the street."

The accident happened Nov. 11, 1911, about 7.30 in the evening. Mrs. Kittredge was with her nephew, one Zepp, who was running a runabout. The car came to a stop, and he got out of it to adjust the cause of the trouble. His aunt also alighted and stood at the other side of the machine. The lights on both machines were burning and the horns were blown.

The defendant's machine struck Mrs. Kittredge and also damaged Zepp's car. He proceeded some distance, then turned sharply to the left, crossed the car tracks, went down over an embankment at the side of the road, breaking through a fence, and finally stopped in a ditch some distance from the fence.

The defendant remained around his machine about an hour and a half. He sent the man who was with him back to where Mrs. Kittredge lay to give the number of his machine. Mrs. Kittredge died next day.

NEVER TASTED LIQUOR

Man Arrested for Drunkenness, Died in Cell

DOCTOR SAYS DEATH WAS DUE TO CEREBRAL HEMORRHAGE

Investigation Into Arrest and Imprisonment Ordered by Police Commissioner O'Meara

BOSTON, Jan. 7.—If statements made by members of his family and the family physician are wholly correct, the police of the Lagrange street station made a serious blunder in confining Lewis G. Swett, who up to the time of his death last Thursday lived at 1077 Broadway, West Somerville, in a cell at the station house last Wednesday morning on a charge of drunkenness. His relatives and physician claim that Mr. Swett, who was wealthy and conducted a dry goods business in Somerville had never tasted liquor during his life.

The family doctor certified that death resulted from cerebral hemorrhage, and the death certificate signed by Medical Examiner Thomas M. Durrell of Somerville ascribed that ailment as the direct cause of death. Twenty-four hours before the time he died he was arrested and booked at the Lagrange street police station as being drunk.

Will Probe Death

Police Commissioner O'Meara has ordered that a rigid investigation be conducted into the arrest and imprisonment to determine whether any officer attached to the station was at fault. The investigation is secret, and until such time as the commissioner sees fit to publicly comment on the case none of the officers in any way concerned will talk of the matter.

In statements made last night, both Dr. Prior, the family physician, and Medical Examiner Durrell say that there was nothing to indicate that Mr. Swett had been mistreated. Earlier stories purporting to contain statements from the family of the dead merchant quoted them as saying that he had been abused.

POLICE END CAMPAIGN

Lynn Quartet Arrested in Hartford on Charges of Obtaining Money Under False Pretenses

HARTFORD, Conn., Jan. 7.—On charges of obtaining money under false pretenses, four young men who are said by the police to come from Lynn were placed under arrest here last night.

It is alleged the plan was to go into street cars, hand to each passenger an envelope containing several postcards and at the same time a card on which was printed the following:

"Kind reader, having tuberculosis, I am selling the enclosed postcards to enable me to reach a different climate. Good luck. Price, 10 cents."

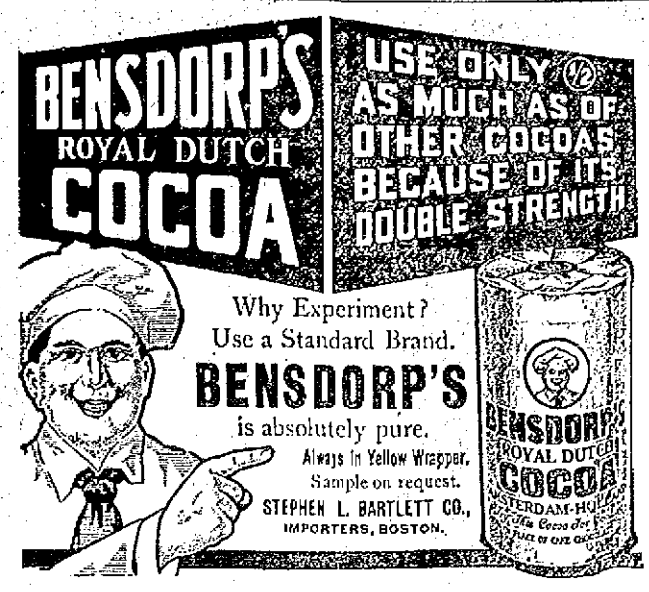

The police say that with the young men were two young women who visited hotels and offices. Both, it is claimed, pretended to be mutes.

The men arrested gave the names of John Wallace, James W. Barry, Charles Finley and James Dowd. Dowd and Finley were later released.

HURLED FROM ELECTRIC

Postman Probably Fatally Injured

SPRINGFIELD, Jan. 7.—Clayton J. Higgins of 29 Terrence street, a letter carrier, was probably fatally injured yesterday afternoon when he was thrown from a car at the intersection of Hancock, Walnut, Ashley and Alden streets.

He was standing on the rear platform and as the car, which was going at a good rate of speed, struck the corner where the Hancock street line connects, the front truck shot up Walnut street and the rear truck split the switch and turned up Hancock street.

The sudden jar caused Higgins to lose his balance and he was thrown through the open doorway, the rear end of the car striking him as he fell, throwing him under the rear truck. The car was stopped and powerful jacks were used to raise the truck from the unconscious man's body.

An ambulance was summoned and the victim, attended by Dr. T. A. Maloney, was taken to the Hampden hospital. Examination disclosed a compound fracture of the right forearm, three fractured ribs on the right side, a fractured shoulder, fractured skull, head badly crushed and mutilated and serious internal injuries. It was found necessary to amputate his right arm below the elbow.

Higgins is in a critical condition and it is not believed that he will survive over 24 hours.

JEWELRY VALUED AT $75

Radcliffe College Girl Robbed of Gems

BOSTON, Jan. 7.—Through the efforts of the Cambridge police to locate the thief the news leaked out yesterday that Miss Jennie Hughes, a student at Radcliffe college, had been robbed of jewelry valued at $75 on Friday night between 8.30 and 10 o'clock.

Miss Hughes had occasion to leave her room, which is on the second floor of Whitman hall, one of the college dormitories, and upon returning discovered the theft.

It is the opinion of the police that the work is that of a clever sneak thief who entered the room while in the building on business. Shortly before the theft was discovered, a man delivered a trunk on the same floor as Miss Hughes' room. It is said an arrest will be made shortly.

Miss Hughes, when seen yesterday, refused to talk about the matter.

The list of missing articles is as follows: Moonstone necklace, gold necklace, gold cross set with diamond, butterfly pendant, gold bracelet set with a brown stone, and a neck pin set with a turquoise.

The articles were in a pasteboard box, in the drawer of a dresser in Miss Hughes' room.

The accident occurred at 3.25 o'clock near the Ash street crossing of the Worcester, Nashua & Portland Division of the Boston & Maine railroad. Young Fugere was riding on the roof of a box car and fell beneath the wheels. He was picked up and taken to St. Joseph's hospital, where there is slight hope for his recovery.

Yesterday morning local thermometers recorded zero, the lowest for seven years. Extreme cold is reported from all parts of Utah and Idaho.

THREATS NOT GENUINE

Letters to Foreman Dare of Dynamite Jury Declared to Be "Plant" of a Newspaper Man

NEWCASTLE, Ind., Jan. 7. — The threatening letters written to Frank Dare, foreman of the Indianapolis dynamite conspiracy jury, were written at the request of a newspaper correspondent, to provide a new story, according to a letter received by the prosecuting attorney yesterday from a person who signed himself "Joseph Allen, State street, Chicago."

The prosecutor called various newspaper men to his office and asked for a sample of their writing. The dissimilarity to that in the threatening letters established their innocence.

Y.M.C.I. ELECT DIRECTORS

James Gilligan Chosen a Member of Board

THE CARD TOURNAMENT IS A GREAT SUCCESS

The Bowling Team Will go to Haverhill Tomorrow Night—Tournament on Club Alleys Soon

The members of the Young Men's Catholic Institute met in their rooms on Stackpole street recently and held their semi annual preliminary election of officers. James F. Gilligan was chosen as a member of the board of directors together with Jeremiah Connors, Alfred Cooney, William Keneleck, Frank McCartin, John McCaffrey, Eliot Wood, Joseph Mullin and George Clark. They will convene at an early date and elect the other officers of the club.

For the past six months Mr. Gilligan has officiated as president of the popular organization of the Lowell Catholic young men and he is a great favorite with all of the members of the Institute. On Christmas day, during the annual "gift giving" and entertainment, he was presented a costly traveling bag as a token of the high esteem in which he has always been held in the organization. During Mr. Gilligan's term of office as president of the Y. M. C. I., remarkable progress has been evident and several new and very helpful features were introduced. In addition, the membership of the society has undergone a decided increase.

At the last meeting of the Institute, a committee of five was appointed to take charge of the arrangements for the entertainment and dance which is to take place soon. This event is bound to be a great success.

Interest at present centers about the card tournament between the Institute and the Holy Name society and on Thursday evenings, the club rooms on Stackpole street present a lively scene as the contestants enter with a vim into the spirit of the contest. Just now the goddess of victory seems to hover very near the representatives of the young men's club for they have a trifling lead over their opponents.

The bowling team of Haverhill and the Y. M. C. I. quintet will meet on the Haverhill alleys on Wednesday evening and a good contest is expected. The annual bowling tournament of the organization will open on the club alleys on February 3rd and there is a large list of entries. John Cole has been elected president of the league.

Mr. Albert Kinnon, formerly of the Bigelow Carpet Co., left Lowell Sunday to accept a position in Rifton, N. Y.

Interesting Words

A Prominent New York Food Expert Recently Said:

Statistics show that of 20 million school children in this country, 15 millions are more or less defective in eyes, teeth, glands, bony structure, or otherwise.

This is largely due to their being fed upon substances in which the twelve minerals in the human body, and necessary to renew that body, are deficient in the food. Chief among these twelve minerals are Phosphorous, Iron, Magnesium, Calcium and Fluorine.

Common flour, rice, corn meal and some breakfast cereals have been robbed of 75 per cent of their mineral elements, largely by being prepared to look "white and nice."

Grape-Nuts

FOOD

Made of whole wheat and barley, contains all the valuable mineral elements necessary to the building of sound bodies and keen brains. This food is particularly rich in organic Phosphates, the essential mineral element necessary to brain building and brain development.

A regular morning dish of Grape-Nuts and cream is the daily, healthy habit of thousands of families, who for years have found by actual test that this food has properly won the title of "King of Breakfast Foods."

TOO WEAK TO STAND WHEN WED

Mother of Henry Wenz Sues His Estate Left to Widow—Alleges Unsound Mind

BOSTON, Jan. 7.—How Henry Wenz, the chocolate manufacturer, who died last May, was married to his bookkeeper two years before, while so weak he could not stand without the assistance of two men who held him up, was related in the contest of his will in the Suffolk court yesterday.

Wenz's 50-year-old mother, to whom he left but $500, is contesting the will through another son, Frederick. She lives in Germany.

Henry Wenz died May 27, 1912, leaving $200,000. His mother claims she did not receive her proper share.

Miss Mary A. Stone, the nurse who attended Wenz from 1910 to 1912, testified that her employer declared his intention of marrying Miss Sullivan long before the wedding. The ceremony took place at 6 o'clock in the evening of Oct. 12, 1910. A wedding supper was served at the Hotel Thorndike afterward.

At the ceremony the groom was so weak that he was unable to stand alone. He had to be held up on both sides, said Miss Stone, to take his vows to the woman who ran his business for him.

"He would never have signed the papers if his brother Franz had not given him a glass of wine at the hospital," said Miss Stone in reference to certain documents Franz prepared.

Miss Stone was questioned as to what she knew of the time Franz was locked in the candy factory on Ferdinand street by Henry and his new wife, and had to drop to the street from a second-story window.

Franz has brought suit against his brother's widow alleging that she induced his brother to break partnership with him.

The mother claims that her son Henry's widow used undue influence and that Henry was of unsound mind when he made the will. Dr. Arthur W. Fairbanks of 591 Beacon street, one of the attending physicians in Wenz's last illness, declared on the stand that his patient was in a very weakened condition when he was first called to see him, that he had hemorrhage of the brain, and one side of his body was useless. He could find no mental weakness, however.

LEFTY FLYNN MARRIED

Yale Football Player Surprises Family

NEW YORK, Jan. 7.—Maurice Bennett Flynn, better known as "Lefty," full-back of Yale's football eleven of 1912, married Miss Rena Leary in this City hall yesterday. She said she was 22 years old and lived at 2 West 86th street, but it was said at the house last night that no such person lived there.

Yesterday's ceremony was performed by Alderman John McCann and it is understood they are to be married again in a church.

Young Mr. Flynn was in the west with the Yale Glee club until Friday. He returned to New Haven late that evening and sent a telegram to his father, J. A. Flynn, a well-to-do surety man with offices at 2 Rector street. Mr. Flynn said at his home at 205 West 57th street last night that he knew nothing of his son's marriage.

"Maurice's telegram on Friday simply tells me of his safe arrival in New Haven," said Mr. Flynn, "and I have not heard from him since. I did not know he was in New York. I have never heard of the girl. I am very sorry he has married, and I do not know whether to congratulate him or make it warm for him."

Young Flynn weighs more than 200 pounds and is 6 feet 2 inches tall. He is a remarkable kicker. His punting helped Yale greatly last season. He got his sobriquet of "Lefty" from the fact that he uses his left foot in kicking.

Flynn and Miss Leary walked into the city hall shortly before closing time and hurried into the marriage license bureau. Alderman McCann was just going out. The clerk called him back.

"One thing," said the fullback, "we are both Irish."

Just then he remembered he did not have any witnesses. Two bureau clerks were pressed into service and the ceremony was performed. Miss Leary was very nervous. In getting the license she said she was born in Holyoke, Mass., and is the daughter of Cornelius and Mary Doran Leary. She was dressed in white and wore a white fur coat. Her diamond rings were worth several thousand dollars, Alderman McCann thought.

Flynn's mother is out of the city visiting friends. A message telling her of the wedding was sent to her last night.

Funeral of James R. Keene

NEW YORK, Jan. 7.—Funeral services for James R. Keene, financier and turfman, were held yesterday at Grace church. From the church the body was taken on a special train to Woodland cemetery.

At the entrance to the church stood William Ronan, Mr. Keene's confidential agent in the financial district, and Algernon Daingerfield, a nephew of the deceased whose own father, Major Foxhall Daingerfield, died at Lexington, Ky., Sunday. Both hurried from the church before the services were over to go to Lexington to attend the funeral of Major Daingerfield.

WILL MEET HERE JAN. 15

State Board of Trade to Visit Lowell

MEMBERS WILL CONVENE AT TEXTILE SCHOOL

Addresses by Prominent Men on Timely Subject—Great Preparations Are in Progress For the Event

On Wednesday, Jan. 15, the Massachusetts State Board of Trade will come here to be guests of the Lowell board, and the members of the state organization will hold their monthly meeting at the Lowell Textile school on that day.

It was at the invitation of Secretary John H. Murphy of the Lowell board that the State Board of Trade decided to visit Lowell, and this invitation was extended at a meeting in Springfield, Mass., some time ago. They were unanimous in their approval of this city as a meeting place and especially as many are deeply interested in the local institution of textile instruction which is so great a factor in turning out men to be successful in the industry of the loom and spindle which is so important in this state.

The executive committee of the city trade organization convened yesterday afternoon, and plans for the entertainment of the guests were proposed and acted upon. All the members of the Lowell board will be urged especially to attend this meeting, for it is of the utmost importance.

Special Cars at Depot

The 11.20 train from Boston to Lowell will transport the visitors here and they will be met at the depot by special cars to take them directly to the Textile school, where a business meeting will start as soon as they arrive. Luncheon will be served at 1 o'clock and following this some interesting addresses will be heard from Hon. Robert Luce and other prominent men.

It is the intention of the members of the Massachusetts Board of Trade to turn out in large numbers for this meeting in Lowell, and consequently every member of the Lowell board should be present to welcome the guests. The executive committee also conferred with Thomas Lees of the Bay State street railway yesterday in regard to trolley express and local car service, and a report of this conference will be read at the next meeting on Wednesday afternoon.

TEST VOTE IS AVOIDED

Republicans Are to Hold Senatorial Caucus

BOSTON, Jan. 7.—More than 150 of the 169 republican members of the legislature met in conference at the state house yesterday, after an adjournment of both branches, and voted to hold a senatorial caucus tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock in room 240, where yesterday's conference was held.

The McCall, Draper and Guild men, headed by Senator Claude L. Allen of Melrose, an avowed McCall supporter, forced through a motion declaring that it was the sense of the conference that the nominee of the caucus should have the votes of two-thirds of 140 members—94 members.

The two-thirds rule was opposed by the Weeks men, headed by Representative Robert M. Washburn of Worcester, but it was evident from the start that they were afraid to have a show down of strength with the allies, who had combined to put the Weeks men in the hole.

While there was no vote to indicate the real Weeks strength in the conference, it was apparent that he was individually stronger than any of his opponents, but the combination of McCall, Draper, Guild and the other candidates was too much for the Newton man and his friends surrendered as gracefully as possible without being compelled to manifest their voting strength.

Wilson Hopes For Gardner

TRENTON, N. J., Jan. 7.—President-elect Wilson yesterday canvassed further into the possibility of increasing the narrow majority of the democrats in the United States senate for the next session.

He took up with Senator Charles F. Johnson and Representative Daniel J. McGillicuddy of Maine details of the senatorial situation in their state where the progressives admittedly hold the balance of power in the legislature. The president-elect is hopeful that Senator Gardner may yet be re-elected.

WORK WITH MAN THEY SEEK

Deputy Sheriffs Find Brother Officer Is Object of Long Search—Found Many Thomas Kellys in New York

NEW YORK, Jan. 7.—Two deputy sheriffs have been searching for two weeks for Thomas Kelly, president of the Ancient Order of Hibernians, to serve him with an order for the sale of the organization's property at 116th street and Fifth avenue on a judgment by the John P. Kane company for $5357.

The deputies found several hundred Thomas Kellys, but none proved to be the right Kelly.

They asked Sheriff Harburger yesterday if he could suggest any Thomas Kelly who hadn't been seen, and the sheriff suggested that it would do no harm to ask Deputy Sheriff Thomas Kelly if by any chance he was the man sought. The sheriff called Kelly in and asked if he was affiliated with any fraternal organizations.

"Yes, I'm president of the A. O. H.," replied Kelly.

The two deputies gave a shout of gladness and served Kelly with the order.

DRIVEN INTO STREET

Members of Family of W. H. Parker of Dorchester Escape, Not Fully Clad, From Burning House

BOSTON, Jan. 7.—Fire in the home of William H. Parker, at 129 Hilton street, Dorchester, yesterday morning drove him, his wife and three children into the street in scant attire and practically destroyed the house. Mrs. Parker discovered that the house was afire soon after her husband had started a fire in the furnace. One of their sons ran to ring in an alarm, but did not go to the nearest box, so there was a delay in the arrival of the firemen.

Miss Louise Parker, who is soon to be married, lost many silverware gifts, and the family lost much wearing apparel. The complete loss was about $2500.

8 DEAD ON BATTLESHIP

Tragedy on the Massena Due to Explosion

TOULON, France, Jan. 7.—Eight men were killed yesterday by an explosion in the stokehold of the French battleship Massena. The Massena accompanied by two cruisers was proceeding for Bizerta. She was passing the Hyres Islands when the steam collector pipe of one of the boilers burst.

The warship was immediately stopped and the engine room staff rushed to the stokehold, where they found a petty officer, six stokers and an artificer lying on the steel floor dead. The ship put back and landed the bodies at the St. Mandrier Naval hospital.

The cause of the accident has not yet been ascertained, but it has occasioned great surprise among the naval authorities, as the steam piping on the Massena had been completely renewed two years ago and was thoroughly tested last year.

GERMS LURK IN FINGERBOWL

United States Public Health Service Puts It in a Class With the Roller Towel

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—The United States public health service is out with a denunciation of the finger bowl. Dr. C. H. Lavinder says that as a means of spreading infection and contagion the finger bowl is in the same class with the common drinking cups and the roller towel.

Dr. Lavinder asserts that in many supposedly high class restaurants there are in use only about a half dozen finger bowls and these do service for many patrons.

Money Back If It Doesn't

Don't say "I've read all that before"—just go to your dealer right away, lay down 50c and say: "I want a bottle of that PARISIAN SAGE that so many sensible people are using." Then take it home and use it as directed and then if you are not satisfied that it is just as advertised take back the empty bottle and your money will be refunded.

"Pretty risky offer" you'll say; not at all; dealers know just what PARISIAN SAGE will do and have the promise of the American makers, the Giroux Mfg. Co. of Buffalo, N. Y., that they will back him up in his strong guarantee. Pretty fair and square offer, isn't it?

Mrs. J. G. Franklin, Fulton, Mo., writes: "PARISIAN SAGE eradicates dandruff, cleans the scalp, and makes the hair fluffy and beautiful; also is a good hair grower. I shall continue to use it as long as it gives such perfect satisfaction."

Ask for PARISIAN SAGE Hair Tonic and firmly refuse substitutes. The girl with the auburn hair is on every package and your druggist will tell you that Parisian Sage is a splendid hair dressing free from poisonous lead or other dangerous ingredients. Carter & Sherburne guarantee it.

BAY WOOD IS FAST

Boxer to Appear Here Has Great "Rep."

The announcement that Bay Wood, the clever Fall River lightweight, will appear in the main bout at this week's meeting of the Lowell Social and Athletic club is looked upon by the local sports as a ten strike, and many of the members have congratulated President Gardner on his success in securing such a talented performer. Mr. Gardner says that with the members attending future meetings as they have in the past, he will be in a position to engage some of the best boxers in the country. Wood is considered one of the best men of his class in this section of the country. Last Friday night he met Gilbert Gallant, for the lightweight championship of New England and the exhibition went the distance to a draw. It was labelled one of the best ever seen in Manchester. Wood is fast and clever and is looked upon as the coming lightweight title holder. He will meet Eddie Flynn of Lynn. The latter gentleman needs no introduction to the members of the club, as he has appeared here several times and in all his bouts, his work has been most pleasing. He is also a formidable lightweight and in picking the best in New England, Eddie should come in for consideration. He is a good fighter, hard hitter and exceptionally fast. He has been resting since his last bout here with Young Jasper, and expects to be in fine trim on Friday evening. In his last bout in this city, Flynn gave a remarkable exhibition. In the early rounds, Jasper had a slight lead, but Flynn came back strong and by fast and clever work well earned the draw decision given by Referee Thomas. He is training carefully for this week's meeting, for in the event of victory, Flynn will lay claim to the New England lightweight title and will stand ready to defend his claim. Both Wood and Flynn are confident that the local sports should see a wonderful exhibition. Three other good bouts are also on the program. In the second contest of importance, the semi-final, Kid Pearl, amateur 115 pound champion of New England, will clash with Young Clark. The latter "kiddo" has the distinction of being the first boy to secure a decision over Gardner Brooks, nephew of the Gardner family, and a clever boxer. Clark is more of the fighting type and ought to make things interesting for Pearl at their meeting Friday. In the first preliminary Kid Shea and Kid George, both of Lowell will exchange greetings, while in the other go, Kid Dunn and Young Smith will entertain. The meeting will be held in Mathew hall and will start at 8.15 o'clock.

Start Earlier

Many of the suburban members of the club have requested Prez. Gardner to start the meetings earlier, or eliminate one of the preliminaries, so that they may enjoy the completion of the main bout. At present with the excellent bouts that are being given, some fail to miss the last few rounds of the main attraction, but this many who come from North Chelmsford, Tewksbury and other places, have been inclined to do, or as an alternative they might do the "Dan O'Leary" to their huge lung. The petitioners advance the argument that one of the preliminaries could be dispensed with without causing any dissension, for all members will like to have adjournment earlier. As this week's program has been arranged the four bouts will be held, but next week, it is hoped that but three bouts will be scheduled and all will be happy.

HAVERHILL TO KEEP CLUB

Clohecy and Marshall Expect to Avert Its Transfer to Some Other City—Fall River Shift Pending

HAVERHILL, Jan. 7.—The Haverhill team probably will not be transferred to any other city, according to an announcement made last night by Secretary J. C. Morse of the New England Baseball league. At a recent meeting of the stockholders of the Haverhill club Daniel F. Clohecy, a former president, and Sherman H. Marshall, a member of the board of directors, agreed to be responsible for the finances of the club, and they expect, Mr. Morse said, to remain in Haverhill.

The matter of the transfer of the Fall River club is still pending.

THROUGH CAR WINDOW

Henri Gross, an Alleged Deserter, Leaps From Train Into Snowbank Near Rouses Point and Escapes

MONTREAL, Jan. 7.—While being taken to Plattsburg, N. Y., to answer a double charge of grand larceny and desertion from the United States army, Henri Gross yesterday jumped through the window of an express train and escaped. He landed into a snow drift, apparently unhurt, and could not be found when the train was stopped and backed.

The train was approaching Rouses Point when Gross, who was in custody of Deputy Marshal Foster of Plattsburg, obtained permission to have his handcuffs removed. Slamming and locking the door of a lavatory in the face of his guard, he smashed a double window and jumped.

ASKS $24,000

Marie Dressler, Actress, Sues Weber & Fields, Charging Breach of Contract

NEW YORK, Jan. 7.—Marie Dressler filed suit in the supreme court yesterday against Weber & Fields for breach of contract.

The actress asks $24,000 on the ground that she had a contract in "Roly Poly" at $1500 a week and the contract was broken at the end of four weeks. The defense is that Miss Dressler broke the contract herself after announcing that she was dissatisfied with her part.

The Textile School

The Textile school opened yesterday morning after the three weeks' vacation. Only a few are still absent. The semi-final examinations will be held during the week of January 27.

Mr. Herbert C. Wood, instructor in cotton yarns, has resigned to accept a position at the Tremont and Suffolk mills.

Charles Sylvian of the third year engineering class had a part of his finger cut off in a lathe in which he was turning some stock. The injury was dressed at the Lowell General hospital.

HE SUSPECTS MURDER

Father of Mrs. Donovan Changes Views

HE SAYS BRUISE ON NOSE WAS PROOF OF VIOLENCE

James B. Jennings Arraigned in Court and his Case Was Put Over to January 13

BOSTON, Jan. 7.—Frank A. Menard, the father of Mrs. Mildred Donovan, now believes that his daughter was murdered. He told a reporter yesterday afternoon that although it was true that he had said immediately after the identification that Mildred had possibly died following an attack of epilepsy, his opinion had changed since the body was received from the murtuary for burial.

When asked to explain his change of opinion, Mr. Menard intimated that the bruise on the nose alone was proof of violence. Mr. Menard did not want to talk much about the case yesterday as the police, he declared, had advised him not to have anything to say until the investigation had been completed.

It is because of Mr. Menard's persistency that the state police took a hand in the case, and now Dist. Atty. Higgins has interested himself in the mystery. Yesterday afternoon he is said to have conferred with State Detective Smith, Inspector Greenleaf of Malden and Mrs. Donovan's relatives.

Detectives Smith and Greenleaf had not returned to their homes at midnight. At noon they met at police headquarters in this city and in the afternoon were at East Cambridge.

Jennings Arraigned

James B. Jennings was arraigned before Judge Creed yesterday, but Detective Sergt. Irwin said the government desired to have the examination of the boxer on the charge of slaying William H. MacPherson postponed until Jan. 13. The court consented and Jennings was held without bail.

Today it is expected that the grand jury will consider the murder charge against Jennings. Capt. Armstrong had the evidence prepared and will be ready at a moment's notice to introduce it. The grand jury will make a report Saturday morning.

Inspector Greenleaf conferred with Capt. Armstrong yesterday and following it talked earnestly with State Detective Smith outside of police headquarters. It had been planned to interview Jennings, but why this plan was not carried out is not known.

Jennings was represented by Delvin N. Breath of Chelsea before Judge Creed yesterday. The family engaged Mr. Breath and it was stated last evening that until Mr. Breath has a good talk with his client, he will have no statement to make. Jennings has been advised to stop talking and has promised to obey the instructions.

MAY CAUSE FRUIT FAMINE

Records Broken by Cold Wave in California

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 7.—Thousands of men were out last night in an effort to save from further damage by cold weather southern California's orange and lemon crop, valued at $50,000,000.

The loss entailed by Sunday night's freeze cannot be estimated accurately, but it was so serious, growers and citrus experts say, that it will have an appreciable effect upon the price of the fruit.

The weather bureau predicted for last night temperatures as low as or lower, than those which Sunday night shattered the record of 30 years.

Within a radius of 125 miles of Los Angeles, smudge pots by the thousands smouldered, emitting dense clouds of smoke which it was hoped would raise the temperature within the groves sufficiently to prevent further freezing of fruit on the trees.

According to the sales managers of various growers' associations, hardly more than a 10th of the orange crop has been shipped out. The remainder, they assert, will show serious losses. Suburban trolley lines were more or less demoralized yesterday through the freezing of air-brake valves.

At Riverside, one of the orange centres, the thermometer fell to 18 degrees, and it was estimated that 90 per cent of the oranges immediately about Riverside would be a total loss.

Chicago Dealers Anxious

CHICAGO, Jan. 7.—Reports of freezing weather in Southern California and the prediction that frost might injure the orange crop was discussed here with interest yesterday. Chicago receives about 2100 cases of oranges and lemons from California annually, which is 90 per cent of the total handled here, and, next to New York, this is the largest distributing centre for citrus fruit in this country.

One of the largest local dealers said yesterday:

"Less than 10 per cent. of this year's crop has been marketed, and if the damage is anything as great as reported, there is certain to be an orange and lemon famine."

The sewing circle of the Ladies of the G. A. R. will hold their regular meeting at the home of Mrs. Morley in Billerica Centre, Wednesday afternoon.

BOY RUN OVER BY AUTO

Roxbury Lad is Dying in Hospital

HE WAS BOARDING AN ELECTRIC WHEN MACHINE STRUCK HIM

Lynn Man Struck by Automobile and Skull Fractured—Motor Car Killed Horse in Revere

BOSTON, Jan. 7.—Roland Butler of 579 Dudley street, Roxbury, was removed to the City hospital in a dying condition last night as the result of being struck by an automobile owned and operated by J. B. Higginson of 73 Seaver street, Brookline.

The boy was about to board an inward bound electric car on Seaver street, between Humboldt and Blue Hill avenues, about 9.20 last night. He had just stepped into the street and signalled the approaching car and as it came to a stop and he stepped toward it, it is said that the automobile, driven by Higginson, who was accompanied by Fred Wagen, of 353 Seaver street, Roxbury, bore out of the darkness, coming in the opposite direction and struck Butler, the wheels passing over him.

Struck by Automobile

LYNN, Jan. 7.—Ethel Pritchard, 25 years old, of 48 Blossom street, is at the Lynn hospital suffering from a bad fracture of the skull as the result of being struck by the automobile of August Beckman, a wealthy Lynn shoe manufacturer, while crossing Sea street about 6.30 last night.

The young woman was taken to the hospital in the car that struck her, after which Beckman was taken into custody by the Lynn police and later released on $1000 bail.

Motor Car Kills Horse

BOSTON, Jan. 7.—Wallie Wilfred Laliberte of Peabody was driving home from Boston along the Lynn turnpike in Revere last night, a heavy automobile express truck crashed into his outfit. His horse was killed and the wagon smashed into kindling wood.

NO CURSING ON COMMON

Ordinance Adopted by Boston City Council

BOSTON, Jan. 7.—Loud talk, cursing or soliciting acquaintance was forbidden on the common, public garden and other public parks of the city by an ordinance adopted by the city council yesterday.

Another ordinance adopted by the council states that no person shall walk, stand or sit on the grass, planted land, fountains, monuments, bandstands, walls or fences on the common or other public places. This same ordinance also forbids all sleeping on the benches or grass of these parks, except when permission is given by special order of the mayor.

The ordinance asked for by the police commissioner, namely, to permit patrolmen to arrest people loitering on the streets or public grounds who obstructed the way, was turned down by the council.

The mayor sent to the council a request for a loan appropriation of $45,000 to provide for the remodeling of Copley square according to the plans of Architect Frank A. Bourne. This amount will pay for the preliminary work only. This was referred to the committee on finance.

The ordinance requiring the licensing of builders and other laws that would give the building commissioner greater power over building operations was laid on the table until the next meeting of the council, two weeks from date.

The election commissioners gave notice to the council of the redividing of ward 21 into 15 instead of 13 precincts, because precinct 8 has now more than 1050 voters.

Notice was also given that a special primary will be held on Jan. 28, and a special election on Feb. 11, to fill the vacancy in the legislature caused by the death of William F. Murray of ward 2.

A letter signed by all the property holders of Commonwealth avenue, between Massachusetts avenue and Beacon street, was received, approving the plans of the park department for the reconstruction of this highway.

TWO MEN SERIOUSLY BURNED

Fires at Manchester, N. H., With a Loss of About $1200—Saloon and Tenement Damaged

MANCHESTER, N. H., Jan. 7.—Manchester had two fires last night, which resulted in two men being seriously burned. The first one was for a fire which broke out in a closet in a saloon kept by Joseph Dugree, 617 Elm street. Fireman Alfred Lamper was badly burned by a steam pipe.

The second fire was in the Central street tenement district, rear of 124. In a tenement occupied by John Welch and family. It started in a sleeping room and in an effort to extinguish the flames, Mr. Welch was severely burned. He was taken to a hospital. The total damage to property by the two fires is estimated at about $1200.

LOWELL UPWARD AND ONWARD

Now that the municipal board has organized for the year, the people of this city hope to see an end to the animosities that have cropped out during the past year and in a manner disgraced our city.

It is the duty of each commissioner to show a proper sense of responsibility while at the same time working in harmony with the others to keep our city abreast of the times in everything, to move onward where progress leads and to overcome the provincialism which has been so detrimental to Lowell.

In each and every department there is room for improvement and the needs of each should be considered separately so that the policies best calculated to bring the desired results may be adopted. Lowell is a great city and it can be made much greater by wise, economical and progressive government.

We are starting upon the second year under the new charter. During the first it is only fair to say that many snags were encountered; but most of these have been overcome so that business can now be done under business principles, with a proper distribution of responsibility and yet a centralization of authority in the municipal board.

The new watchword of the board should be "Lowell upward and onward," so that we may at the end of the year have a city that has taken several steps onward towards all the varied and far reaching advantages that come from good government. Whether we shall realize these things depends almost entirely upon the efficiency, the tact and judgment of the men elected to govern our city for the coming year. If they do their duty well, they will enjoy the confidence, good will and support of the citizens at large; but if they fail they will meet the disapproval or even the reprobation of the public.

THE NEEDS OF LOWELL

That was a very interesting symposium at the social forum of the Grace Universalist church on Sunday evening, when Mr. Harvey B. Greene, Rev. Charles T. Billings and Dr. G. Forrest Martin, gave their views as to the needs of the city of Lowell. Mr. Greene pointed out the more important needs, as public parks, and the beautification of the canals and rivers. He held that Centralville, Pawtucketville, the Highlands, Ayer City, Gorham and Lawrence streets, together with the Wigginville section are greatly in need of public parks. This is true, and it is the duty of the park department to supply the needs if it possibly can. Rev. Mr. Billings struck a vital point when he said that a better civic spirit is necessary in order that the people may unite more in favor of better government and public improvements. Dr. Martin told a few things that are necessary in the line of improving the tenement property of the city. In each of these three different spheres there is indeed much room for improvement and all three gentlemen, in bringing these matters to public attention, only repeat what has been said many a time in the past. But it is not enough to mention needed improvements once, twice, or thrice. The public needs must be dinned into the ears of the people in order to create a sentiment strong enough to force the powers that be to bring about the improvements demanded by public necessity.

THE CANAL TOLLS

President Taft in his speech of Saturday night stated that he would be satisfied to have the question of canal tolls to any impartial tribunal. That naturally means the Hague tribunal, which could scarcely be considered impartial towards the United States. It will be noticed that the London papers immediately took hold of President Taft's statement and applauded it vociferously. They all favor the idea of having the question submitted to the Hague tribunal, knowing what the result will be.

It is declared, on the authority of men who should know, that to exclude United States vessels from the payment of toll in passing the canal would be a violation of the Hay-Pauncefote treaty. If there is anything more than another which the United States abhors, it is the violation of treaties or the disregard of international compacts, formally made and ratified. President Taft, of course, as a lawyer, should know the force and scope of the treaty referred to, and should understand whether the canal arrangement already adopted is in violation of the said treaty. The English departments hold that the treaty has been violated, and while they so contend, we do not see any method of settlement except that which Mr. Taft has suggested.

DANGEROUS BILL BOARDS

The experience of Lowell and other cities during the wind storm of Friday and Friday night, should lead to some action that would prepare the city for an emergency of that kind. The force of the storm blew down many overhead billboards, many rotten trees and limbs of trees, together with sagging chimneys, and other objects that were in an unsteady condition. It seems that public safety demands closer attention to these matters, from our city officials. Either the police or the building inspector should give warning of dangerous chimneys and dangerous billboards, while the park department is expected to take care of the trees, and remove any that may be in danger of falling. Lowell fortunately escaped without loss of life and without any very great damage to property, but there were several bill-boards, trees and chimneys blown down that might have had fatal results, and this should be a warning against unsafe conditions in the future.

PEACE NEGOTIATIONS

The deadlock in the peace negotiations at London are due chiefly to the unwillingness of Turkey to surrender Adrianople, and the determination of the allies to have it at any cost, even at the necessity of resuming hostilities. Turkey does not seem to realize that if the armistice had not been declared, the allies would not only have taken Adrianople, but Constantinople. Turkey must yield or else she will lose all, unless the powers intervene in her behalf.

The wily Turk is playing for intervention by the great powers in hopes of cutting down the demands of the allies.

THE STREET DEPARTMENT

The fact that Commissioner Brown, before quitting the street department, raised the pay of the men, will embarrass his successor, Mr. Donnelly. If the increase ordered by Mr. Brown should be recognized, it would mean a very material extra expense, and one for which the municipal council, and the city, it might be said, are unprepared. It was this no doubt that ruffled the very even temper of Commissioner Donnelly when he ordered the removal of the office furnishings put in by his predecessor and which remain unpaid for by the city.

LAWSON TO APPEAR

Thomas W. Lawson will appear before the committee of congress now investigating the money question. It has been finally decided that Mr. Rockefeller is too ill to appear, and Mr. Lawson will appear in his stead. The Boston man is never so happy as when he poses in the limelight and this will afford him an opportunity to gratify that desire.

CASTRO TO REMAIN

Former President Castro of Venezuela has changed his mind about going back to Europe. He now intends to put up a legal battle for the privilege of remaining here. Doubtless the courts will permit him to remain, but if so, he will be well watched by police and federal detectives.

On railroad matters as on other business concerns, Governor Foss must be accorded like other men the privilege of changing his mind. This he evidently has done on the matter of railroad mergers; and in so doing he does not tell the public why.

Beware of Aloes!

By Dr. True

Beware of laxatives containing aloes!

Aloes aids in giving free and easy bowel action—but it produces griping and piles.

Many people suffer from piles because they use some laxative that contains aloes.

There is no law that requires aloes to be mentioned as an ingredient in a laxative, so you must guard yourself.

I solemnly swear that there is not any aloes in Dr. True's Elixir. So when you need a laxative I advise you to take my own medicine, Dr. True's Elixir.

Dr. True's Elixir is composed of the extracts, essences and juices of leaves, barks, seeds and roots of known value for stomach troubles and bowel troubles. It sets the stomach right and produces free, normal, easy action of the bowels. Also, it expels all worms and other parasites from stomach or bowels, except tape worms.

These wonderful remedial qualities are combined with delicious, honey-flavored syrup and other pleasant-tasting aromatics, so that Dr. True's Elixir is the nicest possible medicine to take. This makes it easy to give to children also. They get so they really like to take it!

Fire insurance companies, according to statistics compiled by those concerns, lost $4,000,000 last year through fires of arsonic origin in the city of New York alone. Four million dollars is a lot of money for one department of the business world, in one city, and through one means to lose in one year. There is a singular side to human nature, one which may partly account for the mulcting of these insurance companies, that may be noticed in the ideas entertained by about nine out of every ten men. It is this:

No wrongful act is committed when one steals or unlawfully takes money from a large corporation.

And speaking of some of the "risks" in the fire insurance business reminds me of a story I read in a New Jersey paper recently. A pleasant voiced man stepped into the office of a Newark insurance company and after talking over rates and other matters pertaining to the transaction on hand asked the agent to look over the building which he wanted insured. This was done and the two men returned to the agent's office. Papers were signed, a "Perfecto" changed hands, mutual expressions of satisfaction were exchanged, and, taking up his hat, the new policyholder started for the door.

"Just a moment, Mr. Z———," exclaimed the agent, "there's a little matter yet standing between us, you know."

"What's that?" was the rejoinder.

"Oh, about twenty dollars—the premium."

"Twenty dollars, you say? Well, thats' all right. Deduct it when I call to collect the insurance."

He—Don't you?
She—No, I don't.

NEW BEDFORD, Jan. 7.—The meeting of the New Bedford Baseball association for the purpose of acting upon the question of the transfer of the local club was postponed until tonight. Pres. James F. It is reported that the stockholders will vote to continue the team in New Bedford for another year, and it is likely that Frank H. Connaughton, who managed the team last year, will be elected to run the team another year.

AT THE CLUB

"Grab a cue and I'll show you something in billiards," remarked Bill to Joe, in a tone that indicated a challenge. The two were lounging in the club room.

Joe grunted, grinned in derision and hoisting his long lank self from out of the Morris chair near the window from which vantage point he had been lazily gazing down upon the Merrimack Square crowds, he ambled toward the rack.

"Haven't handled a stick in a month, but I'll just take down your swelled head," he drawled as he selected his cue. The game was soon in progress.

Bill executed several neat shots, while the other looked on, and then as his ivory sphere barely missed the second ball in a three cushion try, he added six buttons to his tally on the string above.

"Haven't been coming down to the joint as much as usual Joe?" questioned Bill reaching for the chalk.

"No, not so much, been pretty busy lately."

"Last Friday was meeting night."

"By George! So it was, I clean forgot about it. I happened down by the new Sun building and a friend of mine took me through the place. Take your uncle's word for it, it's sure some plant and the way they handle the news and get the editions on the streets is a caution. I'm invited to go up in the day time and get the view from the roof and from what I hear it's worth while. Better come along with us."

"Very glad to," came back from Bill, as he paused to search through his pockets for a match. "Let me know when you're going."

The game was close and the contact of the three ivory balls had added considerably to the scores of both contestants. There was a period of silence as they alternately leaned over the table, the better to guide the slender cue. Then as he watched Sir Joe through an unusual streak of good luck, Bill offered the following:

"By the way, I see they've shuffled the commissioners in city hall; wonder if that means that the boys have been making New Year's resolutions not to borrow any more money and to keep the streets clean. Oh! speaking of cleaning the streets, did you ever wade through the mess on the west side of Central street just above the junction of Prescott? Say, it's fierce: full of dust, sand and loose papers in the middle of the sidewalk, and a fellow needs to be gone over with a vacuum cleaner when he gets home. It's—it's—look here, are you listening to me or am I talking to myself, you lobster?" Joe was carefully balancing his cue and eyeing the object ball at the far end of the table, apparently not heeding the mouthings of the other.

"What's that?" he exclaimed glancing up, "sure I'm listening, rave on, old man, rave on" and he resumed preparations for the difficult shot.

"Well, if you had been obliged to walk through the place during that blow the other day, you wouldn't call it raving. It is—Fine! good work! (as the other accomplished a neat carom) It's more like a country road than a city street and funny thing, they can't seem to keep the place clean though they surely do try. I had to smile at the poor fellow who was pushing a broom there this morning; as soon as he got the dirt away from one spot and well started on another, a gust of wind would blow it back again, and incidentally into the eyes, nose and mouth of people who were passing. He said things that you don't hear in church, too," laughing at the memory. "Do you know, I think there is something the matter with that place, for no one can say it is neglected."

Joe glanced up at the tally string with a satisfied smile, "Maybe they built the sidewalk too close to the road," he suggested. "They ought to move it."

"Ye-e-s, maybe they——aw, shut up." Bill suddenly realized that he was being "kidded." "You're as funny as a meeting of the municipal council; you ought to go on the stage."

Joe laid down his cue, and lighted a cigar. "I was thinking of it; saw an advertisement for a couple of scene shifters—want a job? "Did you say you could play billiards?" he continued tauntingly. "Come around and practice every day for a month or so and then we'll have another go at it. It's no fun to beat you now. I'll give you ten points in fifty and bet you the smokes I'll wallop you worse than I did just now. What say (licking his lips), have a nip?"

"No thanks," replied Bill. "On the wagon, New Year's resolu——"

"By the sacred ox, that's right," interrupted the victor. "I made one of those fool resolves myself. S'pose I might as well stick now that I've put my foot in it, eh?"

"You're on, that's the right dope; stick it out and be a hero, and they'll preserve your name in history as the first man to take a New Year's promise seriously. Well, I'm going home to see what they've got to eat; coming?"

"Nope, too lazy—I mean tired; I'll take on fuel here." Then as Bill hurried toward the door with a few seconds in which to make the Pawtucketville car, Joe yelled: "Don't forget to practice your billiards, son!" and then he laughed at Bill's growling reply.

TWO CHURCHES UNITE

Worthen Street and Central M. E. Met

AND VOTED ALMOST UNANIMOUSLY TO JOIN

Articles of Agreement Drawn Up and Ratified—The Plan to Be Submitted to the Quarterly Conference

The members of the Central and of the Worthen Street Methodist Episcopal churches have now both agreed almost unanimously to unite. The former so voted last night and the latter on Sunday. The matter must now rest until it is ratified by the quarterly conference in April, but there is no doubt of its acceptance. The meeting of the Central church was very well attended, nearly all the members being present. Dr. Whittaker, the pastor of the church, presented the plan on which the union of the churches is to be made. They are the following:

"1—The board of trustees of the proposed new united church for at least one year after such union shall consist of eight members, four from each of the present churches, these trustees to hold all the property now held by both churches.

"2—The board of stewards shall be selected from each church, twelve in all, six from each church.

"3—All committees to be chosen by the quarterly, official board, and board of trustees, shall be chosen in, as nearly as possible, equal numbers from each church.

"4—The class leaders will be chosen in the same way.

"5—The proposed consolidation shall go into effect after the next session of the New England annual conference in April, 1913.

"6—The name of the proposed church shall be chosen by its official board, to be ratified by the quarterly conference.

"7—The bishop in charge of the New England annual conference shall be asked to see that the provisions of the union are carried out."

The church board then assembled in one of the smaller rooms, and drew up resolutions declaring that they felt that the purpose of the union was to better serve the best interests of the church and of the people. This will be referred to the next quarterly conference.

The pastors and the trustees of both churches first met to discuss the plan officially on December 16. They agreed almost at once on the plan, and chose a committee to set forth the idea of the meeting. This committee on December 23 reaffirmed the previous vote, and formulated the working plan, which was referred to the adult members of the two churches, with the result which has been stated.

EDUCATION NOTES

An evening school for Boy Scouts has recently been established in the city of Leeds, England.

The course in Spanish at the Naval academy has been extended from two to four years.

The Syrian Protestant college at Beirut, Syria, has a commercial department that aims to fit its students for positions in the business houses of the Levant.

The new compulsory continuation school for girls at Berlin will give six hours of instruction weekly, one-fourth of which must be given to courses dealing with "education for the home."

Of the million dollars spent by the city of Stockholm, Sweden, for its school system last year, $5860 was for domestic science, $17,500 for school lunches, $5400 for school physicians and $2400 for the dental clinic.

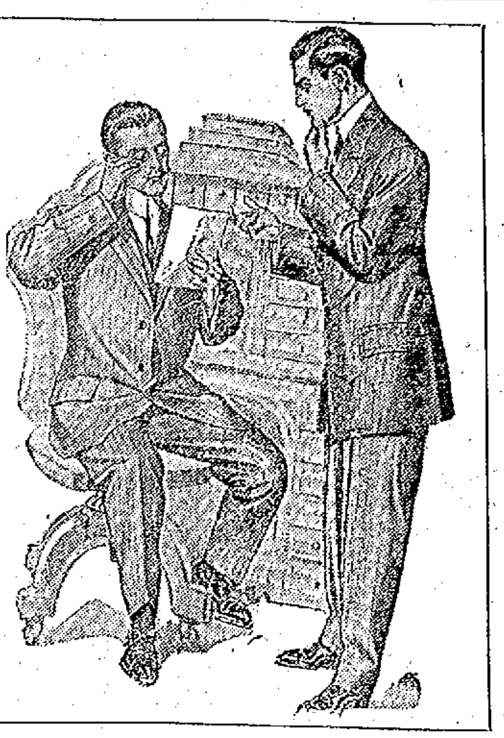

The Kansas state board of health has issued a health almanac that is an important contribution to the campaign of health education. In form it is like the traditional almanac, but the hygienic advice it contains is clear, specific, and thoroughly up-to-date. It is patterned after the "Virginia Health Almanac" for 1911.

Dr. George Kerschensteiner, the German vocational expert, is impressed by the success of the American public schools in the task of assimilating immigrants. "What the great cities have been doing in transforming immigrants from all parts of the world into thinking citizens," he declares, "seems to me from my personal observations in the country itself to be unexampled in the history of education of civilized nations."

The city of Breslau, Germany, has a new "school museum," where the best things in educational progress are shown for the benefit of the public. On the first floor are exhibits of school architecture, school furnishings, hygiene and statistics, mathematics, physics and chemistry, and a testing room for scientific apparatus used in the school. On the second floor are busts of well known educators of the past—Comenius, Pestalozzi, Diesterweg and Froebel; exhibits showing the teaching of religion, history, language, geography, astronomy, natural history and industrial economics, and the library. Above are the exhibits of manual training and domestic science; of auxiliary schools, kindergarten, and instruction of the blind; of drawing, singing and physical training; and a large hall containing example of school work from Germany and other lands. The Breslau school museum is one of 15 permanent educational expositions established in the German empire since 1904.

NIGGER IN WOODPILE

Mrs. Wells Puzzled Over Her Arrest

IS CHARGED WITH POISONING HER CHILDREN

Says Enemy of Husband Might Have Had Something To Do With Arrest —Writes Poems

ST. ALBANS, Vt., Jan. 7.—Mrs. Julius Wells, accused poisoner of her own children, declared yesterday that the whole affair was a puzzle, but intimated that an enemy of her husband might have had something to do with it. Meanwhile to demonstrate that she is not mentally unsound she wrote a poem.

"There's a nigger in the woodpile somewhere," she said.

Content to remain in jail until her innocence is proven, still she misses the two children she left in Swanton. She has been reading the newspapers and has found out that there is an idea abroad that she is not quite right mentally. She takes serious objections to talk of insanity.

She admits she has had grave mental illnesses, but insists she is all right now. Yesterday in her cell she composed several verses.

"No insane person could write poetry," she said.

In reply to an alleged statement of Mrs. Peter Fisher, her sister-in-law in Swanton, that Mrs. Wells had said she wished "those children were dead," Mrs. Wells denied she ever said any such thing.

"No mother would," she added.

Mrs. Wells bears up well under the strain, but her sleep is troubled. The exact method to be pursued in her case has not yet been determined. A special jury may take the place of the grand jury. If the attorney general thinks his evidence insufficient he may order her discharge.

Many relatives and friends visited Mrs. Wells yesterday and have taken many things for her comfort, a pillow, a rocking chair, but those of her immediate family have taken her no food, seeming to have fear of doing so.

"We have arranged to have a pint of milk left for her each day," said her sister, Mrs. Bombard, "and we shall have one meal a day sent her from a restaurant, but we have taken her no food."

Mrs. Wells, while calm outwardly, cries, it is said, when she thinks herself alone.

The Men's club of the Grace Universalist church will hold its monthly meeting on Thursday evening. Mr. Eames, the principal of the Textile school, will give the address on "Education in the Textile Industry." After this there will be a discussion by the members.

WOMEN FOR CITY JOBS

Two Named by Waltham Mayor

WALTHAM, Jan. 7.—Mayor Patrick J. Duane announced in his inaugural yesterday his intention of appointing a woman as head of the public buildings department and a woman member of the board of assessors, provided adequate salaries are voted by the aldermen.

Ida Anna Ryan is his candidate for superintendent of the building department and Vera Ryan for the assessorship, he stated. The first-named is at present acting head of the department through the retirement of the superintendent, and the latter is clerk of the board of assessors at present.

The mayor, in his address, among other things, urged the abolition of all party lines in municipal elections and a change in the present form of charter. He suggested that the question of a new city hall and library be separated, because he felt that one was handicapping the other.

He criticised the police department a year ago, but yesterday he complimented the force and urged that an increase be made in the number of patrolmen, which, he believed, was badly needed if efficiency was to be retained.

The aldermen organized with the election of William J. Bannan as chairman and Luman N. Hall clerk.

The following officers were elected: Harlan W. Cutter, treasurer; Robert P. Rutter, auditor; William W. Bryan, messenger; George A. Mansfield, assistant clerk and clerk of committees.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

Lowell Opera House

On Friday evening, Jan. 10th, P. Paul Marcel and his clever company of French artists will play a return engagement at the Opera House presenting for this engagement a three-act comedy, "Vingt Jours a L'Ombre," said to be a bright and witty play and full of action. Seats for the engagement are now on sale at the box office.

YIDDISH PLAYERS

Thursday evening Jan. 9th, the talented actor, Jacob Silbert, supported by Mme. Liza Silbert and a company of Yiddish players, will be seen at the Opera House in the musical drama, "Benjamin the Soldier." Seats are now on sale.

HARRY LAUDER

Since the arrival of Harry Lauder in this country for his fifth American tour a corner of the office of William Morris, in the Times building, New York, is occupied by a massive handsome bronze bust of the great Scottish comedian, the actor's gift to his manager.

The bronze is the work of Reid Dycke of the Royal Academy of London and was made after many months of arduous and intimate work during Lauders' recent stay in England. A great friendship has existed between the noted sculptor and Lauder for many years past, and this is the first time that a bronze of the comedian has been made. A duplicate will be executed on Lauder's return to England to be placed in the London Museum.

STAGE JOHNNIES ARE BARRED

Stage Johnnies and other curious persons who loiter around stage entrances no longer have any terrors for pretty little Minerva Coverdale, the dancer appearing with Raymond Hitchcock in "The Red Widow," which comes to the Opera House Jan. 14th. "She is entirely too young to travel alone without an escort," her mother thinks, so one of her husky brothers has been delegated to do escort duty for her. Wherever the dancer goes, there's big brother Bill, and it takes a pretty hardy Romeo to withstand his stern glances.

Keith's Theatre

A rattling lively show is the one to be seen this week at Keith's. There is nothing doing on any of the sentiment stuff, on any compressed-while-you-wait dramas or any freak turns. It's just laugh, laugh, laugh. The headliner, "The Second Generation," with our old friends, William H. Macart and Ethlynne Bradford & Co. in charge of the side-splitters' department, is a head-liner indeed. It has a little something to say about one Dennis Mulligan, a broth of a boy of an old-time politician, about his propensity for getting into arguments with the members of his family, and those of other families to boot, about his views on higher education, woman suffrage and all the other subjects known to an aggressive, pugnacious son of the old sod, and about the strenuous methods by which Mr. Mulligan emphasizes these views on all those fortunate or unfortunate enough to come within his reach. George Dixon, the "musical clown," should have been billed as the "Magic Musician," for George can draw his music from about anything he has a mind to and draw it in such a fashion that his audience is tickled both over the heart and between the ribs. "When Casey Hit the Ball," a 1913 adaptation to the famous song is the medium by which Connery and Legault win the hearts of their audience. They were right up to snuff on the dancing line, too. "The Piano Movers" is a very funny skit. Miss McDevitt is the lady in charge of this movement of mirth. She has "form" from every viewpoint. She's a catchy singer, clever comedienne bewitching soubrette and then there's some more "form." Assisting her are Mr. Kelly and Lucy. Whoever said skinny men can't be funny? Kelly and Lucy just make one roar with laughter by their comical antics and ludicrous meanderings around the stage in their portrayal of how real piano movers earn their daily bread. Harvard and Cornell do a pleasing singing turn that is mighty charming. They have better-than-the-ordinary tuneful voices and so are always sure of a rousing hand. Sam Harris, who from his accent must come from south of Mason and Dixon, is one of these monologists who absolutely compels an audience to laugh. With a rapid fire delivery and a droll manner of putting his mirth shoots across the plate, Sam started right in to mow down the long-faces in the gathering before him last night. And Sam succeeded. From the hand he got when he backed into the rear scenery, it was self evident that Sam had entertained his audience. "The Chinaman and the Coon," Stevens and Cook respectively, are the traveling names of a couple of laugh manufacturers who, in their line, can't be beat. Cook, who is a real colored man, is as clever an entertainer as any of his race who have appeared on the boards in Lowell. Not alone is he a pleasing singer, but he has the real "darky" dialect, the real facial contortions of the southern negro, the real light-heartedness that make these simple folks the most carefree and jolly people in the world. And Mr. Cook knows the art of making his audience feel those characteristics which distinguish his race. His partner, Stevens, has a corking good Chinese dialect, a perfect make-up, and a delivery that would make one think that a "John Chinaman" had inadvertently strayed behind the footlights. This team is remarkably good. The Carroll Gillette Trio, three skilful equilibrists, are up to all the latest wrinkles in the acrobatic line and so please their audience. The program closes with a realistic motion picture, of a comical description, of scenes in the jungle.

Merrimack Square

This is Irish week at the Merrimack Square theatre, and the bill provided is one of the best ever presented at this theatre. The headliner is the Temple Players in a clever act, entitled "In Dublin Town." It is a piece containing considerable music and dancing, interspersed with rich comedy, and is well worth seeing. Miss Hawthorne, the favorite prima donna, is again with the company and her success last night was wonderful. All in all, the act is a very good one and sure to please the many patrons of this popular house.

Another very interesting number on the program is "Niblo's Lecture on Ireland." The lecturer, with the assistance of numerous views and a series of motion pictures, carries his listeners through the various cities of importance in the land of the shamrock, shows the many interesting points visited by the traveler and relates in a most entertaining manner the characteristics, customs and practices of the people.

Ralfe O'Reilly, a Lowell musician, is another who made a decided hit. He plays several instruments and plays them well, too, and his audiences, it seems, never tire of listening to him.

F. A. Sullivan & Co., in an Irish singing and comedy sketch, gives added pleasure to the week's program, which Manager Carroll has so carefully and cleverly gathered. The young woman member of the cast has a charming stage presence, while the male members of the trio are unusually good. The act is a hummer.

Patrons who plan to attend the Friday night's performance are advised to secure their seats immediately. Indications at this time point to an early "sell out" on that night as a special program has been arranged.

The Playhouse

Mr. J. Anthony Smythe and Miss Constance Jackson are seen at their best in "Sowing the Wind" which Mr. Kendrt Weston is presenting at The Playhouse during this week and it was a highly pleased audience that departed from the doors of that theatre last night after the opening performance.

The play itself needs no other recommendation beyond the statement that it is from the pen of Sidney Grundy, and when the announcement is made that it was played by the Drama Players then to all who have grasped the splendid opportunity of seeing this clever body of artists, it will at once become clear that "Sowing the Wind" was interpreted to perfection and brought out to its full strength.

"Sowing the Wind" is far from being a new production but even though it has delighted audiences for years past, it is a story that is never old and its long life is due to the clever insight of its author into human life. Without exception the entire cast is given an unusual opportunity and no less than every member of that well known company makes the best of that opportunity. Mr. Smythe and Miss Jackson demand special mention for their work in this presentation and they received ample reward for their efforts in the appreciative applause which was accorded them last night. If you have been to The Playhouse you noted that the audiences wait expectantly for the appearance of these two and that when they finally do enter upon the stage the play has to be momentarily suspended while the people in the audience make manifest their pleasure.

The stage effect is an important factor in the success of any piece and it is a leading characteristic of every production which is staged at The Playhouse by Mr. Weston. Moreover, the scenic effects which are arranged at this theatre are a source of great delight to patrons on all occasions. You cannot help but enjoy a play ever so much more if you feel that the company is exerting every effort just to please you and if you go to the home of the Drama Players it is impossible for you to escape this latter feeling, for both the management and the members of the company impress one in a manner far different from the ordinary stock company. What is more, in the various characters which they are required to assume each succeeding week they appear as different people altogether, so great is their faculty of character interpretation.

Performances of "Sowing the Wind" are to be given every afternoon and evening during the remainder of the week, and every one will greatly enjoy witnessing the piece.

JARVIS JOCELYN,
With the Temple Players at the Merrimack Square Theatre this Week.

Theatre Voyons

No character in history is grander or better suited to dramatic depiction than that of Napoleon the Great. In "At Napoleon's Command" shown today at the Theatre Voyons a true picture is given of the great Corsican in one of his campaigns and a story involving two of his field marshals is well told. The production is adequate in every way.

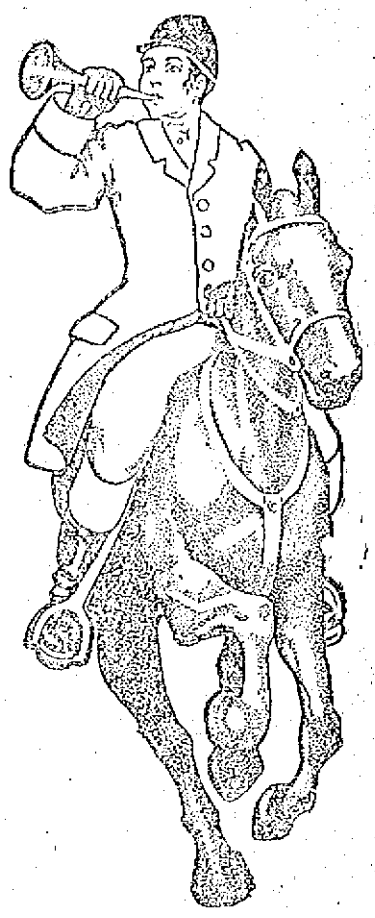

The Kasino

How many revolutions do the little rollers make in the course of an hour's skating? That's a hard question to answer, but if you had a penny for every revolution in that time, you would never be put to the painful necessity of working again. Because of the tremendous wear thus imposed, one must have the very latest and best skates, if one is to thoroughly enjoy this exhilarating indoor sport. The Kasino offers the very best.

STEAMER IN BATTLE WITH STORM

Pilot House and Bridge on Caisbrook Crumbled by Seas—Thrilling Experiences

BOSTON, Jan. 7.—Battered from stern to stern, with her steel pilot and charthouse and bridge twisted and torn as though she had passed through a severe naval engagement, with a decided list to port and holding her course by means of temporary arrangement to control her steam-steering gear, the British tramp steamer Carisbrook, from Huelva, Spain, felt her way into the harbor early last night and dropped anchor at quarantine.

The stout, steel and iron craft, built at Sunderland, Eng., only 10 years ago, and loaded with the most dreaded of winter cargoes—iron pyrites—was caught in the full fury of the hurricane and before the gale subsided she was a partial wreck, and her master and crew were completely worn out.

Only a miracle prevented loss of life, for in the midst of the storm a huge sea broke over the bow of the Carisbrook, burying her steel pilothouse, chart room and bridge as though it had been paper, and swept away every movable article on deck.

Standing on the bridge were Capt. D. A. Hunter of Liverpool, E. Pierce, the second officer, and a sailor, Hendricks of Ville of Borneo.

After the wave had passed the officers found that she was in a helpless condition. Her steam steering system had been rendered useless by the giant sea.

Capt. Hunter and his crew faced the problem of devising a substitute for the useless steering gear.

Even while the great ship wallowed amid mountainous seas, at the mercy of the elements, every man of the 22 aboard the crippled steamer stood by ready to carry out the orders of Capt. Hunter. They knew there was but one way to save the craft and that was to get her bow into the seas again.

Followed by his men, Capt. Hunter scrambled aft to the hand steering apparatus. Already the rudder had became jammed to starboard. The strength of a dozen men was required to swing the rudder to port, and every man of the 22 figured in the task of swinging the Carisbrook's head up into the seas. Then the wheel was lashed fast.

That probably was the most thrilling incident of the whole experience of the crew. Had there been any longer delay, the crew said last night, there is no knowing what would have happened, for the heavy hull, loaded with iron ore, was trembling from stem to stern and was already badly down by the head.

Y. M. C. A.

Efficient life is the slogan of the physical department of the Y. M. C. A. The most important factor in attaining physical efficiency is the gymnasium. The new "Gym" is very complete in all of its parts and appointments and will attract many boys, young and middle aged men who desire to increase their physical powers. It is quite necessary that every person who uses the gymnasium, use it intelligently, not as a pastime but as a beneficial agency. It will be presided over at all times by a very efficient director, Mr. Albert J. Wicke. Before entering into athletic work every person will undergo a very careful physical examination by a physician of the Y. M. C. A. staff to be sure that no physical defects exist, which would render some of the more active exercises and games harmful rather than beneficial. If a young man has a weak heart or hernia, or weak lungs this will be detected and he will be advised what to do and what not to do. If he has any skin disease or any communicable disease he will of course be barred from the swimming pool or any activities which would endanger others. The staff of physicians will be under the supervision of Dr. G. M. Randall and will be made up of the following: Mr. Nathan Pulsifer, William I. Wiggin, M. A. Long, R. C. Stewart, M. L. Alling, L. F. Gage, R. L. Jones. One of the staff of physicians will be at the rooms to examine applicants each afternoon from 4.30 to 5.30 and each evening from 7.30 to 8.30.

Why Buy Rubbers by Name?

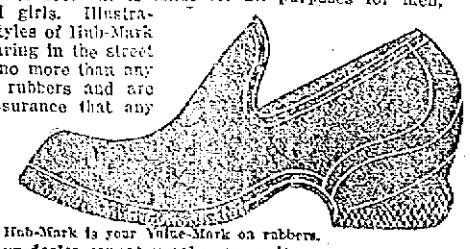

Buying trade-marked goods is the only way a purchaser can profit by his experience and fasten responsibility upon the manufacturer.

If there is one thing more than another that should be bought by name, it is a pair of rubbers. Nothing varies more in quality, yet all look alike.

To help the public distinguish our rubber footwear from every other kind, we mark our standard first quality rubbers with the Hub-Mark trade-mark.

Try Hub-Mark rubbers this winter and you'll decide it is worth while to get rubbers from a factory that is ready to vouch for its goods.

Hub-Mark rubber footwear is made for all purposes for men, women, boys and girls. Illustrations of various styles of Hub-Mark rubbers are appearing in the street cars. They cost no more than any other first class rubbers and are sold with the assurance that any pair that fails to make good, through fault of its own, will be replaced by the factory.

The Hub-Mark is your Value-Mark on rubbers.

If your dealer cannot supply you, write us.

NOT TO REPUDIATE IRON WORKERS

Says Gompers in Stirring Address Before Senate Judiciary Sub-Committee Yesterday

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, was the first to appear yesterday before the senate committee on the judiciary, which took up hearings on the anti-injunction and contempt bills.

Mr. Gompers and his organization are strongly in favor of the enactment of the legislation under consideration. Ever since the Danbury hatters case, in which the Hatters' union was fined heavily in a federal court for alleged boycotting, Mr. Gompers has urged the passage of laws to rectify what, in his belief was a legal "injustice."

In his address, President Gompers referred with emphasis to the conviction and imprisonment of the 38 members of the ironworkers' organization. He said in part:

Pres. Gompers' Address

"If ever the time shall come," said Mr. Gompers, "when government by dynamite shall be attempted, (and let us hope and work that it never shall come), it will have as its main cause the theory and policy upon which is based government by injunction—personal government foisted upon our people instead of a government by law."

In closing his statement which included an assault upon employers and manufacturers' associations particularly the United States Steel corporation and the National Erectors' Association, Mr. Gompers declared that organized labor would not repudiate the structural iron workers unions "and leave them helpless and at the mercy of organized capital and insatiable, uncurbed greed for profits."

Keenly Feel Indianapolis Trial

"Though all censure those whom men may deem guilty of dynamite conspiracy," the federation leader continued, "none feels the terrible consequences of the Indianapolis trial more keenly than the men of organized labor. There have been added heartache and sorrow to our already heavy burdens. The men accused and sentenced cannot suffer the penalties alone. Upon them and all workingmen fall the suffering and penalty.

But what of the conspiracy of organized capital—the conspiracy to murder the liberty of the toilers, to tear from them means of protection by which they have bettered their condition, to leave them bare and defenseless in the competitive struggle? Is not such a conspiracy sufficiently dastardly to incur social odium? Should the conspirators with their hands stained with the blood of men's ambition, happiness, liberty, be accorded nothing but honor, power respectability? Should they be allowed to continue to manipulate the powers of government, the administration of justice until the oppressed feel the burden intolerable?

Government by Injunction

"More than it is to seek social justice while yet we may. The judge who presided at the trial realized one of the dangers of government by injunction, lawless autocratic, irresponsible exercise of governmental authority, according privileges to the strong and denying justice to the weak."

Judge Anderson, who presided over the trial of the iron workers, was referred to particularly by Mr. Gompers, when he declared that "Our whole social organization seems to be on trial."

"Even the judge who tried the case smugly assured of personal irresponsibility," Mr. Gompers said, "fatuously declared that 'The evidence in this case will convince any impartial person that government by injunction is infinitely to be preferred to government by dynamite.'

"The worthy judge had blindly chanced upon one of the causes, but had failed to realize causal relationship. The words to him were simply a conventional epigram; he does not know that there is a law of life just as immutable as the law of gravitation, of attraction and repulsion, a law of life which meets tyranny and injustice by resistance. The happiness, aye, the unwarrantable character of this utterance of the judge discloses how far afield outside of the case he went to take another slap at labor."

Fight on Six Years

"For six years the fight went on," he said. "All of the forces of organized society were used against these men. You say that these men resorted to forbidden methods of violence and even sacrificed lives. You condemn their methods of fighting as elemental, brutal. Of any of those who are guilty, the condemnation is true, but I ask you were the methods used by the employers less deadly to humanity and freedom? Do you think that one side can play with the forces of injustice and tyranny and not lead to a defensive move on the part of the other? Each will protect his own interests—would anybody else do that for him?"

Dracut Grange

The members of the Dracut Grange installed their new board of officers last night, the affair being largely attended. The installation was carried out in a most pleasing manner by Worthy State Chaplain Rev. H. H. Wheelock, he being assisted by Past Master Eva C. Blanchard.

After the installation and following the disposal of the usual business routine, there were remarks by Fred L. Fletcher, past master of Chelmsford grange; James Ruth, past master of Middlesex North Pomona grange; Arthur Peabody, past master of Pelham grange, and Murray Parlan, master of Tyngsboro grange.

The concluding number of the evening's program was a supper served in the lower hall, under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. Fred P. Viral and Mrs. Lucy Fox.

GET INCREASE IN SALARY

Boston Truant Officers Get Raise

BOSTON, Jan. 7.—The salaries of twenty-two Boston truant officers were increased $108 a year and four new truant officers were appointed at the meeting of the Boston school committee last night. The increase, which calls for an addition of $2309 to the payroll, creates a new minimum salary for the truant officers of $1512. The former maximum was $1400. The truant officers start in as before with a salary of $1080 annually and receive $108 additional each year for five years until the maximum is reached.

The four new truant officers appointed and the salaries which they will receive are: Francis P. Aleta, third year rating, $1296; Michael C. Tiernan, second year rating, $1188; William J. Marren, second year rating, $1188; John J. Sullivan, fifth year rating, $1512.

The salary of Supervisor Regan of licensed minors was also boosted. He will receive $1296 this year and $108 additional until a maximum of $1512 is reached.

On recommendation of Superintendent Dyer eighty-two minors were licensed to sell newspapers, seven minors were licensed to work as bootblacks and one was licensed to peddle.

The regulations applying to the Boston Industrial school and the trade school for girls was changed so that any resident of Boston between the ages of 14 and 25 may be admitted to either school, according to sex and any non-resident in Boston may be admitted on being approved by the state board of education.

The salary increase to the truant officers was not asked for, but it was not wholly unexpected. The increases start Jan. 1.

As a result of the criticism of the fire department, when Principal King of the Dearborn school refused to allow his pupils to answer a fire signal sounded by one other than an official of the schools, Supt. Dyer and School Committeeman Corcoran paid an unexpected visit to the school last week and rang in the fire signal. They reported last night that the pupils left the building in three and a half minutes.

GAME COCK IS BARRED

From Admission as a Parcel Post Package

BOSTON, Jan. 7.—If the laws of the post office department restricting the sending of live stock by parcel post were not enforced the post offices and railway mail trains would very likely resemble good sized poultry yards. Many hens and chickens have been offered at the Boston post office, but all were refused.

Among these was a lively gamecock, closely crated in a wire cage, which kept his limbs inactive, but which did not in any way affect his lungs. The few minutes which the would-be sender spent at the window trying to ship his bird were trying ones for the ears and nerves of the clerks and patrons standing in line. His "cock-a-doodle-doos" rang through the air, and it was only by the greatest perseverance that the clerk in charge finally made the sender understand, above the uproar, that the sending of live stock was forbidden.

A great deal of butter is sent out through this department. If it is hermetically sealed in air-tight packages it is passed along to any zone.

But if it is packed in the ordinary wooden box or in heavy paper it can be sent only in the local, or first zone. Fresh fish is also sent only in the first zone, and there is a fear that when the summer comes this distance may be too far.

Arrangements are underway whereby a large poultry firm of Northern New York is to send its egg shipments to this city through the parcel post, instead of by express, as it has formerly done. The eggs will have to be separately packed in excelsior or cotton placed in an individual paper-mache protector, and then a dozen of them packed in a card-board box. Such a combination, box and all, will weigh about two pounds. Four of these dozen boxes will then be packed in a wooden box, which will just about reach the limit of weight, 11 pounds.

Suicide Cuased by Worry

DES MOINES, Ia., Jan. 7.—Worry because he could not understand the workings o fthe parcel post is said to have been the reason Earl Sheetz, 22, a rural mail carrier living at Yale, Ia., committed suicide yesterday. The body was found hanging to a rafter by Ira Sheetz, the youth's father.

MATRIMONIAL

A pretty marriage was solemnized yesterday at St. Joseph's church, when Mr. Frederick Sedlow of Springfield and Miss Elizabeth Tellier of this city were married, the ceremony being performed at a nuptial mass celebrated at 7 o'clock by Rev. Joseph M. Blais, O. M. I. The witnesses were Leo Tellier and Miss Annie O'Brien, who served as best man and bridemaid respectively. At the close of the ceremony the party repaired to the home of the bride's parents, 12 Robert place, where a sumptous dinner was served. The happy couple left at noon for Springfield, where they will make their home.

MERCIER—BEAULE

The marriage of Mr. Jules Mercier and Miss Adele Beaule was solemnized yesterday at a nuptial mass celebrated at 7 o'clock at the rectory, the officiating clergyman being Rev. Guillaume Ouellette, O. M. I. The couple was attended by Messrs. Octave D. Mercier and Alphonse Beaule. A dinner and reception were held at the home of the bridegroom's parents, 36 Westford street.

STRIKERS ATTACK COPS

Police Used Clubs to Protect Girls

NEW YORK, Jan. 7.—In their efforts to intercept 350 young women employed in the wholesale clothing manufacturing concern of J. L. Taylor & Co., as they were leaving work last evening, 500 striking garment workers, the majority of them women, attacked the police on guard in front of the building.

Automobiles were waiting to take the young women to their homes and the police had formed a cordon on either side of the doorway across the sidewalk to the curb.

The police used their clubs on the outstretched arms of the strikers who reached under their arms to seize the coats and dresses of the girls. The automobiles were quickly filled and rushed away.

Five strikers arrested on charges of conducting the strike in an unlawful manner were sentenced by a magistrate to ten days each in the workhouse.

Leaders of the strike claimed late yesterday that 110,000 garment workers are out.

The independent clothing manufacturers met representatives of the various clothing associations last night, final arrangements being made to fight the strike.

All Great Nations Joined in Honoring Whitelaw Reid at Imposing Funeral Service in New York

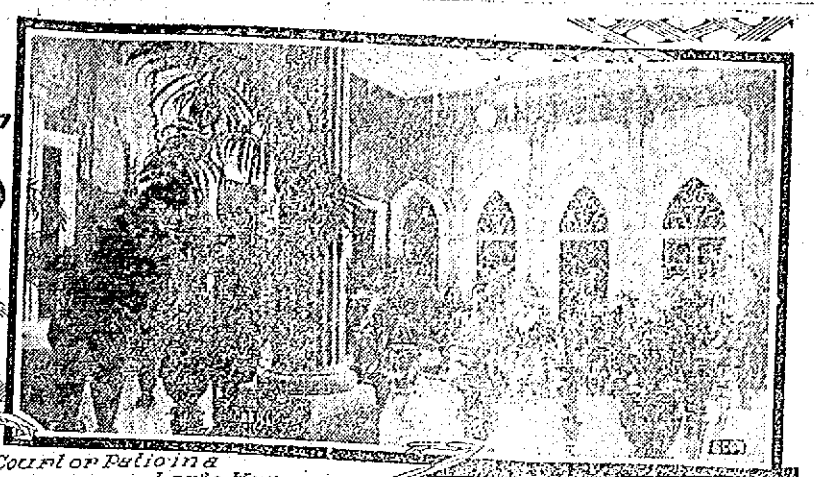

NEW YORK, Jan. 7.—Representatives of every great nation in the world joined with their fellow countrymen in the last tribute of respect to the memory of Whitelaw Reid, the dead ambassador of the United States to the United Kingdom. The funeral services in the Cathedral of St. John the Divine were even more impressive than that held in Westminster abbey before the body left London. President Taft, Secretary of State Knox and other cabinet ministers, members of the diplomatic corps, headed by Ambassador James Bryce, with his entire official household; senators and representatives in congress, officers of the army and navy, the officers of the British cruiser Natal, which brought the body across the ocean; representatives of societies and clubs, and personal friends filled the great nave of the cathedral to its utmost capacity. The pallbearers were Hart Lyman, Donald Nicholson, Ambassador James Bryce, W. D. Sloane, Admiral William Sheffield Cowles, Robert Lincoln, Senator Elihu Root, John Cadwalader, Secretary of State Philander C. Knox, Joseph H. Choate, Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, J. Pierpont Morgan, Judge George Gray, Chauncey M. Depew, Robert Bacon and Henry White.

Is Guadalajara, "The Florence of Mexico" Doomed?

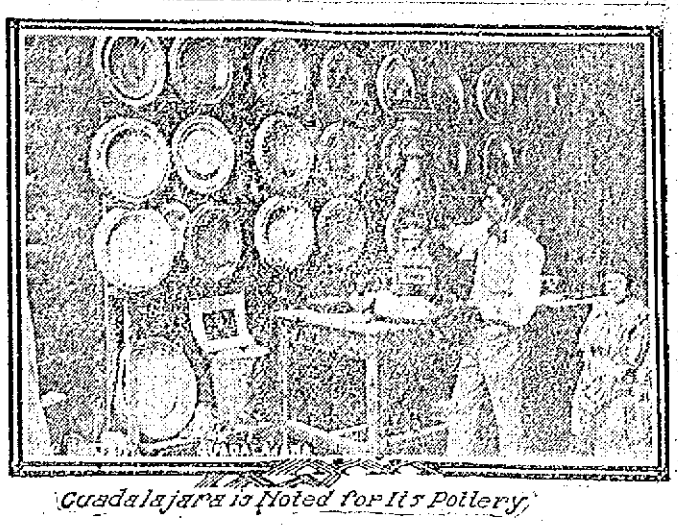

The Beautiful Square or Plaza at Guadalajara

Court or Patio in a Large Home

Market Place

Guadalajara is Noted for Its Pottery

IS Guadalajara, the second city of Mexico, often called the Florence of Mexico, doomed? So say scientists connected with the seismographic branch of the observatory at Mexico City and they contend that after spending several months investigating, noting the sudden cropping out of hot springs in the vicinity, the rumblings of the earth and other signs that sooner or later this beautiful city will be the victim of an upheaval. At any rate enough credence is given to their calculations to transport the government papers to the palace in Mexico City and to call a meeting of citizens to debate the question for this is the first time in history that a town has been warned that danger may sometime impend. People living there are divided in opinion, some asserting that it would be well to leave and settle in Juanacatlan, a town not far away but separated by hills from the Guadalajara district and others laughing to scorn any suggestion of danger.

That the citizens of this magnificent city will leave it to build up a town elsewhere is doubtful. The city lies in the charming valley of the Lerma River and it is called from old Spain "Wad-a-laja-ra." All the products of the temperate zone are raised at their very doors, and the surrounding country is a sort of "Garden of the Lord" favorable to the production of coffee, tobacco, and all kinds of fruit. It is also a rich mineral district, a distributing port, and a drink called tequila is exported in large quantities. On the great Mexican plateau, a mile above sea level, Guadalajara, the "City of Winter Sunbeams" stands forth as a thing of beauty, art and culture. Its churches show the influence of Byzantine art, its residential section is beautiful and its plazas and public buildings are artistic and interesting. The state palace is large and holds many valuable papers and it is from this building that all documents have been removed.

This place is irrevocably associated with history. Here the Aztecs made their first stand against the power of Spain and here Alvarado met his fate in a terrible battle and the champion of an ancient race saw his dream of an empire vanish. It is a beautiful city, an ancient city and a great city. Already it is a railroad center—and this means much in Mexico—one road leading to the Pacific and the other, an American railroad opening up a new country. There are manufactures without number. Cotton goods, shoe leather, flour, pottery, knitted goods, hats and blankets are made here and sent all over the country. Too much has been spent on this city, its historical associations are too great, its inhabitants have too much affection for it for them to migrate hastily to another town unless forced too even though there are those who look on the dark side and urge that the city be abandoned.

It was only twenty years ago that this ancient city of Guadalajara founded in the sixteenth century began to be modernized, yet it now has a fine electric lighting system, is sanitary and the residential section is filled with comfortable homes surrounded with gardens filled with bright flowers or built around beautiful patios. Many of the public buildings in this up-to-date town, that is up-to-date for Mexico—are elegant and there is a well managed hospital or home for aged persons and children. There is also a prison, said to be a model, something needed in Mexico where the prisons are not all they should be. This one is built with the cells radiating in rows from a large circular court, and one standing in the court can look down every corridor. The prisoners are taught trades and there is a band recruited from them which plays remarkably well.

But the crowning beauty of Guadalajara is its plaza in the heart of the town. This is surrounded by business streets lined by stores which have portals over the sidewalk. Under these portals the women do a thriving trade at their little stalls and here can be found everything from a shoe string up to a rare carved piece of onyx. Here one can find at certain seasons the wonderful penates or dolls which the Mexicans use for Christmas instead of a Christmas tree. These penates are of all sizes and conditions, some dressed elegantly and others clothed in modest raiment. They hang in the markets suspended from wires placed high over head and are cut down when sold and handed to the buyer who may drive home in an elegant carriage with one beside him or may sling the penate over his back and in this democratic way carry it home to the children. As these queer Christmas dolls are made of pottery bowls, with heads, legs and arms of straw affixed, they cause no end of amusement. At Christmas they are suspended in the patio or some convenient place and each child tries his hand at giving a blow. One good hard blow—and presto! the doll's stomach falls to pieces and out of the pottery's depths come tumbling down all sorts of sweet meats, toys and knicknacks. It is great fun for the old people as well as the children.

In the plaza in front of these portals or covered sidewalk booths there are all sorts of tropical plants and flowers for this is really the heart of Guadalajara and a beautiful one it is. In this plaza the rich and poor congregate to listen to the music, gossip and see the latest in fashion. There are fine cement walks and two such walks with seats at the side extend around the four sides. One might suppose these walks were for the indiscriminate use of all passers by but this is not so. Guadalajara is particular. On one walk only the rich and aristocratic are allowed, while the peons or lower classes enjoy the other promenade. The two classes never mingle.

Nor is this the only peculiarity of the noted plaza of Guadalajara. If one watches closely he will see that the men walk in one direction and the women promenade in the opposite. This has the advantage of bringing them face to face everytime they pass, and as all courtship is done sub rosa, it affords delightful opportunities for a melting glance, the exchange of a rose, or a whispered compliment. All together it seems a happy arrangement; though the cold outsider may go to this plaza because the moonlights are superb, and it is the center of all that is bright, joyous and gay. The people enjoy the music from the military band in the Moorish pavilion, the soft tropical nights, the flowers, the sentiment. It is a fine place to woo and to be won.

This plaza is not the only thing for which the charming city is noted. Long before one reaches the town the roof of the great Basilca can be seen. This alone would cause its citizens to refuse to leave. Art critics say that its impressions are so beautiful, the view from its Gothic-Tuscan towers so wonderful that the surrounding hills and valleys seem aglow with sunlight. In the sacristy of this Cathedral is one of the choice paintings of the Western Hemisphere, a jewel of art, Murillo's Assumption. It is one of the few noted paintings to be found in Mexico.

Of course Guadalajara has markets—what Mexican town has not?—and, in these can be found all kinds of drawn work on linen and cotton and several styles of the pottery for which the town is famous. In fact, though pottery is found all over Mexico, the Indians in all the villages making it, and parting with it for a few cents, the trade is in no place so well developed as in Guadalajara, from whence it is shipped extensively. Two renowned sculptors make this town their home. They have wonderful facility in modeling, working the clay with their hands into remarkable likenesses and many noted persons—some of them presidents of our country—have sat for them.

Some Americans live on ranches near the town and there is quite an American colony at Lake Chapala, not far distant. This lake is surrounded with high mountains and dotting its shore are beautiful haciendas. The Ribera Castelanos, as the American settlement is called, is owned by a company and it is a favorite spot for sportsmen and persons who wish to rest. The main building was once a Spanish fort but it and the surrounding houses have been modernized and the wealthy owners cultivate wheat, corn, alfalfa, oranges and various fruits. The people of Guadalajara love this place as much as the Americans and it is a favorite week-end resort.

Yes, it is better to laugh any forebodings to scorn for it would be terrible if anything should happen to Guadalajara, the beautiful. Nor can its inhabitants desert the city. It would take hundreds and hundreds of years to create another such city. Moreover it is the heart of western Mexico. This Western coast is developing rapidly and sections before little known are being appreciated because of the railroad building. One road goes to Manzanillo, a port of great importance, even before the advent of a railroad. It was through Manzanillo that many of the American gold seekers passed to and from California in the year forty-nine. Broad government highways stretched all the way from the boundary of the Louisiana Purchase territory through Guadalajara to Manzanillo, crossing mountains and plains with hardly a break. It was a better route to California than by sailing vessels around the Horn, or across the continent by the trails in the United States. The Mexican government has spent over eight million pesos (four million dollars in our money), in improving harbor facilities at Manzanillo, and getting it ready for the commerce that is already coming from central and eastern Mexico via Guadalajara. This growing harbor on the Pacific Coast has a breakwater 11,446 feet long, which gives a protected harbor that covers 166 acres. The length of the interior seawalls is over two thousand feet, thus relieving the harbor of swells from the ocean. There will be a uniform depth of thirty feet and one hundred vessels can anchor at once besides the forty boats that can be accommodated at the wharves. It is this part of Mexico that the Japanese are credited with desiring for coaling stations, and there is no doubt about the wonderful facilities afforded by improvements. Even the seawalls of Cherbourg and Plymouth do not excel in proportions. It was in this same harbor that Hernan Cortez three centuries ago constructed a fleet of ships for the purpose of exploring the unknown waters of the Pacific Ocean and it was this identical fleet that won the Philippines for Spain.

In all this coast trade, for Pacific steamers are plying up and down the coast continually, Guadalajara plays its part as the largest and nearest inland town. No, Guadalajara is too important a city to be easily frightened by reports of scientists and it is too beautiful for anyone to leave unless absolutely forced to do so. If it had nothing else its great Basilca recompenses the fatigue of a long pilgrimage to see it and its soft tropical nights amid the flowers, beneath the orange trees in bud, bloom and fruit, the surrender to the "dolce far niente of the hour" endears the city to every inhabitant and visitor.

Giant Terrors of the Sea

IN tropical waters, where bathing and swimming are carried on to a more general extent for the greater portion of the year, than in the colder waters farther north, there is much dread of those swift swimmers of the sea, called sharks.

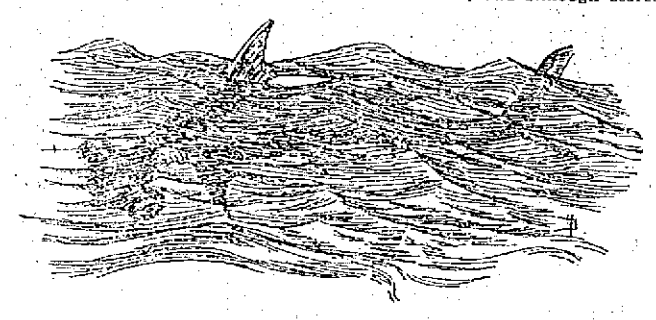

Upon the Atlantic Coast there are to be found some twenty species of sharks, some of which are only an annoyance to the fisherman, while others are of considerable economic value.

The one species which merits most fear from the people is the great blue shark or "man-eater" of the temperate and tropical seas. This great fish attains a length of some forty feet and his dark blue, almost black body, with a strip of clear white along the throat and under parts, is universally dreaded in every place where he is to be seen. A monster such as this, with shining white, backward pointing teeth—sharp as saw teeth—with a gap of jaws of some two feet, is enough to make any swimmer hesitate a little before he thinks seriously of swimming out very far in the ocean beyond the sand bar.

All of us have heard stories of people having been eaten by sharks, and we have read a few of such accounts, but when it comes right down to the actual facts, authorities on such subjects say that there are very few really authentic cases where people have been attacked and eaten by this particular shark—or any other one, but, without doubt, people who have fallen overboard from some ocean steamer have been swallowed by these terrible-looking scavengers of the seas.

Not very long ago, a young sea-lion weighing one hundred pounds, was found, whole, in the stomach of one of these "man-eater" sharks which measured thirty feet in length. This shark was caught as far north as Soquel, California.

Scientists have found fossil sharks' teeth of enormous size in the phosphate beds of South Carolina which from their size would indicate that the owner of them must have been at least eighty feet in length. At the time of that horrible calamity of the blowing up of the Maine, it was reported that some of our sailors, who were thrown into the sea from the force of the explosion, were afterward torn and devoured by the sharks which were and are quite abundant in those waters!

This great blue shark, as most others of the shark family, swims quite close to the water's surface when in search of food, so he is easily seen and distinguished by the tall, black, dorsal fin which projects out of the water. The sight of this fin has caused many a swimmer in tropical waters to shout "shark! shark!" to his companions who needed no further warning to make haste shoreward!

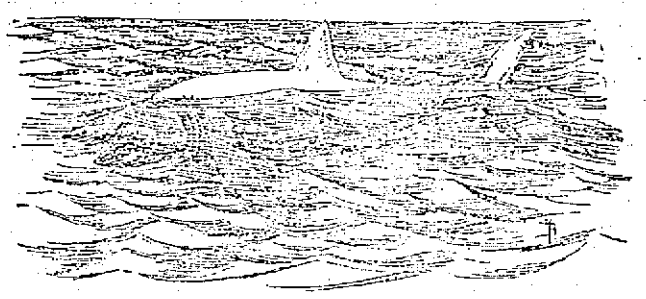

A shark story in which some young fellows got badly frightened, was related to the writer some years ago, by one who shared the ever-to-be-remembered experience. A few young swimmers, at one of our Atlantic Coast resorts, were having "a fine time" sporting in the ocean much farther out at sea than most swimmers ever go. Suddenly, one of the party sighted a dorsal fin of a shark! He knew well what it meant, and although scared almost stiff, he shouted "shark!" to his companions.

Memory didn't fail them, even at the point of danger, so they made as much splashing in the water as possible by the kicking up of their feet, which commotion frightened the unwelcome caller away, temporarily. Then energetic efforts were turned toward gaining the shore, when the shark made his appearance again, and got so close to one of the young men that his feet came in contact with the cold body of the creature as he swam across back of the young man! At this experience, all waited again and raised a huge foam in the water by several pairs of feet used to their best. Again the dreaded animal left their company, only to return later after things had quieted down. This process of scaring off the enemy was kept up until the swimmers neared the bar when the shark gave up, and went out to sea. The writer understands now why the relator of that story never swims outside of the bar now—his were the feet which felt the cold clammy side of the shark! This may have been only one of the "dog-sharks" which abound on our Atlantic Coast, but even such a creature could make things rather disagreeable for the swimmers if he not frightened off so vigorously.

In constrast with the dangerous creature described, we have the basking-shark or bone-shark of the polar seas, which is one of the largest of living animals, being full fifty feet long in some specimens. This is one of the harmless sharks, except that when occasion warrants, he can easily smash a small boat to pieces with a slap of his great powerful tail. His teeth, however, are small and he feeds upon fishes and small crustaceans to be found floating upon the surface of the sea. He gets one of his names—"basking-shark"—from his habit of remaining quiet for a considerable time at the surface of the sea without moving about. You will notice from the accompanying illustration how the nose projects ahead of the front of the mouth in this species, and the great length of the side or pectorial fins which are such powerful swimming instruments.

This is a valuable fish commercially as the liver of a good specimen will yield from ten to twelve barrels of oil of the very best quality. It was Bishop Gunner, of Norway, who first described this species of shark, and who attempted to prove that this was the kind of "great fish" in whose interior the prophet Jonah was entertained for a spell.

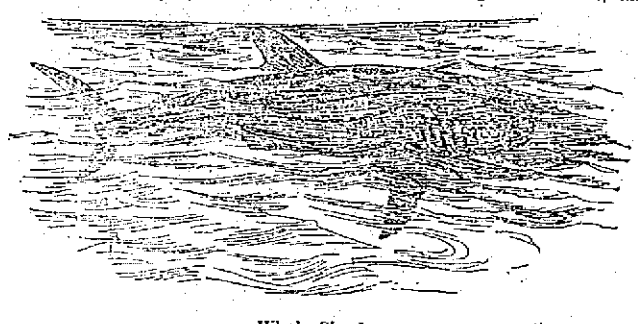

This shark is often harpooned by whalers along the Pacific Coast, who may approach very near it without disturbing its laziness in the least—until it feels their harpoon, then it is immediately transformed into a very active creature and swims away at top speed.

Basking Shark.

The gill-rakes of this fish, which are five in number, as in most sharks, indicate that it strains its food as does the whalebone-whales, and finds its food at the surface of the water, as has been mentioned above.

One of the most peculiar members of the shark family is the "hammer-head" shark, a small species which only attains a length of eight feet or so. It is a very common caller all along our coast from Cape Cod southward into the tropical regions, and may be found the world over in tropical waters. It is not large enough to be dangerous but is small enough, as sharks go, to be a great nuisance to the fishermen, becoming entangled in their nets and causing endless trouble. Residents and visitors at our seaside resorts have sometimes had an opportunity to see one of these sharks as he was hauled up on the beach by the fishermen. The shape of the head, from which his name is derived, is very queer, with one eye at each end of the "hammer" head. It will be noticed that the gill-rakes of this species are much smaller than those of the other sharks illustrated in proportion to the size of the fish. Judging from the position of the eyes of this fish he has an excellent chance to look to the rear and take notice of any danger which might approach from that quarter.

One of the most graceful and active members of the shark family, is the thresher-shark of the Indian Ocean and Coast of Japan, which was first seen in our waters by Captain Atwood. This is a very ferocious animal with razor-like teeth which he uses with terrible effect upon other fish upon which he feeds. Captain Atwood once found nearly a whole sword-fish within the stomach of one of these sharks, and the many wounds along the sides of the shark showed very plainly what that meal had cost him. This shark has about as bad a name for terrorizing people along the coast as has the great blue shark, and it is very probable he deserves all the credit given him for bad behavior.

Those who frequently sail the seas during the hot summer season may often see a very peculiar fish as he leaps repeatedly out of the ocean among schools of small fish upon which he feeds. This is the thresher-shark which makes a specialty of attacking certain of the whale family, which he strikes terrifically with that long tail of his as he leaps upon or over their huge backs. His method of attacking the whale is calculated to tire out the great creature, and worry him into exhaustion, before he and his company feast off the huge animal.

This shark may be recognized at a great distance by the very long tail nature has given him, and which he seems to know how to use to such great advantage. His body is shaped much like a cigar and like other members of the shark family, he is a swift swimmer. The form of the body is a great aid to various fishes in allowing them to move with high speed through the water, and you will notice that those which swim the fastest are shaped much like a torpedo, while those of slower movement are more bluntly formed at the head, and have greater width of body as well. The large dorsal and ventral fins help them to keep steadied in the vertical position while the pectoral fins and tail send the body along and steer it at the same time. The basking shark is also provided with a small keel, along each side near the tail, which aids as a balancer in swimming fast. This sort of a balancer has been copied along the sides of many of our cruisers and battleships, to aid them in keeping level when at high speed, and also when guns from one broadside are fired. This same idea is also used on the arrow by its "keel" of feathers which hold it steady in its swift flight through the air.

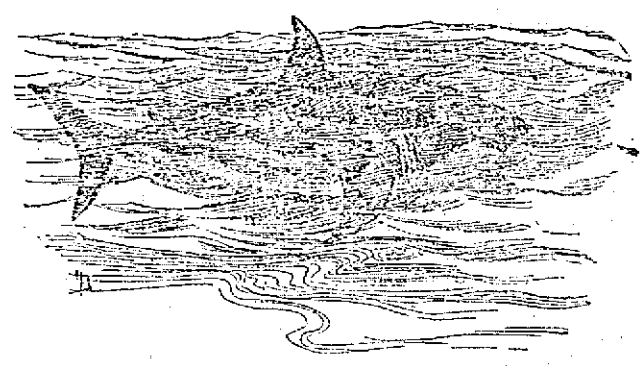

The largest of all sharks, and one of the largest of existing creatures, is the great whale-shark which was first discovered near the Cape of Good Hope, but which since has been seen in the waters of Japan, the Indian Ocean, South America, Panama and California. This immense fish, credited with attaining a length of some seventy feet, is a very dangerous companion for sailing boats to meet, on account of its size only, but its teeth are small and it is not adapted to fighting. The huge, dark-colored body of this fish is covered with whitish spots, and several keels traverse the body for nearly its whole length. The head is very blunt and the pectoral fins are immense. It has been reported that a fisherman of sperm whales once harpooned one of these monster sharks in the Indian Ocean, by mistake, and the creature instantly made a lightening-like dive for the bottom, exhausting the surprised fisherman's harpoon line in short order and carrying himself and his crew so far beneath the surface that they were all drowned! In this case, they got a ride downward, instead of one along the surface as when a whale is harpooned.

UMBRELLAS WITH WINDOWS.

THE French usually originate the unique novelties, and the latest idea to come from Paris is an umbrella with windows of tinsel or mica. The latter are either arranged to be inserted into the ordinary umbrella or may constitute a part of the article itself. These windows permit one to see clearly when carrying one's umbrella in front of one. It is prophesied that the next step will be toward transparent umbrellas.

TESTERS DEFEAT LIVE WIRES

At Bowling—Other Games—The Wamesit Lodge Team Leads League

The Testers won four points from the Live Wires in a game in the Heinze Cartridge bowling league series last night. Coughlin of the defeated team was high man with a triple of 370 and the only bowler to pass the hundred mark in a single string.

The game between the Shippers and Foundrymen of the Saco-Lowell league resulted in a decisive victory for the latter team, the Foundry team being outclassed in every string. Clark of the winning team was the big noise, his triple of 289 being high.

The Shop team won three points from the Kitsons.

Despite the fact that the Y. M. C. I. and Andovers split even in the number of points won, the remarkable bowling of the Y. M. C. I. in the second string clinched the game, the Andovers being defeated by 140 pins.

AUTOMOBILE NEWS

INCREASE IN ACCIDENTS

Due to High Speeding of Autos

COMPLETE CONTROL SHOWS THE EFFICIENT DRIVER

Wheels of Motor Cars Should Be Equipped With Chains When Roads Are In Slippery Condition

The reports of commissioners of highways and other officers having duties of a similar nature, throughout the country, show the usual increase in the number of fatal automobile accidents. With the rapid increase in the number of automobiles, this result was to a certain extent inevitable, but the number of accidents seems to have increased out of proportion to the number of automobiles, and the causes of accidents are now being more carefully investigated than they have been in the past.

The commissioner of highways, of one county, who is himself an enthusiastic motorist, has gone into the matter with great thoroughness, and after carefully analyzing the reports on automobile accidents in his own and neighboring counties, he makes some interesting recommendations.

As usual the first recommendation is for more stringent enforcement of the laws passed to check excessive speed and racing on the public highways.

His next recommendation is that the wheels of all motor cars be equipped with tire chains in rainy weather or at any time when roads and pavements are in a wet, slippery condition. The commissioner finds that 90 per cent of the auto accidents reported to him were caused by cars not equipped with tire chains skidding into collision with other vehicles or stationary objects like trolley poles, trees ,etc. The commissioner believes moreover, that a considerable number of accidents classed under "speeding" could have been averted had the drivers of these automobiles had the adequate brake control over their cars which can only be gained in wet weather by the use of tire chains properly fitted to the rear wheels.

The following from his report should be of interest to every man who drives a motor car:

"It is surely self-evident that no one may properly be called an efficient and safe driver of a motor car unless he has at all times complete control over the machine which he is driving. No person driving over a slippery road has complete control of a motor car with wheels equipped with nothing but rubber tires. In an emergency he cannot apply his brakes with full force without starting his car spinning about a slippery road, likely to land in the ditch or against the nearest tree.

"Any man who will take the trouble to study the reports of automobile accidents made to this office, will see by a mere glance over the figures that at least 90 per cent. of all the accidents to motor cars are primarily caused by skidding.

"There is just one way in which a motorist can adequately control his car on a slippery road, and that is by tire chains properly adjusted to all four wheels. Equipped with tire chains not the slightest difficulty will be experienced in gaining complete brake control, and such a thing as skidding will not be possible."

If motorists conscientiously followed recommendation to always carry tire chains and use them whenever conditions indicate the necessity of their application to the rear wheels to insure safe driving, they would go a long way toward starting an effective campaign of accident prevention. But there is still another influence of the greatest importance that should be brought to bear—that of the automobile manufacturer himself. It is certainly to the interests of the manufacturer that his customers should enjoy the use of their machines without accidents. He is not in the repair business and would be only too glad to be relieved of that encumbrance—repair shops and service departments are conducted simply as an accommodation. If there were fewer accidents there would not be the pressing need for such large establishments of this class that exist today, and the freedom from damage from such causes would be beneficial in more ways than one, as an accident frequently gives a car a black eye in the owner's estimation, regardless of whether it was the machine or himself that was actually at fault. The automobile manufacturer should lend a hand in the cause of accident prevention by making a full set of chains, a part of the regular equipment of every car he turns out, and include directions for their use in the direction book which accompanies the machine, thus emphasizing their importance. It is only by such foresight that accidents can be prevented.

The great majority of automobile race drivers are very superstitious, but I must confess that I am not, says Harry Grant, the famous automobile race driver. Perhaps the good fortune which always seemed to follow me during my racing career relieved me from having these suspicions.

However, I will say that in every race I entered I always carried a rabbit's foot to keep away misfortune. I had every confidence in this foot and feel today, although some people might laugh at the thought, that it was this little thing which helped me to success and kept away the jinx.

HIGH PRICE OF GASOLINE

Has Not Affected Sale of Automobiles

OPTIMISTS BELIEVE THERE WILL BE A DROP IN PRICE

Automobile Owners Have to Pay the High Price or Stop Using Their Cars—Good Business For Local Men

The recent jump in the price of gasoline has not had the demoralizing effect on the automobile business that many predicted, for the optimistic person is of the opinion that after a short period the price will take a drop and owners of self-propelled vehicles will be able to purchase gasoline for 15 cents per gallon as formerly.

The writer questioned several local dealers as to what effect the increase in price had on the trade and all agreed that there was no perceptible change. Persons who owned cars are trading them in for new machines and others who never owned a car are placing orders.

It is true that the owner of an automobile does not like the idea of paying 22 cents a gallon, but if he does not want to pay the price demanded he must either stop using his car or sell it.

As one dealer put it, the Standard Oil has spent a "barrel of money" during the recent investigation and instead of the trust standing the expense we have got to be the goats. It is a case of they pull the string and we have to dance. The jump of seven cents a gallon is a big one and adds greatly to the expense of operating a machine, but I am of the opinion that as soon as the poor (?) Standard Oil receives the amount of money expended during the investigation the price will drop."

Manager Emerson of the Lowell Automobile corporation reports a good business during the past week and orders were taken for a number of cars for future delivery. Mr. Arthur D. Prince purchased a model 24 Buick and H. T. Patterson of Nashua, N. H. has ordered a model 40 Buick. A Little Four has been purchased by W. A. Gregg of Westford street and Mr. Hugh Gillon has entered an order for a Little Four for his niece, Miss Sadie A. Gillon. The names of others who purchased automobiles through this agency are withheld until the cars are delivered.

Moody Bridge Garage

The Moody Bridge garage, which was gutted by fire last week, is being repaired, a big gang of workmen being engaged in the work of remodeling. Mr. Joseph Marin, the proprietor, expects that he will be open for business in a few days. It is expected that the Mitchell demonstrating car will arrive at the garage within a few days.

Many owners of commercial vehicles are substituting filled and airless tires for the pneumatic tires and a number of people who own pleasure cars and have not got the speed mania are doing likewise. Stephen Rochette, of the Lowell Motor Mart, has secured the agency for the Dayton airless clincher tire and he expects that there will be a good market for that particular kind of tire during the coming season. He has sold a number to owners of commercial automobiles and a local doctor is having his touring car equipped with the Dayton.

MOTOR SPEEDWAY RACES

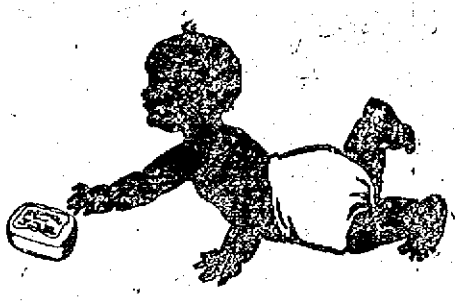

Purse of $50,000 to be Divided

Two Stutz cars are the first to be entered in the 500-mile race to be run at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway Memorial day. The cars were entered New Year's day, the day for the opening of the entries for the big grind.

Charley Merz and Gil Anderson, famous as Stutz drivers, were named to pilot the machines. Relief driver for either car was not named. Both Merz and Anderson drove in the 500-mile last year, Merz finishing fourth, and Zengal sixth. Anderson, however, did not finish, going into the ditch at 200 miles with two blown tires.

The cars were entered by the Ideal Motor Car company of Indianapolis, manufacturers of the Stutz car. On both cars will be four-cylinder motors, made to conform to the condition which names 450 cubic inches as a maximum piston displacement.

This year the $50,000 prize will be divided into ten prizes, instead of twelve as last year, as follows: First, $20,000; second, $10,000; third, $5,000; fourth, $3,500; fifth, $3,000; sixth, $2,200; seventh, $1,800; eighth, $1,600; ninth, $1,500; tenth, $1,400.

FOYE-BAGSHAW WEDDING

Solemnized at St. Margaret's Church

One of the prettiest weddings of the season took place this morning, when Miss Emma M. Bagshaw and Mr. Francis W. Foye, of Westford street, were married in St. Margaret's church. The young couple are well known in the Highland section, and throngs of their friends and relatives attended the nuptial mass, which was celebrated at 9 o'clock by Rev. Fr. Gilligan, the pastor, assisted by Rev. Fr. Reardon.

The bride was beautifully gowned in white duchess satin made with a court train, and trimmed with princess lace. Her tulle veil was fastened with lilies of the valley, and she carried a shower bouquet of roses and lilies of the valley. The bride entered the church on the arm of her mother, Mrs Margaret B. Bagshaw, who wore a becoming dress of lavender satin, with black lace trimming. Miss Margaret Bagshaw, a sister of the bride was bridesmaid. Her dress was of yellow satin, with dainty crystal ornaments on the waist, and touches of yellow velvet. She wore a regular bridesmaid's veil of white tulle, and carried a large bouquet of marguerites. The best man was Harold Foye, a brother of the groom. There were no other attendants.

The musical program of the wedding mass, was under the direction of Mr. L. Guilbault, the organist of St. Margaret's. Two of the bride's favorite songs were sung during the ceremony: "Oh, For the Wings of a Dove," by Miss Catherine V. Hennessy; soprano, and the other, "Oh, Perfect Love," was sung by Mr. James E. Donnelly.

After the ceremony, there was a reception and wedding breakfast at the home of the bride's mother, 24 Marlborough street, furnished by the D. L. Page company, at which only the immediate families were present, together with Rev. Fr. Gilligan and Fr. Reardon. The house was decorated for the happy occasion with a profusion of ferns and Jacquerinot roses.

The bride and groom have succeeded in keeping their honeymoon plans a profound secret, even from their nearest relatives. They left soon after the wedding breakfast, but nobody knew their destination. However, judging from the vast quantity of rice used as they departed, not to mention an additional supply that was stuffed into their suit cases, it is safe to say that everyone the young people will meet on their travels will know that they are on their honeymoon.

Mr. Francis W. Foye, the groom, is the son of Mr. James H. Foye, a conductor on the Bay State street railway, residing in Westford street. He is connected with the Daniels Cornell Co. of Manchester, N. H.

After an extended wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Foye will reside at their new home, 4 Bond street.

THEATRE PARTY

Helen Frick Breaks Pittsburgh Record as Hostess—Entertained 200 Guests Who Came on Special Train

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 7.—Miss Helen Clay Frick, daughter of Henry Clay Frick, was hostess last night at the biggest theatre party ever given in Pittsburgh. Two hundred debutantes, escorts and chaperons filled all the boxes and some of the parquet at the Alvin and saw "Bunty Pulls the Strings."

Miss Frick's guests came on a special train. A procession of taxicabs carried them to the theatre. After the show Miss Frick gave a dinner and dance at the Pittsburgh club.

FOR MOTHERS' CONGRESS

Women to Take Charge of Juveniles

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—Plans are almost complete for the mothers' congress of the District of Columbia whereby leading society women and the wives of senators and representatives and government officials will shortly adopt the role of foster mothers to the delinquents and youthful strayers who come under the jurisdiction of the juvenile court. The finishing preparations probably will be made at a meeting of a committee of the congress Jan. 21 over which Mrs. Fred Dubois, wife of the former senator from Idaho will preside. It is planned to have each woman undertake to watch over one child who has been placed on probation by the court until the probationer is freed from league supervision. The movement is to be organized on the plan in vogue in New York and Chicago and other large cities.

SAVES WIFE AND BABY

Man Dares Flames in Providence Fire

PROVIDENCE, Jan. 7.—Louis Papernow of 150 Cranston street made a daring rescue of his family yesterday when his house caught fire. After taking his wife out of their burning tenement, Papernow rushed back through the smoke and saved his 1-year-old son, Joseph.

Papernow was in his grocery and fish store on the ground floor when he heard sharp raps on the steampipes. He went to the window and looked up. His wife was in an upper window, crying "Fire!"

He ran up the back stairs and took her out of the building. Then he ran to box 285 and rang in the alarm. Returning to his wife, he found her nearly frantic because she had forgotten the baby.

By this time smoke was pouring out of the upper windows, but Papernow ran into the store and again made the trip up the stairs. He picked up the boy and wrapping him in a blanket, stumbled through the burning kitchen and ran down the stairs to the open air.

Atmore L. Crandall, in the same house, was also burned out. The loss is $4500.

CHELMSFORD

The class of '13 met yesterday morning at 10.30 in the Chelmsford High school.

Mr. Henry Smith a former resident of Chelmsford, but now of Wakefield, is spending a few days with his relatives in town.

The parcels coming through this post office are of a large size. It took two men instead of one as usual, to carry the mailbags from the depot last night.

The electric car leaving Lowell at 4.05 ran over a handsome large bulldog near the city line. The owner is unknown.

Mr. Frederic C. Bailey, one of Lowell's oldest and most prominent druggists, spent the day at his camp on Robins hill. Mr. Bailey enjoys visiting his camp in both winter and summer.

Mrs. Harry Flemings of the North Chelmsford road has returned home from the Lowell General hospital and is fast gaining in health.

Mrs. John Skelton of Cambridge who has been visiting her mother, Mrs. Charles Nichols, of North street, has returned home.

Unclaimed letters for this week at the post office are for Mr. and Mrs. Adams and Mrs. Frank Cheney.

W. D. Howels will be the subject of discussion at the literary union meeting this evening by A. H. Davis.

CRUSHED BY WAGON

Frank X. Leclair, the Driver, Fell From Seat in Gardner and Died of Injuries

GARDNER, Jan. 7.—Frank X. Leclair, a teamster, was fatally injured by being crushed by the wheels of a heavy dumpcart loaded with sand, when he fell beneath the wagon on North Main street yesterday. He died while being taken to the Henry Heywood hospital.

Mr. Leclair was employed by John T. Lynch and was delivering a load on Chestnut street when the accident occurred. When picked up his body was wedged beneath the rear wheels of the dumpcart, the horses being stopped by Theophile Fredette, a witness to the accident.

He was removed to the L. G. McKnight & Son factory and Associate Medical Examiner Dr. A. F. Lowell notified. After giving first aid, Dr. Lowell ordered his removal to the hospital but Leclair died before arriving there. He was 43 years of age, and besides his wife, leaves a family of five children who live at 420 Parker street.

National Baseball Commission

CINCINNATI, Jan. 7.—All of the business scheduled to come before the national baseball commission except the election of officers was expected to be undertaken today in spite of the illness of Ban Johnson, which prevented the American league president from attending the meeting. This was according to the announcement of Chairman Herrmann.

A demand for a uniform playing contract, it is expected will be made by a committee of minor league presidents. The committee also is expected to take up the salary limit question.

Three Cornered Rowing Race

CAMBRIDGE, Jan. 7.—Harvard, Princeton and the University of Pennsylvania will meet in a three-cornered rowing race on the Charles river early in May according to plans announced here today. The date has not been set but the race will probably take place about two weeks before Harvard meets Cornell at Ithaca. The event will make Pennsylvania's first rowing appearance at Harvard for many years and will be the second annual visit of the Tiger crew.

It was a triangular race last year, Cornell won and Harvard finished second, a barequarter of a boat length ahead of Princeton.

FOR ST. PATRICK'S DAY

Catholic Societies Meet to Make Plans

The annual convention of all the Catholic societies of this city to make arrangements for a fitting observance of St. Patrick's day is scheduled to open in Hibernian hall on next Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The gathering will be called to order by Chairman Daniel Cosgrove, who was elected at a similar meeting last year.

Among the societies which will be represented at this convention are five divisions of the Ancient Order of Hibernians, the Holy Name societies of all the parishes of Lowell, the Catholic Young Men's Lyceum, Young Men's Catholic Institute, Mathew Temperance Institute, Burke Temperance Institute, Sheridan Guards, Wolfe Tone guards, Meagher guards, Irish National Foresters and others. All of these are making preparations for taking active part in this convention and the event promises to be even larger and more successful than that of last year.

As to the method in which St. Patrick's feast will be celebrated, there have been many and various suggestions, and these will be brought up and acted upon by the convention on next Sunday afternoon. All appear to be unanimous in the opinion that a parade is out of the question and it is likely that this feature will be done away with. There are rumors to the effect that all the societies might unite in some form of celebration that would be appropriate to the day.

Another manner, apart from the general celebration, which the various Catholic organizations deemed most fitting for the observing of St. Patrick's day was the receiving in a body of Holy Communion in one of the churches.

Aside from the regular report of the meeting of the societies last year the secretary has an interesting supplementary report to make in regard to resolutions adopted at the last convention. Letters will be read from Congressman Ames, Speaker Clark, Senator Crane and Senator Lodge.

Patrol Sea for Berg Peril

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—Beginning about April 15, two fast ships of the United States navy will patrol the steamship lanes of the North Atlantic ocean for the purpose of discovering and warning ships of the presence of ice in the route of the liners. It was said at the navy department yesterday afternoon that the fast scout cruisers Salem and Birmingham probably will be chosen for this work. The patrol will be maintained as long as the icebergs drift into the path of the transatlantic steamships. The reports of the patrol ships will be sent out by wireless to vessels at sea and the naval hydrographic office in Washington.

Similar patrol was instituted last May, following the Titanic disaster. Many data will be gathered regarding the movement of ice and means of detecting its presence at sea.

FATHER KILLED AT FIRE

Fell, Breaking Neck---Son Injured

WEST SPRINGFIELD, Jan. 7.—Leander Wendt, aged 49, lost his life, and Leonard Wendt, 14, his son, was injured in a fire which broke out yesterday in their home, corner of Park and River streets.

Otto Wendt, the eldest son, rescued Leonard. He then went into the burning building and pulled his father out of bed and carried him to a window above a veranda. When the father and son were assisted to a place of safety, the former was unconscious from smoke and later fell from the roof of the veranda to the ground.

Mr. Wendt struck on his head, breaking his neck. Edward Wendt, aged 10, and Hilma, aged 17, two other members of the family, were rescued by volunteer firemen.

The fire is thought to have been caused by an incendiary, as a suspicious looking character was seen about the house during the morning. The blaze was discovered by Hilma, who awoke nearly suffocated with smoke. Her cries were heard by her brothers who told her to go to the nearest box and ring in a fire alarm.

Otto then began the work of rescuing the family. Dr. H. A. Downey was telephoned for and summoned Simon J. Russell of Springfield, medical examiner.

Leonard Wendt fractured his arm in some manner and Dr. Downey reduced the fracture. It is thought that he broke it when he ran back into the fire. The apparatus from the Merrick and Mittineague fire stations responded, but not until after the inmates had either made their escape or had been removed. The house was only partially insured. The loss is estimated at $2500. The contents, which were damaged by fire and smoke, were valued at $500.

The testatrix also leaves a gold watch to be disposed of for the benefit of another dog, Prince. The will gives $10,000 to Adam Stein of 2118 Prospect avenue, The Bronx, and $20,000 to his wife, Mrs. Emma Stein.

A bequest of $5000 goes to the Rev. Mr. Schmidt, pastor of St. Paul's church in East 141st street, while the Polyclinic hospital gets $5000 and the German hospital $2000.

CHANCE ENTHUSIASTIC

Over Plantation---Meets Owner Farrell Today

CHICAGO, Jan. 7.—An early edition of an afternoon paper prints an extended interview with Frank Chance in which Chance states positively that he will not appear in baseball this season and that his purpose in coming to Chicago was to explain fully his attitude to Frank Farrell, who wants the former leader of the Chicago Nationals to manage the New York club of the American league.

Interviewed On Train

CHICAGO, Jan. 7.—Frank Farrell, owner of the New York American league club and Frank Chance, former manager of the Chicago Nationals, were expected to engage in a conference here today which would terminate in the former National league star becoming the manager of Farrell's team.

Farrell announced on leaving New York that he expected little trouble in inducing Chance to attach his name to a contract.

The amount for which Chance would go to the New York club has been variously estimated at from $10,000 to $20,000 a year with a percentage of the receipts.

The interview is claimed to have been obtained on the train which is bringing Chance to Chicago. The train was due here at 10.45, but was reported several hours late.

According to the story, Chance wishes to stay out of baseball for a year to care for his orange ranch about which he is very enthusiastic.

A LITTLE NONSENSE

CAPT. WM. F. NORTON

Of Volunteer Life Savers in Town

Captain William F. Norton of the Volunteer Life Savers of the New England coast is calling upon the business men of Lowell for the purpose of soliciting contributions to establish a fund for the continued and extended operation of the life saving system.

Captain Norton has been in the service for the past seven years. During five years he was stationed at Salisbury beach and at the end of that time was made a captain of the land department, that is of the stations which are located on the shore. His duties in this office require him to patrol the coast in a patrol boat and this he has done for the past two years.

This morning Captain Norton called at The Sun office and told a reporter an interesting story of the work of the Volunteer Life Savers of the New England coast. During the past six years, he said, they have saved 42 lives and this itself is sufficient inducement for its continued activity and growth.

The system extends from Gloucester to Portland harbor, Maine, and the officers are now making preparations for the season of 1913. At all the beach resorts the Volunteer corps has established stations and crews and these have accomplished a great deal of good. The corps has gone to the assistance of more than thirty power boats which were in distress off the coast and in each case they were found to have from three to eight persons aboard, all in danger of death.

The men in all the stations are exceedingly well trained for the work and only the most capable are taken. That there is a need for stations of this kind all along the coast is evident from their achievements in saving lives along the entire territory. In order to increase as it should, said Captain Norton, the corps must have more funds for the purchasing of the necessary equipment such as coats, life belts, boats, etc.

Captain Norton is the possessor of several beautiful medals which he has received from different humane societies for his activity in life saving. He is exceedingly well known along the coast and enjoys great popularity among the men in the service. In his duties he is intimately associated with Captain George Hill of the Patrol boat on which Capt. Norton is located. On the same boat are Howard F. Wentworth, engineer, William Donahue, James Sheehan, who is a well known swimmer and who has received numerous medals for his aquatic performances, William A. Fellows and John Harris.

Captain Norton expressed his inten-

Breeders Make Nominations

NEW YORK, Jan. 7.—Notwithstanding the suspension of horse-racing in many sections of the country and the fact that no futurity has been run in New York state since 1910, horsebreeders continue the nominations for future events. Those for the futurity of 1915 made public today reached the large total of 1907 or 116 more than for the preceding year, an increase of 30 per cent. Seventy-one different breeders made nominations although there has been no definite assurance that the race will ever be run. The large entry, however, was taken to indicate the hopefulness among breeders that the cloud over racing might be lifted by 1915. John E. Madden is the most extensive nominator for the event, having named 106 mares, many in foal to Ogden.

ALL YOU NEED IS A CASCARET TONIGHT.

NO HEADACHE, SOUR STOMACH BILIOUSNESS OR CONSTIPATION BY MORNING

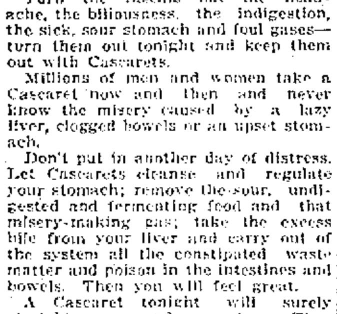

Turn the rascals out—the headache, the biliousness, the indigestion, the sick, sour stomach and foul gases—turn them out tonight and keep them out with Cascarets.

Millions of men and women take a Cascaret now and then and never know the misery caused by a lazy liver, clogged bowels or an upset stomach.

Don't put in another day of distress. Let Cascarets cleanse and regulate your stomach; remove the sour, undigested and fermenting food and that misery-making gas; take the excess bile from your liver and carry out of the system all the constipated waste matter and poison in the intestines and bowels. Then you will feel great.

A Cascaret tonight will surely straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep. A 10-cent box from any drug store means a clear head, sweet stomach and clean, healthy liver and bowel action for months. Children love to take Cascarets because they taste good—never gripe or sicken.

THE CEMETERY RECEIPTS

Should Go to Cemeteries Says Ald. Cummings

Relative to the bill which will be presented at the legislature, providing that the receipts for public cemeteries in Lowell shall be devoted to paying the expenses of the cemeteries and for no other purpose, Commissioner Cummings has sent the following letter to each local member of the legislature:

January 1, 1913.

To Members of the Legislature from Lowell and Neighboring Towns:

Gentlemen:

In the legislature of this year there will be a bill introduced providing that the receipts for public cemeteries in Lowell shall be devoted to paying the expenses of the cemeteries and for no other purpose.

As a sample, the receipts for public cemeteries of Lowell in 1912 were $10,637. The appropriation for cemeteries in the same year was $6,000. The balance was used for general purposes of the city.

With a year's experience as a commissioner of public cemeteries I do not believe any appropriation should be made by the municipal council for public cemeteries of Lowell. In place of it the receipts for cemeteries should be used in caring for cemeteries. The receipts of the water works of Lowell are devoted to the water department.

If this meets your approval I will be obliged if you will favor it. I will be pleased to answer any inquiries regarding it.

Sincerely yours,
Commissioner of Public Cemeteries of Lowell.

VISITED MILLIONAIRES

Suffragettes Called at Fifth Ave. Residences

NEW YORK, Jan. 7.—The personal visit campaign of 50 young and pretty women suffrage workers was directed at millionaires' row on Fifth avenue for its first trial last night with varying success. Thirty of the suffragettes reported disappointment today because they could not find their quarry at home.

Andrew Carnegie sent word to two young women who visited his home that he was a "strong anti" but not strong enough to invite the visitors to a personal interview. They thrust a large amount of literature into the hands of the butler, suggesting that both he and Andy peruse it carefully.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Borden Harriman, Mrs. John Jacob Astor and a number of other wealthy people were reported "out" but in each instance plenty of literature was left.

ROWING REGATTA

Intercollegiate Event Will Be Held at Poughkeepsie on June 21, Day After Harvard-Yale Race at New London

NEW YORK, Jan. 7.—The Intercollegiate rowing regatta held annually on the Hudson at Poughkeepsie will be held this year only a day after the Yale-Harvard race at New London, according to announcement of dates made today. The date has been set for June 21, nearly a week earlier than usual because tidal conditions in the Hudson are deemed unsatisfactory later in the month.

The stewards of the association also have set dates for next year when the regatta will be held June 26 and for 1915, when it will be rowed on June 28. The advisability of sustaining a race of junior eight-oared crews for the varsity four-oared race which has been a part of the regatta since 1899 is to be considered at a meeting of the stewards here shortly. Although the four-oared race has been one of the most picturesque contests the argument in favor of a junior eight-oared event is that it will give more men an opportunity to row in the regatta and there would necessarily be a better incentive for more candidates to train.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—Women from all over the United States gathered here today for the first annual convention of the Women's National Democratic league which will remain in session three days. Mrs. Crosby was prepared to make a response and Mrs. Matthew Scott, president general of the Daughters of the American Revolution, was ready with an address of welcome. Business of the convention then was taken up.

ALGY, THE COP

STUBBORN HUSBAND YIELDS

Agreed to Support Family When Judge Enright Imposed Stiff Sentence to Jail

Michael Economakos, a man devoid of principle with no respect for the court and no regard for his wife and five children who are starving, was the most stubborn man that Judge Enright has had to deal with since he took his place on the bench of the local police court. Economakos has been gambling his wages away and leaving his family in want and it was only recently that the case was brought to the attention of Agent Richardson of the Lowell Humane society and after an investigation had been made, a warrant for neglect was sworn out and served on Economakos. Judge Enright endeavored to reason with the man but the latter was stubborn and said he would prefer to go to jail than turn his earnings over to the probation officer but when the court took the man at his word and sentenced him to five months in jail Economakos came to time and agreed to abide by the original order of the court.

Agent Richardson testified that as a result of information received he paid a visit to the house in the rear of 585 Market street and found the house in a filthy condition. There was nothing to eat and the wife and five children had very little clothing. He said the six-months-old-baby had nothing on but a print dress, the five year-old child had neither shoes nor stockings and one child about seven years of age was in about the same condition.

Nicholas Spyropoulos said he knew the defendant to be a gambler who spent his weekly wages playing cards. Another witness said he had seen the defendant's children barefooted on the streets when there was snow on the ground.

Economakos said he received $8 a week and claimed to provide for his family. Judge Enright ordered the man to turn his pay over to Probation Officer Slattery every week and the latter would see that the family was provided for but the defendant refused to do this.

"What is going to happen to your family?" asked the court.

"I don't care," answered the defendant through an interpreter.

"Here is a man who absolutely refuses to turn money over to a person who will give it to his wife. The only question in my mind is what will become of the family if he is sent away?"

The court then sentenced Economakos to five months in jail and the latter went down stairs but a few minutes later word came back that he would abide by the order of the court if given a chance to do so and Economakos was then ordered to turn his wages over to Mr. Slattery every week.

Sent to House of Correction

Michael J. Connors charged with drunkenness and the larceny of wearing apparel, amounting to $20.35, the property of A. K. Barain, pleaded guilty to both complaints. Patrolman Abbott testified to having been notified of the theft and with the assistance of one of the residents of the Syrian colony, located Connors. Connors is well known to the police, having been before the court on 25 different occasions. He was found guilty on both charges and sentenced to three months in the house of correction for drunkenness and four months in the same institution for larceny.

Larceny Case Resumed

The case of George and Theodorus Giatas, charged with the larceny of $470 from Xanthe Coulitsas, was resumed this morning at the conclusion of the routine business. According to the complaint Xanthe was left in the care of the defendants when her brother went back to Greece. The girl worked in the Boott mill every day and did housework for the brothers at night, and it is alleged that she turned the greater portion of her wages over to the Giatas brothers. A short time ago she got married and when she asked the defendants for the money which she had given them they told her that her brother owed them a big bill and that she had got her board and room from them and there was nothing more coming to her. She reported the matter to a local lawyer and warrants were issued for the arrest of George and Theodorus Giatas.

Raised a Disturbance

Frank Litoski went on the rampage Saturday night and while in an intoxicated condition entered a house in Wall street and refused to leave when ordered to do so. Patrolmen Molony and John J. Sullivan were called and they placed Litoski under arrest. He was charged with drunkenness in court yesterday morning, but pleaded not guilty and the case was continued until this morning. The court, after hearing the testimony of the officers ordered the defendant to pay a fine of $5.

Other Offenders

Fannie Barnes, who was arrested for drunkenness on Nov. 23 and who has been at the City hospital since that time, was brought into this court and placed in the custody of the probation officer for a term of six months.

Mateos Zuposka was fined $6 and two simple drunks were released.

Case Continued

The case of John Doros charged with concealing a watch valued at $65 was continued until tomorrow at the request of the government.

Will Not Indorse Any Candidates

BOSTON, Jan. 7.—It was decided by the democratic city committee at its meeting last evening not to indorse any of the candidates for the city council to be voted on at the coming city election.

Arrangements were made at the meeting for a number of rallies in the various sections of this city from now until election day. It was suggested that the three municipal league candidates be invited to speak at these meetings. This was objected to and it was finally left to the ward chairmen in the wards where the rallies are to be held to decide whether the municipal leaguers should be invited to some of the democratic meetings or not.

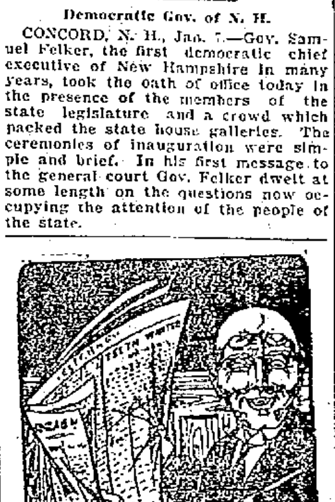

Democratic Gov. of N. H.

CONCORD, N. H., Jan. 7.—Gov. Samuel Felker, the first democratic chief executive of New Hampshire in many years, took the oath of office today in the presence of the members of the state legislature and a crowd which packed the state house galleries. The ceremonies of inauguration were simple and brief. In his first message to the general court Gov. Felker dwelt at some length on the questions now occupying the attention of the people of the state.

MANY MANUFACTURERS

Present at Hearing on Chemical Schedule

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—Manufacturing interests all over the country were represented today at the second hearing on the chemical schedule before the house ways and means committee. The hearings are to continue until January 31 and the tariff schedules will be taken up in sequence. The committee is keeping the witnesses as closely as possible to their allotted time, allowing each a 15 minute headway for interrupted arguments followed by a more or less close examination by the committee. Failure of a witness to appear at the appointed time forfeits the right to speak and no one is permitted to file a supplemental brief. The plan of Chairman Underwood is to get through with the hearings as expeditiously as is consistent with the policy of allowing all interests an opportunity to present views.

The first witness today was Theodore Ricksecker of New York who voiced the opposition of the Manufacturing Perfumers association to the transfer of distilled and essential oils used in perfumery preparation from the free list to a 20 per cent. advalorem duty. He said he regarded it as a mistaken notion that perfumery was a luxury and that he has known of working girls who spent much of their week's wages for it.

Mr. Ricksecker made a plea that "we are all entitled to a slice of happiness" and that perfumery was virtually a necessity for servant girls as well as a necessity for womankind generally.

The manufacture of dry colors in the United States was taken up by A. S. Somers of New York as a witness. He asked for an equalization of the tariff reductions of coal tar dyes and on dry colors. Mr. Somers said he was not in sympathy with the idea of a tax on raw materials which enter into manufacture.

"This is no pipe dream," he said, "if you put paris green on the free list you will wipe out every paris green factory in the United States. Canada has a 10 per cent duty shutting out our manufactures and without protection the Canadians would drive us out of business."

"The general opinion is that you're robber barons," suggested Rep. Hall of Connecticut, smilingly.

"I don't see why. There is the greatest competition in the paris green business."

P. H. Callahan of Louisville, Ky., speaking for the National Varnish association, said the varnish industry could not stand a free trade basis. He declared he asked for protection and protested that removing the duty on sugar and putting a tax on non-competitive varnish raw materials would "not improve the situation at all."

Gov. Pothier Inaugurated

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Jan. 7.—Governor Pothier, the other general officers of the state and the legislature were inaugurated today for the first time under the new biennial election law. It was the fifth consecutive time Governor Pothier took the oath of office as the state's chief executive, and the other general officers, with the exception of Lieut. Gov. Roswell B. Burchard of Little Compton, succeeded themselves. Despite the fact that there will be no inauguration next year there were no changes in the ceremonies which have always characterized the occasion. As each official was sworn in a deputy sheriff from the balcony of the state house "proclaimed to the multitude assembled" as provided in the constitution. At the announcement of the governor's inauguration a salute of 17 guns was fired.

All the general officers are republicans, and there is a republican majority in both branches of the legislature.

Navigation Impeded

BOSTON, Jan. 7.—Navigation in the harbor was impeded today by a thick fog which settled over the city and suburbs. The mist and heavy clouds made the morning so dark that nearly all business houses in Boston found it necessary to use artificial lights. The temperature, which rose to 62 degrees last night, stood at 50 at 10 a. m.

DR. LAMBERT ELECTED CHAIRMAN

Of School Board---New Members Inducted Into Office

The school board of 1913 made its debut in the beautifully redecorated rooms of the department at City Hall this afternoon.

The meeting was called for two o'clock but—boards may come and boards may go, but the inevitable conference behind the closed doors of the superintendent's office, goes on forever, and while all of the members were on hand betimes, which in this case means before 2 o'clock, they did not get together for their meeting until 2.20 o'clock.

Since the last meeting the interior of the school board room has been pleasingly renovated. Painted walls have replaced the old kalsomined walls while the decorations are in lighter colors and new lights have been installed, giving the room a more cheerful aspect.

The audience consisted of Mr. Crayen Midgeley and Franklin Thompson, former members of the board, City Messenger Monahan and one or two others.

DR. LAMBERT, Chairman.

Dr. Lambert Chairman

At the opening of the meeting called by Chairman John C. Farrington, City Clerk Flynn swore in the three new members.

Chairman Farrington then uttered the fateful words: "We will now proceed to ballot for a chairman."

The ballots were taken and Dr. Bagley started the balloting with a vote for Perry D. Thompson. Abel Campbell followed with a vote for Dr. Lambert. The latter took no chances and voted for himself. Perry D. Thompson voted for Dr. Lambert, giving him the necessary three votes. Mr. Farrington voted for Mr. Thompson. Dr. Bagley and Mr. Thompson officiated as a committee to escort the newly elected chairman to the presiding officer's desk and Mr. Williams of the school supply department immediately stepped forth with a huge bouquet for the new chairman.

Chairman Lambert spoke briefly, thanking his colleagues for the honor which he said was "thrust upon him." He then said: "I ask the co-operation of all the members at all times and I hope that we will always remember that we are public servants of all the people of Lowell."

Supt. Molloy then read the records of the last meeting.

The resignation of Perry D. Thompson as principal of the Colburn evening school was presented by Mr. Farrington and on the latter's motion a vote of thanks was accorded Mr. Thompson for his long and faithful service.

Two-Thirds of Five

At this point the board became involved over a question of arithmetic which, after a long discussion was left to the city solicitor to iron out.

Mr. Campbell stating that as it was the spirit of the charter to have open meetings he moved that the rules of last year be changed where they called for executive sessions upon a majority vote and moved that the particular rule be amended so as to read that all meetings be open.

Mr. Farrington opposed the motion, stating that the city solicitor had been asked to give an opinion on the matter and that the board should defer action until he had rendered such opinion.

Upon being asked, Supt. Molloy stated that he asked the city solicitor for an opinion three weeks ago.

Mr. Campbell stated that ample time had been given and he therefore would favor the motion.

Dr. Bagley offered an amendment that action be deferred until the solicitor had been heard from. Mr. Campbell asked if the solicitor could be reached forthwith but it was learned that official was in Boston.

Dr. Bagley's motion was put and defeated. Then the original motion was put and declared carried by a vote of three to two.

Mr. Farrington was on his feet in an instant calling the attention of the chairman to the fact that present rules state that it requires a two-thirds vote to change or amend the rules and that three was not two-thirds of five.

Dr. Lambert held a whispered conference with Supt. Molloy on this unexpected arithmetical problem and then said that it was true that the board was working under the rules of 1912 and that they required a two-thirds vote. He said he questioned whether legally the board of 1912 could tie up the acts of the board of 1913. He thought that either the board would have to abide by the rule as it stands or else make a motion abolishing it, on the ground that it was tieing up action.

Mr. Campbell made a motion that the city solicitor be instructed to give an opinion as to what constitutes two-thirds of five. (Applause from Mr. Johnson in the spectators' seats.)

Dr. Lambert then stated that until he had heard from the city solicitor he would rule that a majority vote was two-thirds and he declared the original motion.

Then Mr. Farrington gave notice of reconsideration at the next meeting and the matter is just where it started.

The Dental Clinic

Mr. Thompson then moved that a committee be appointed to confer with the Lowell Dental society regarding the opening of a dental clinic in as much as the city had purchased the equipment.

Dr. Bagley gave a lengthy review of the work of last year's committee on the matter. He stated that at the outset the members of the Dental society were very enthusiastic over the project. They talked the matter over with the members of the board and the board voted $900 for the clinic.

Dr. Lambert who was chairman of the 1911 dental clinic committee said that his committee had turned the matter over to the 1912 committee and that a year had gone by with nothing to show for it. He thought it about time to make a move.

Dr. Bagley objected to the chairman's statement that there was nothing to show after a year and stated that the school board had been waiting on the Dental society all year.

Mr. Thompson thought that the board would have to depend upon the society in opening the clinic and for that matter believed it proper to confer with them. Dr. Bagley replied that it could be maintained by regular practitioners outside of the society who were willing to take it up and that he had deferred action in opening it simply out of courtesy to the society.

"I don't believe in going to the dental society again for I believe there is a nigger in the wood-pile," exclaimed Dr. Bagley as he resumed his seat.

"Then I suggest that the board find the nigger," said Dr. Lambert. "Personally, I believe I know what the nigger is," returned Dr. Bagley.

At the time of going to press the board was in a red hot discussion on Mr. Campbell's motion to abolish the positon of measurer of schools.

ALD. BROWN CHARGES ALD. DONNELLY WITH ILLEGAL ACTION

Mr. Donnelly Discharges Most of the Men Put to Work in the Street Department Yesterday

It would seem that the year 1913 promises to be one of turmoil at city hall if we are to judge of the proceedings this morning. In the first place Commissioner Brown raised a howl over what he termed an illegal action on the part of Mr. Donnelly in making out a voucher in advance of payment. Next Mr. Donnelly, as head of the street department, ordered Supt. Putnam to discharge as many of the men put to work by Alderman Brown as were not needed. As a result 100 were dropped. It is alleged also that Alderman Donnelly will revoke the increase of wages ordered by Alderman Brown when he found he was to be transferred from the department.

The Performance

There was something doing in the commissioner of finance's office at city hall for some time, when a sort of conference, if one would call it that, was held between Commissioner Brown of the finance department, Commissioner Cummings of the lands and buildings department and City Solicitor J. Joseph Hennessy, while Messrs. Elie Laporte and Arthur Cummiskey, the latter agent for the Studebaker automobiles, were present and listened attentively to the performance.

During certain moments the voice of the commissioner of finance pierced the walls of his office and could be heard in the hallway. There was a racket in the office for some time, all men talking together, and finally the city solicitor and the commissioner of public buildings walked out and returned to their respective offices.

The entire fuss came over what Commissioner Brown called an illegal act on the part of the former commissioner of finance, James E. Donnelly, but which he admitted was not criminal. It was relative to the purchase of the Studebaker automobile for the lands and buildings department. The said machine was to be delivered before the end of the year according to the requisition, but arrived yesterday morning. On Dec. 31 Commissioner Donnelly, at that time at the head of the department of finance, issued a voucher to the treasurer for the payment of the said machine to the amount of $1220 on delivery, but however, the auto was not paid for and at the present time the salesman is still waiting for his pay. However, Commissioner Brown claims the act was illegal and, therefore, the fuss. This morning he summoned the city solicitor, the commissioner of public buildings and Mr. Cummiskey to his office and the matter was thrashed out, but despite the fact that each one present endeavored to explain, Mr. Brown would not listen and shouted at the top of his voice that the act was illegal. He further stated that there is no bill for the machine in the lands and building office, but as a matter of fact the requisition is on file in the said office, and reads as follows:

Dec. 14, 1912.

Requisition:

One automobile to meet with approval of inspector of buildings and commissioner of public property, to be paid for from 1912 regular appropriation and to cost approximately $1200.

When wanted: Before the end of the year.

Where to be delivered: Inspector of public buildings department.

Signed, Francis A. Connor,
Approved, Lawrence Cummings,
Alderman.

Commissioner Cummings when asked about the voucher said that the machine was not to be paid for until delivered, and the delay was made until he had found out if he had money to pay for it. He also stated that the automobile will not be paid for until Jan. 15.

Mr. Brown argued that the illegal act was the fact that the commissioner of finance issued the voucher without the consent of the members of the municipal council, but it was said this morning that the matter was settled at a recent meeting.

100 Street Employes Discharged

By order of Street Commissioner Donnelly over 100 men were laid off on the street department this morning, and thereby hangs a tale.

Although the municipal council passed a vote on Saturday changing the designation of Commissioners Brown and Donnelly, Commissioner Brown went to the city stables yesterday morning and put to work over 200 men, in fact, nearly everyone who showed up at the barn was given employment. It was common talk at the barn at the time that Commissioner Donnelly would put them all out the following day, but they reckoned that one day was better than nothing.

Commissioner Brown made a speech to the employes, expressing confidence that he would be back with them again and telling them what sacrifices he had made in their behalf.

During the day the employes received somewhat of a shock when it became noised about that they might not get their pay for the time given to the department under this special order from Mr. Brown.

Commissioner Donnelly, who is not such an early riser as his predecessor in the department, did not put in an appearance at the stable, but Supt. Putnam was there and he laid off all but the necessary complement.

While a question of legality is involved in the employment of the men who worked yesterday, Commissioner Donnelly will not take any action in the matter, but will allow the men their day's pay, inasmuch as it was no fault of theirs that they were illegally employed if such is the case.

Wages Raised

While the payrolls of the different departments usually go to the auditor the first or second day of the week before leaving the street department, on Saturday last, Commissioner Brown had the payroll made out for that week and after approving it sent it to the auditor. Commissioner Brown raised wages of bosses and teamsters as well as laborers, 25 cents per day. This raise if allowed to go for the year will mean an additional expense to the street department for labor of about $40,000. Commissioner Donnelly will not interfere with the payroll as sent in, but will immediately order all wages back to the original amounts until such time as he can readjust them himself. He realizes that this action of his predecessor as well as the employment of a lot of men who were not needed, was meant to embarrass him.

It is reported that five persons are killed. One body has been taken out of the wreck, that of W. P. Felt, a traveling salesman of Rochester, N. Y. Forty persons are reported to be seriously injured. Wrecking trains conveying every available physician have been despatched from here to the scene of the wreck. The train left the rails on a sharp curve, four cars completely turning over. The train was running at high rate of speed.

A BIG FIRE IN BALLARDVALE

Horses and Cattle Were Burned Alive—Barn Gutted and 100 Tons of Hay Destroyed

A very dangerous blaze broke out in George P. Pillsbury's barn in Ballardvale this morning and before it was extinguished it caused considerable damage. One hundred tons of hay were burned and two horses as well as seven cattle lost their lives. Fortunately the adjoining house was saved.

The blaze started by the explosion of a lantern in the barn and when it was discovered the Ballardvale Engine Co. was summoned, but when the apparatus arrived on the scene of the fire the blaze had made such headway that it was seen at the outstart that it would be impossible to save the barn or its contents, and therefore the firemen directed their efforts to save the residence of Mr. Pillsbury, which they succeeded in doing.

A young boy whose name could not be learned entered the barn after the fire got started, in an atttempt to save the cattle, but the flames were making such a speedy headway that he was forced to make his exit by jumping from the hay loft into the yard and in so doing received slight injuries about the legs. The barn was completely gutted, while two horses and seven cattle were burned alive.

NO SURRENDER OE ADRIANOPLE

Say Turkish Delegates—Claim That If Fortress Falls It Will Be Because of Famine

LONDON, Jan. 7.—"No surrender of Adrianople," remains the watchword of Rechard Pasha and his colleagues of the Turkish peace delegation.

"If Adrianople should fall," said Rechard Pasha, "it will be owing to famine and only owing to famine. The Bulgarians will not therefore be able to attribute the fall of the fortress to a feat of arms. As to the further sittings of the conference I can only say that the allies themselves suspended it."

Rechard Pasha went on to say that the question of further negotiations was now in the hands of the Turkish government.

Sir Edward Grey, the British foreign minister, when asked in the house of commons this afternoon whether the powers had agreed on the joint proceedings to be pursued in the event of the peace conference failing to reach an agreement, replied: "The subject is in course of receiving the attention of the powers, but I cannot make any public statement as to their views or decisions, except such as may be made by common consent."

Threats of Reopening Hostilities

LONDON, Jan. 7.—There is practically no disposition in London to doubt that as soon as the delegates of Bulgaria, Greece, Montenegro and Servia have done celebrating the Orthodox Christmas holiday the peace conference will be resumed.

There is deep seated reluctance among all parties against the reopening of hostilities, although threats of such an eventuality are still uttered in some quarters.

At the same time the representatives of the European powers are busily occupied in offering friendly advice to the various antagonists and in case this should prove insufficient the ambassadors are seeking for the best method of intervening to bring about a settlement of the crucial questions of the future ownership of Adrianapole and the islands in the Aegean sea. Speculation concerning the method of providing an issue from the present deadlock are rife. It is asserted that Rechad Pasha, the principal Turkish delegate, has telegraphed to Constantinople, asking to be authorized to reconvoke the conference in order that he may make some explanations which he was prevented from giving yesterday owing to the brusque suspension of the session. At the next meeting it is his turn to preside, according to the alphabetical arrangement adopted by the conference.

Gen. Savoff and Cannon

Much is hoped for from the action of the European powers especially since Russia, having given way on the question of the Servian port on the Adriatic sea is displaying more active desire to induce Austria-Hungary to come to the terms of the allies on the question of the Albanian frontiers. It is believed that the greatest effort of the powers will be exercised at Constantinople through the collective pressure brought to bear by the ambassadors on the Turkish government. If weeks elapse, however, without a decision being reached which will insure to the allies the possession of the fortress of Adrianople, according to one of the Bulgarian delegation, "it will be Gen. Savoff and his cannon who will speak."

Premier Venizelos of Greece said today:

"We have the conscientiousness that we did all in our power in the interest of Turkey who only by ceding all the islands in the Aegean sea as well as the fortress of Adrianople can insure a real and lasting peace. Peace without these concessions would be only ephemeral."

Exchange Greetings

There were many exchanges of Christmas greetings this morning among the allied delegates, all of whom attended church services except Count Voynovitch, the Montenegrin, who is a Catholic. The Greek delegates went to the Greek church, while the Bulgarians, Servians and Montenegrins went to the Russian church, explaining that this was done simply because they do not understand Greek.

W. J. Barry Shoe Company to Start Business in the Old Whittier Mill on Stackpole Street

PLANT OF THE W. J. BARRY SHOE FACTORY.

The W. J. Barry Shoe Co. of Salem, as already announced by The Sun, is to locate in the plant of the Lowell Shoe company in the old Whittier mill in Stackpole street. It has purchased the equipment and established a plant which bids fair to grow rapidly and add to the already large number of shoe manufactories of which the city can proudly boast at the present time.

The new company is already operating the plant and the output of shoes is about 1200 pairs a day but it is expected that within a short time more than twice that number will be turned out daily.

The W. J. Barry Shoe Co. has been in business in Salem for about four years and still runs its plant in that city. William J. Barry is the treasurer, Timothy J. Griffin is president, and James M. White is secretary. Messrs. Griffin and White are working with the new plant in this city and all are experienced shoe manufacturers. Mr. White is superintendent, Mr. Griffin attends to the office work, and Mr. Barry is the buyer and seller. The company sells most of its shoes to western firms but will extend its field of operations after it gets well started in this city.

THE SAILORS MUST BUY

Navy Will Not Stand for Expense

BOSTON, Jan. 7.—Hereafter the bluejackets of the navy will have to uniform and equip their athletic teams at their own expense, as requisitions for athletic gear and supplies will no longer be honored by the pay officers at the various navy yards and aboard the ships in the fleets.

An order issued in February, 1909, made it possible for the enlisted men to secure such athletic supplies as they needed by applying in writing to the pay officers and general store keepers. This order has been revoked by the secretary of the navy.

The order does not go into effect until the present supply of athletic gear is disposed of. As the supply of jerseys and other equipment is pretty near exhausted the sailors will soon have to save up to purchase their own baseball uniforms and equipment.

BURN FRIGATE WABASH

Purchasers Seek Metal in Her Hull

BOSTON, Jan. 7.—The famous old United States frigate Wabash, which has been a familiar figure at the local navy yard for many years, will shortly leave here for Baltimore, where she will meet the same fate that has befallen others of the old naval craft—destruction by fire.

When the Wabash was stricken off the naval list some months ago it was believed that some historical society would purchase her on account of the association connected with her name, but none did.

A Baltimore concern bid her in and they will burn her to get the valuable metal contained in her hull. The price paid for the frigate was $22,655. The copper in the hull is believed to contain a percentage of gold and silver, so the purchasers feel that they got a bargain.

Since 1875 the Wabash has been at the Boston yard, serving as a receiving ship and in that time accommodated more than 250,000 apprentices. During the Civil war she took part in several important engagements and was in Hampton roads when the Monitor and Merrimack fought the famous battle. At the close of the war she went on a cruise to Europe and became flagship of the American squadron in European waters. She returned to Boston and has remained since.

A SOUR, GASSY, UPSET STOMACH.

"Pape's Diapepsin" Regulates Your Stomach and Ends Indigestion in Five Minutes

Wonder what upset your stomach—which portion of the food did the damage—do you? We don't bother. If your stomach is in a revolt; if sour, gassy and upset, and what you just ate has fermented into stubborn lumps; your head aches; belch acids and eructate undigested food, breath foul, tongue coated, just take a little Pape's Diapepsin and in five minutes you truly will wonder what became of the indigestion and distress.

Millions of men and women today know that it is no use to have a bad stomach. A few Diapepsin occasionally keeps the whole digestive system regulated and they eat their favorite foods without fear.

If your stomach doesn't take care of your meals first without rebellion; if your food is a damage instead of a help, remember the quickest, surest, most harmless relief in Pape's Diapepsin which costs only fifty cents for a large case at any store. It's truly wonderful—it digests food and sets things right, so quickly and surely that it is really astonishing. Please, for your sake, don't go on and on with a weak, disordered stomach; it's so unnecessary.

FRESNO DAN REAL HEIR

Says Woman Witness in Russell Case

BOSTON, Jan. 7.—"Positive" identification of "Fresno Dan" as the real Daniel Blake Russell and the repudiation of "Dakota Dan" was made by Mrs. Ada B. Skinner of Proctorsville, Vt., a witness for the Russell estate at the identity hearing at the East Cambridge court house yesterday before Master G. A. A. Pevey.

Mrs. Skinner, who is a daughter-in-law of the Rev. Charles A. Skinner, a former pastor of the Fourth Universalist church in Melrose, where the Russell family attended and was an intimate friend of the family, admitted on the cross-examination of Attorney Scharton, that she had seen Fresno Dan for the first time two weeks ago, although she had readily identified him from a picture she saw in a Boston newspaper early last July and that it was his mannerisms and his relating to her incidents of his early life in Melrose and his strong resemblance to his mother that had convinced her that he was the missing heir.

After the adjournment of the morning session yesterday several women spectators who have been in constant attendance at the trials for the past three years, engaged in a heated discussion in the corridors.

Some of the women are adherents of Fresno Dan, and others maintain their confidence in Dakota Dan. The quarrel of the spectators, which was of a wordy nature, lasted only a few minutes but it was called to the attention of Master Pevey.

At the opening of the afternoon session Master Pevey announced that any expressions of the spectators to the testimony of witnesses for either side, such as nodding of heads or making grimaces, would be dealt with severely by the court.

HOSPITAL OVERCROWDED

Boston Institution May Refuse Patients

BOSTON, Jan. 7.—Boston's City hospital may have to turn patients away, as the result of the failure of the city council to provide the necessary money for an extension of the contagious department.

In a letter which the mayor received yesterday and forwarded to the city council the hospital trustees stated that the hospital is already overcrowded.

Need More Air Space

The trustees in their letter stated that owing to the crowded conditions of the hospital at present, the patients suffering from contagious diseases have not half enough air space.

They said further that in the near future it will be necessary to refuse patients suffering from scarlet fever and diphtheria admission to the hospital. Such patients, the trustees stated, will have to be sent to the hospitals of nearby cities and towns, and the city will have to pay $10 a week for each patient sent them.

In a statement the mayor said that he has repeatedly tried to induce the council to pass a loan order of $297,000 for the extension.

He put the responsibility up to Councillor Kenny, who is the chairman of the city council committee on finance, which has the loan order before it.

Kenny Says City Is Protected

Councillor Kenny said yesterday that the city has the land upon which to build an extension for a contagious diseases department of the City hospital, and that the city is thus protected upon this score. The property in question is rented and pays the city well, he said.

He declared that in the Massachusetts Homoeopathic hospital in Allston there are 250 beds which may be used by the city. Then the two Brigham hospitals are being built and will take care of a great many patients, he said.

Councillor Kenny declared that he believes that there is no urgent need of the immediate building of an addition to the hospital, and that this matter will be taken up by the council in due time.

From Superior Court

In the suit of Johnson & Company vs. John F. Lazarakis, which was tried before Judge McLaughlin in the superior court last December, the court has made a finding in the sum of $500.-45 for the plaintiff. This was an action for breach of contract. The plaintiff alleged the defendant bonded himself to manufacture all his cigarets on a certain patent machine owned by the plaintiff.

DECISION IN HORSFALL CASE

Supreme Court Sustains Exceptions on Two Counts, But on One Verdict is Upheld

BOSTON, Jan. 7.—An important decision in an automobile case was handed down by the full bench of the supreme court yesterday, in the matter of the indictment against James H. Horsfall, who ran down a Mrs. Kittredge, aged 74 while driving an automobile on the state road between Tewksbury and Woburn, causing her death.

He was charged in one count with recklessly operating an automobile, and his conviction on that count is sustained by the appellate court. In a second count he was charged with operating the machine while under the influence of liquor, but he was acquitted by a jury at the trial. In a third count he was charged with knowingly going away while operating the machine without stopping and making himself known after causing injury to a person, and a fourth count charged him with similar conduct after causing injury to property.

Law Not Correctly Stated

His exceptions as to the third and fourth counts are upheld on the ground that the trial judge did not correctly state the law to the jury in his charge. The new trial of the case will be confined to the third and fourth counts, if the government wishes to further prosecute the case, in view of the conviction on one count being confirmed. The government may elect to have the defendant sentenced on the one count on which his conviction is upheld.

In regard to the reckless driving charge, the court holds that the requests for instructions made by the defendant were rightly refused, as the judge had explained the meaning of the words reckless driving.

Sent Man Back to Scene

"Upon the counts which charged that the defendant 'did knowingly go away without stopping and making himself known after causing the injury,' to person and property," the court says, "there was evidence tending to show that the defendant while waiting for a considerable time at his own automobile, which was disabled by the accident, sent a man named Brooks back to the place where the woman was injured and where the other automobile remained, with instructions to disclose his identity, and that Brooks, although going to the place, did not tell who the defendant was.

"Upon this aspect of the case the jury were instructed, in substance, that even though the defendant told Brooks to go back and tell his name and residence and relied on him to do it, and supposed he had done it, yet if Brooks failed to do as requested then the defendant had not complied with the statute.

"The question is as to the meaning of the statute. Its obvious purpose is to enable those in any way injured by the operation of an automobile upon a public way to obtain forthwith accurate information as to the person in charge of the automobile. It should be interpreted in such a way as to effectuate this end. Manifestly it imposes active and positive duties upon the operator of the automobile.

"It is not satisfied by stopping at some remote, obscure or inaccessible place, nor by mere passive willingness to answer inquiries. In unmistakable language it requires the tendering on the spot, and immediately, of explicit and definite information as to himself of a nature which will identify him readily, and make it simple and easy to find him thereafter.

Information Must Be Given

"While the statute does not state in terms to whom this information shall be given, its plain implication is that it must be furnished to those whose person or property has been injured, if reasonably possible, and if not, to someone in their interest, or to some public officer or other person at or near the place and time of injury. But the inhibited conduct consists in 'knowingly' going away without giving this information.

"There are many statutes which prohibit the performance of a certain act without regard to the intent of the actor or his knowledge that elements are present which constitute crime. It would have been simple for the legislature to have made the act of going away by the driver of an automobile without making himself known after injuring person or property a crime, and this would have been accomplished by omitting the word 'knowingly' from the statute.

"The insertion of this word cannot be treated as immaterial. It is a principle of statutory construction that all words found in the act shall be given effect, if possible. 'Knowingly' is a word frequently inserted in statutes creating crimes. In such connection it commonly imports a perception of the facts requisite to make up the crime.

"For one who operates an automobile 'knowingly' to go away without making himself known requires a consciousness not only of the fact that he is going away, but of the further fact that he has not made himself known. If in truth he has delegated the duty of revealing his identity to an agent and honestly and with good reason suppose that this delegated duty has been performed, he cannot be said 'knowingly' to have failed to do what the statute requires, even if the agent did not discharge his duty.

"If the transaction was genuine throughout, the driver of the automobile may thoroughly, though mistakenly, believe that the requirement of the law has been observed. The charge of the court did not state accurately the law upon this branch of the case and hence this exception must be sustained."

Verdict of Guilty Stands

"No error is disclosed as to the trial of the first count of the indictment. The verdict of guilty upon that count is to stand. The exception which is sustained relates only to the third and fourth counts, and the new trial must be confined to those counts to which no exception was taken. As bearing upon that charge, the court says the defendant's conduct after he saw the woman was by no means decisive, for his driving prior to that moment may have been such as to ignore the rights of other travelers, even if he did not see them. Antecedent conduct may be found to be reckless, even though all possible care may be exercised after the specific danger is actually discovered. Indeed, a person might be guilty of reckless driving, although no one was upon the street."

The accident happened Nov. 11, 1911, about 7.30 in the evening. Mrs. Kittredge was with her nephew, one Zepp, who was running a runabout. The car came to a stop, and he got out of it to adjust the cause of the trouble. His aunt also alighted and stood at the other side of the machine. The lights on both machines were burning and the horns were blown.

The defendant's machine struck Mrs. Kittredge and also damaged Zepp's car. He proceeded some distance, then turned sharply to the left, crossed the car tracks, went down over an embankment at the side of the road, breaking through a fence, and finally stopped in a ditch some distance from the fence.

The defendant remained around his machine about an hour and a half. He sent the man who was with him back to where Mrs. Kittredge lay to give the number of his machine. Mrs. Kittredge died next day.

SUICIDE BY WIFE'S BODY

Patrick McCormick of Rome, N. Y., Takes Poison Just Before Hour Set for Funeral

ROME, N. Y., Jan. 7.—Requesting those in the room to leave it, that he might be alone to pray with the body of his wife, who died on Saturday, Patrick McCormick stood beside the coffin a few minutes before the funeral services were to begin yesterday and swallowed poison. He was taken to a hospital where he soon died. McCormick was 25 years old.

NEVER TASTED LIQUOR

Man Arrested for Drunkenness, Died in Cell

DOCTOR SAYS DEATH WAS DUE TO CEREBRAL HEMORRHAGE

Investigation Into Arrest and Imprisonment Ordered by Police Commissioner O'Meara

BOSTON, Jan. 7.—If statements made by members of his family and the family physician are wholly correct, the police of the Lagrange street station made a serious blunder in confining Lewis G. Swett, who up to the time of his death last Thursday lived at 1077 Broadway, West Somerville, in a cell at the station house last Wednesday morning on a charge of drunkenness. His relatives and physician claim that Mr. Swett, who was wealthy and conducted a dry goods business in Somerville had never tasted liquor during his life.

The family doctor certified that death resulted from cerebral hemorrhage, and the death certificate signed by Medical Examiner Thomas M. Durrell of Somerville ascribed that ailment as the direct cause of death. Twenty-four hours before the time he died he was arrested and booked at the Lagrange street police station as being drunk.

Will Probe Death

Police Commissioner O'Meara has ordered that a rigid investigation be conducted into the arrest and imprisonment to determine whether any officer attached to the station was at fault. The investigation is secret, and until such time as the commissioner sees fit to publicly comment on the case none of the officers in any way concerned will talk of the matter.

In statements made last night, both Dr. Prior, the family physician, and Medical Examiner Durrell say that there was nothing to indicate that Mr. Swett had been mistreated. Earlier stories purporting to contain statements from the family of the dead merchant quoted them as saying that he had been abused.

POLICE END CAMPAIGN

Lynn Quartet Arrested in Hartford on Charges of Obtaining Money Under False Pretenses

HARTFORD, Conn., Jan. 7.—On charges of obtaining money under false pretenses, four young men who are said by the police to come from Lynn were placed under arrest here last night.

It is alleged the plan was to go into street cars, hand to each passenger an envelope containing several postcards and at the same time a card on which was printed the following:

"Kind reader, having tuberculosis, I am selling the enclosed postcards to enable me to reach a different climate. Good luck. Price, 10 cents."

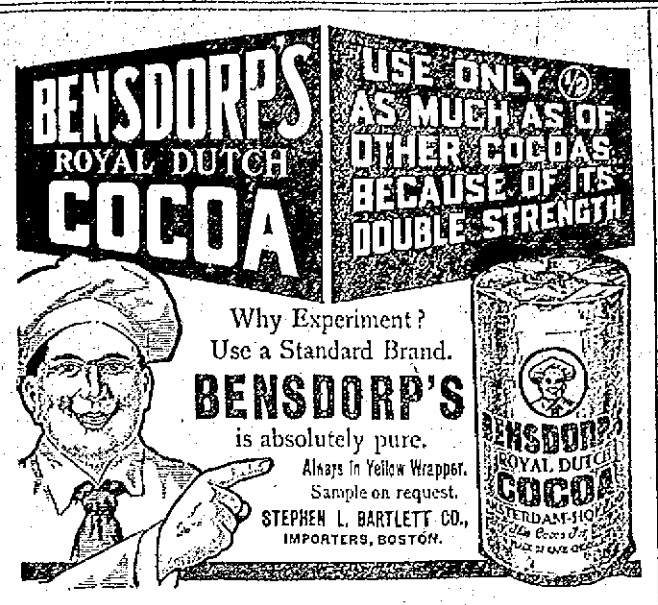

The police say that with the young men were two young women who visited hotels and offices. Both, it is claimed, pretended to be mutes.

The men arrested gave the names of John Wallace, James W. Barry, Charles Finley and James Dowd. Dowd and Finley were later released.

HURLED FROM ELECTRIC

Postman Probably Fatally Injured

SPRINGFIELD, Jan. 7.—Clayton J. Higgins of 29 Terrence street, a letter carrier, was probably fatally injured yesterday afternoon when he was thrown from a car at the intersection of Hancock, Walnut, Ashley and Alden streets.

He was standing on the rear platform and as the car, which was going at a good rate of speed, struck the corner where the Hancock street line connects, the front truck shot up Walnut street and the rear truck split the switch and turned up Hancock street.

The sudden jar caused Higgins to lose his balance and he was thrown through the open doorway, the rear end of the car striking him as he fell, throwing him under the rear truck. The car was stopped and powerful jacks were used to raise the truck from the unconscious man's body.

An ambulance was summoned and the victim, attended by Dr. T. A. Maloney, was taken to the Hampden hospital. Examination disclosed a compound fracture of the right forearm, three fractured ribs on the right side, a fractured shoulder, fractured skull, head badly crushed and mutilated and serious internal injuries. It was found necessary to amputate his right arm below the elbow.

Higgins is in a critical condition and it is not believed that he will survive over 24 hours.

Radcliffe College Girl Robbed of Gems

BOSTON, Jan. 7.—Through the efforts of the Cambridge police to locate the thief the news leaked out yesterday that Miss Jennie Hughes, a student at Radcliffe college, had been robbed of jewelry valued at $75 on Friday night between 8.30 and 10 o'clock.

Miss Hughes had occasion to leave her room, which is on the second floor of Whitman hall, one of the college dormitories, and upon returning discovered the theft.

It is the opinion of the police that the work is that of a clever sneak thief who entered the room while in the building on business. Shortly before the theft was discovered, a man delivered a trunk on the same floor as Miss Hughes' room. It is said an arrest will be made shortly.

Miss Hughes, when seen yesterday, refused to talk about the matter.

The list of missing articles is as follows: Moonstone necklace, gold necklace, gold cross set with diamond, butterfly pendant, gold bracelet set with a brown stone, and a neck pin set with a turquoise.

The articles were in a pasteboard box, in the drawer of a dresser in Miss Hughes' room.

BOTH LEGS CUT OFF

Charles Fugere, 12-Year-Old Nashua Boy, Falls from Freight Car Beneath Wheels

NASHUA, Jan. 7.—Charles Fugere, aged 12, of 53 Chestnut street, had both legs cut off by a train yesterday afternoon. The accident occurred at 3.25 o'clock near the Ash street crossing of the Worcester, Nashua & Portland Division of the Boston & Maine railroad.

Young Fugere was riding on the roof of a box car and fell beneath the wheels. He was picked up and taken to St. Joseph's hospital, where there is slight hope for his recovery.

COLDEST IN SEVEN YEARS

Salt Lake City Suffers From Broken Pipes and Blocked Street Cars—Water Supply Curtailed

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Jan. 7.—Zero weather, broken water pipes, flooded streets and blocked street cars caused great inconvenience yesterday in Salt Lake City.

The streams from which the city gets its water are so blocked with ice that the supply is seriously curtailed. The river Jordan is frozen nearly solid.

Yesterday morning local thermometers recorded zero, the lowest for seven years. Extreme cold is reported from all parts of Utah and Idaho.

Letters to Foreman Dare of Dynamite Jury Declared to Be "Plant" of a Newspaper Man

NEWCASTLE, Ind., Jan. 7. — The threatening letters written to Frank Dare, foreman of the Indianapolis dynamite conspiracy jury, were written at the request of a newspaper correspondent, to provide a new story, according to a letter received by the prosecuting attorney yesterday from a person who signed himself "Joseph Allen, State street, Chicago."

The prosecutor called various newspaper men to his office and asked for a sample of their writing. The dissimilarity to that in the threatening letters established their innocence.

Y.M.C.I. ELECT DIRECTORS

James Gilligan Chosen a Member of Board

THE CARD TOURNAMENT IS A GREAT SUCCESS

The Bowling Team Will go to Haverhill Tomorrow Night—Tournament on Club Alleys Soon

The members of the Young Men's Catholic Institute met in their rooms on Stackpole street recently and held their semi annual preliminary election of officers. James F. Gilligan was chosen as a member of the board of directors together with Jeremiah Connors, Alfred Cooney, William Kenefick, Frank McCartin, John McCaffrey, Eliot Wood, Joseph Mullin and George Clark. They will convene at an early date and elect the other officers of the club.

For the past six months Mr. Gilligan has officiated as president of the popular organization of the Lowell Catholic young men and he is a great favorite with all of the members of the Institute. On Christmas day, during the annual "gift giving" and entertainment, he was presented a costly traveling bag as a token of the high esteem in which he has always been held in the organization. During Mr. Gilligan's term of office as president of the Y. M. C. I., remarkable progress has been evident and several new and very helpful features were introduced. In addition, the membership of the society has undergone a decided increase.

At the last meeting of the Institute, a committee of five was appointed to take charge of the arrangements for the entertainment and dance which is to take place soon. This event is bound to be a great success.

Interest at present centers about the card tournament between the Institute and the Holy Name society and on Thursday evenings, the club rooms on Stackpole street present a lively scene as the contestants enter with a vim into the spirit of the contest. Just now the goddess of victory seems to hover very near the representatives of the young men's club for they have a trifling lead over their opponents.

The bowling team of Haverhill and the Y. M. C. I. quintet will meet on the Haverhill alleys on Wednesday evening and a good contest is expected. The annual bowling tournament of the organization will open on the club alleys on February 3rd and there is a large list of entries. John Cole has been elected president of the league.

Mr. Albert Kinnon, formerly of the Bigelow Carpet Co., left Lowell Sunday to accept a position in Rifton, N. Y.

Interesting Words

A Prominent New York Food Expert Recently Said:

Statistics show that of 20 million school children in this country, 15 millions are more or less defective in eyes, teeth, glands, bony structure, or otherwise.

This is largely due to their being fed upon substances in which the twelve minerals in the human body, and necessary to renew that body, are deficient in the food. Chief among these twelve minerals are Phosphorous, Iron, Magnesium, Calcium and Fluorine.

Common flour, rice, corn meal and some breakfast cereals have been robbed of 75 per cent of their mineral elements, largely by being prepared to look "white and nice."

Grape-Nuts

FOOD

Made of whole wheat and barley, contains all the valuable mineral elements necessary to the building of sound bodies and keen brains. This food is particularly rich in organic Phosphates, the essential mineral element necessary to brain building and brain development.

A regular morning dish of Grape-Nuts and cream is the daily, healthy habit of thousands of families, who for years have found by actual test that this food has properly won the title of "King of Breakfast Foods."

TOO WEAK TO STAND WHEN WED

Mother of Henry Wenz Sues His Estate Left to Widow—Alleges Unsound Mind

BOSTON, Jan. 7.—How Henry Wenz, the chocolate manufacturer, who died last May, was married to his bookkeeper two years before, while so weak he could not stand without the assistance of two men who held him up, was related in the contest of his will in the Suffolk court yesterday.

Wenz's 50-year-old mother, to whom he left but $500, is contesting the will through another son, Frederick. She lives in Germany.

Henry Wenz died May 27, 1912, leaving $200,000. His mother claims she did not receive her proper share.

Miss Mary A. Stone, the nurse who attended Wenz from 1910 to 1912, testified that her employer declared his intention of marrying Miss Sullivan long before the wedding. The ceremony took place at 6 o'clock in the evening of Oct. 12, 1910. A wedding supper was served at the Hotel Thorndike afterward.

At the ceremony the groom was so weak that he was unable to stand alone. He had to be held up on both sides, said Miss Stone, to take his vows to the woman who ran his business for him.

"He would never have signed the papers if his brother Franz had not given him a glass of wine at the hospital," said Miss Stone in reference to certain documents Franz prepared.

Miss Stone was questioned as to what she knew of the time Franz was locked in the candy factory on Ferdinand street by Henry and his new wife, and had to drop to the street from a second-story window.

Franz has brought suit against his brother's widow alleging that she induced his brother to break partnership with him.

The mother claims that her son Henry's widow used undue influence and that Henry was of unsound mind when he made the will. Dr. Arthur W. Fairbanks of 591 Beacon street, one of the attending physicians in Wenz's last illness, declared on the stand that his patient was in a very weakened condition when he was first called to see him, that he had hemorrhage of the brain, and one side of his body was useless. He could find no mental weakness, however.

35 Years on Force

NEWTON, Jan. 7.—When Capt. John Ryan closed his desk at police headquarters last night he ended 35 years of efficient and faithful service in the department. Though the veteran is ill for several more years of duty, he desired to enjoy the sunset of his life, and recently the aldermen granted him a pension of $1000 a year.

LEFTY FLYNN MARRIED

Yale Football Player Surprises Family

NEW YORK, Jan. 7.—Maurice Bennett Flynn, better known as "Lefty," full-back of Yale's football eleven of 1912, married Miss Rena Leary in the City hall yesterday. She said she was 22 years old and lived at 2 West 55th street, but it was said at the house last night that no such person lived there.

Yesterday's ceremony was performed by Alderman John McCann and it is understood they are to be married again in a church.

Young Mr. Flynn was in the west with the Yale Glee club until Friday. He returned to New Haven late that evening and sent a telegram to his father, J. A. Flynn, a well-to-do surety man with offices at 2 Rector street. Mr. Flynn said at his home at 205 West 57th street last night that he knew nothing of his son's marriage.

"Maurice's telegram on Friday simply tells me of his safe arrival in New Haven," said Mr. Flynn, "and I have not heard from him since. I did not know he was in New York. I have never heard of the girl. I am very sorry he has married, and I do not know whether to congratulate him or make it warm for him."

Young Flynn weighs more than 200 pounds and is 6 feet 3 inches tall. He is a remarkable kicker. His punting helped Yale greatly last season. He got his sobriquet of "Lefty" from the fact that he uses his left foot in kicking.

Flynn and Miss Leary walked into the city hall shortly before closing time and hurried into the marriage license bureau. Alderman McCann was just going out. The clerk called him back.

"One thing," said the fullback, "we are both Irish."

Just then he remembered he did not have any witnesses. Two bureau clerks were pressed into service and the ceremony was performed. Miss Leary was very nervous. In getting the license she said she was born in Holyoke, Mass., and is the daughter of Cornelius and Mary Doran Leary. She was dressed in white and wore a white fur coat. Her diamond rings were worth several thousand dollars, Alderman McCann thought.

Flynn's mother is out of the city visiting friends. A message telling her of the wedding was sent to her last night.

Funeral of James R. Keene

NEW YORK, Jan. 7.—Funeral services for James R. Keene, financier and turfman, were held yesterday at Grace church. From the church the body was taken on a special train to Woodland cemetery.

At the entrance to the church stood William Ronar, Mr. Keene's confidential agent in the financial district, and Algernon Daingerfield, a nephew of the deceased whose own father, Major Foxhall Daingerfield, died at Lexington, Ky., Sunday. Both hurried from the church before the services were over to go to Lexington to attend the funeral of Major Daingerfield.

WILL MEET HERE JAN. 15

State Board of Trade to Visit Lowell

MEMBERS WILL CONVENE AT TEXTILE SCHOOL

Addresses by Prominent Men on Timely Subjects—Great Preparations Are in Progress For the Event

On Wednesday, Jan. 15, the Massachusetts State Board of Trade will come here to be guests of the Lowell board, and the members of the state organization will hold their monthly meeting at the Lowell Textile school on that day.

It was at the invitation of Secretary John H. Murphy of the Lowell board that the State Board of Trade decided to visit Lowell, and this invitation was extended at a meeting in Springfield, Mass., some time ago. They were unanimous in their approval of this city as a meeting place and especially as many are deeply interested in the local institution of textile instruction which is so great a factor in turning out men to be successful in the industry of the loom and spindle which is so important in this state.

The executive committee of the city trade organization convened yesterday afternoon, and plans for the entertainment of the guests were proposed and acted upon. All the members of the Lowell board will be urged especially to attend this meeting, for it is of the utmost importance.

Special Cars at Depot

The 11.20 train from Boston to Lowell will transport the visitors here and they will be met at the depot by special cars to take them directly to the Textile school, where a business meeting will start as soon as they arrive. Luncheon will be served at 1 o'clock and following this some interesting addresses will be heard from Hon. Robert Luce and other prominent men.

It is the intention of the members of the Massachusetts Board of Trade to turn out in large numbers for this meeting in Lowell, and consequently every member of the Lowell board should be present to welcome the guests. The executive committee also conferred with Thomas Lees of the Bay State street railway yesterday in regard to trolley express and local car service, and a report of this conference will be read at the next meeting on Wednesday afternoon.

TEST VOTE IS AVOIDED

Republicans Are to Hold Senatorial Caucus

BOSTON, Jan. 7.—More than 150 of the 162 republican members of the legislature met in conference at the state house yesterday, after an adjournment of both branches, and voted to hold a senatorial caucus tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock in room 249, where yesterday's conference was held.

The McCall, Draper and Guild men, headed by Senator Claude L. Allen of Melrose, an avowed McCall supporter, forced through a motion declaring that it was the sense of the conference that the nominee of the caucus should have the votes of two-thirds of 140 members—94 members.

The two-thirds rule was opposed by the Weeks men, headed by Representative Robert M. Washburn of Worcester, but it was evident from the start that they were afraid to have a show down of strength with the allies, who had combined to put the Weeks men in the hole.

While there was no vote to indicate the real Weeks strength in the conference, it was apparent that he was individually stronger than any of his opponents, but the combination of McCall, Draper, Guild and the other candidates was too much for the Newton man and his friends surrendered as gracefully as possible without being compelled to manifest their voting strength.

Wilson Hopes For Gardner

TRENTON, N. J., Jan. 7.—President-elect Wilson yesterday canvassed further into the possibility of increasing the narrow majority of the democrats in the United States senate for the next session.

He took up with Senator Charles F. Johnson and Representative Daniel J. McGillicuddy of Maine details of the senatorial situation in their state where the progressives admittedly hold the balance of power in the legislature. The president-elect is hopeful that Senator Gardner may yet be re-elected.

WORK WITH MAN THEY SEEK

Deputy Sheriffs Find Brother Officer in Object of Long Search—Found Many Thomas Kellys in New York

NEW YORK, Jan. 7.—Two deputy sheriffs have been searching for two weeks for Thomas Kelly, president of the Ancient Order of Hibernians, to serve him with an order for the sale of the organization's property at 116th street and Fifth avenue on a judgment by the John P. Kane company for $5287.

The deputies found several hundred Thomas Kellys, but none proved to be the right Kelly.

They asked Sheriff Harburger yesterday if he could suggest any Thomas Kelly who hadn't been seen, and the sheriff suggested that it would do no harm to ask Deputy Sheriff Thomas Kelly if by any chance he was the man sought. The sheriff called Kelly in and asked if he was affiliated with any fraternal organizations.

"Yes, I'm president of the A. O. H.," replied Kelly.

The two deputies gave a shout of gladness and served Kelly with the order.

DRIVEN INTO STREET

Members of Family of W. H. Parker of Dorchester Escape, Not Fully Clad, From Burning House

BOSTON, Jan. 7.—Fire in the home of William H. Parker, at 139 Kilton street, Dorchester, yesterday morning drove him, his wife and three children into the street in scant attire and practically destroyed the house. Mrs. Parker discovered that the house was afire soon after her husband had started a fire in the furnace. One of their sons ran to ring in an alarm, but did not go to the nearest box, so there was a delay in the arrival of the firemen.

Miss Louise Parker, who is soon to be married, lost many silverware gifts, and the family lost much wearing apparel. The complete loss was about $2500.

8 DEAD ON BATTLESHIP

Tragedy on the Massena Due to Explosion

TOULON, France, Jan. 7.—Eight men were killed yesterday by an explosion in the stokehold of the French battleship Massena. The Massena accompanied by two cruisers was proceeding for Bizerta. She was passing the Hyres Islands when the steam collector pipe of one of the boilers burst.

The warship was immediately stopped and the engine room staff rushed to the stokehold, where they found a petty officer, six stokers and an artificer lying on the steel floor dead. The ship put back and landed the bodies at the St. Mandrier Naval hospital.

The cause of the accident has not yet been ascertained, but it has occasioned great surprise among the naval authorities, as the steam piping on the Massena had been completely renewed two years ago and was thoroughly tested last year.

GERMS LURK IN FINGERBOWL

United States Public Health Service Puts It in a Class With the Roller Towel

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—The United States public health service is out with a denunciation of the finger bowl. Dr. C. H. Lavinder says that as a means of spreading infection and contagion the finger bowl is in the same class with the common drinking cups and the roller towel.

Dr. Lavinder asserts that in many supposedly high class restaurants there are in use only about a half dozen finger bowls and these do service for many patrons.

Money Back If It Doesn't

Don't say "I've read all that before"—just go to your dealer right away, lay down 50c and say: "I want a bottle of that PARISIAN SAGE that so many sensible people are using." Then take it home and use it as directed and then if you are not satisfied that it is just as advertised take back the empty bottle and your money will be refunded.

"Pretty risky offer" you'll say; not at all; dealers know just what PARISIAN SAGE will do and have the promise of the American makers, the Giroux Mfg. Co. of Buffalo, N. Y., that they will back him up in his strong guarantee. Pretty fair and square offer, isn't it?

Mrs. J. G. Franklin, Fulton, Mo., writes: "PARISIAN SAGE eradicates dandruff, cleans the scalp, and makes the hair fluffy and beautiful; also is a good hair grower. I shall continue to use it as long as it gives such perfect satisfaction."

Ask for PARISIAN SAGE Hair Tonic and firmly refuse substitutes. The girl with the auburn hair is on every package and your druggist will tell you that Parisian Sage is a splendid hair dressing free from poisonous lead or other dangerous ingredients. Carter & Sherburne guarantee it.

BAY WOOD IS FAST

Boxer to Appear Here Has Great "Rep."

The announcement that Bay Wood, the clever Fall River lightweight, will appear in the main bout at this week's meeting of the Lowell Social and Athletic club is looked upon by the local sports as a ten strike, and many of the members have congratulated President Gardner on his success in securing such a talented performer. Mr. Gardner says that with the members attending future meetings as they have in the past, he will be in a position to engage some of the best boxers in the country. Wood is considered one of the best men of his class in this section of the country. Last Friday night he met Gilbert Gallant, for the lightweight championship of New England and the exhibition went the distance to a draw. It was labelled one of the best ever seen in Manchester. Wood is fast and clever and is looked upon as the coming lightweight title holder. He will meet Eddie Flynn of Lynn. The latter gentleman needs no introduction to the members of the club, as he has appeared here several times and in all his bouts his work has been most pleasing. He is also a formidable lightweight and in picking the best in New England, Eddie should come in for consideration. He is a good fighter, hard hitter and exceptionally fast. He has been resting since his last bout here with Young Jasper, and expects to be in fine trim on Friday evening. In his last bout in this city, Flynn gave a remarkable exhibition. In the early rounds, Jasper had a slight lead, but Flynn came back strong and by fast and clever work well earned the draw decision given by Referee Thomas. He is training carefully for this week's meeting, for in the event of victory, Flynn will lay claim to the New England lightweight title and will stand ready to defend his claim. Both Wood and Flynn are confident that the local sports should see a wonderful exhibition. Three other good bouts are also on the program. In the second contest of importance, the semi-final, Kid Pearl, amateur 115 pound champion of New England, will clash with Young Clark. The latter "kiddo" has the distinction of being the first boy to secure a decision over Gardner Brooks, nephew of the Gardner family, and a clever boxer. Clark is more of the fighting type and ought to make things interesting for Pearl at their meeting Friday. In the first preliminary Kid Shea and Kid George, both of Lowell will exchange greetings, while in the other go, Kid Bann and Young Smith will entertain. The meeting will be held in Mathew hall and will start at 8.15 o'clock.

Start Earlier

Many of the suburban members of the club have requested Pres. Gardner to start the meetings earlier, or eliminate one of the preliminaries, so that they may enjoy the completion of the main bout. At present, with the excellent bouts that are being given, none likes to miss the last few rounds of the main attraction, but this many who come from North Chelmsford, Tewksbury and other places, have been obliged to do, or as an alternative they might do the "Dan O'leary" to their home burg. The petitioners advance the argument that one of the preliminaries could be dispensed with without causing any dissension, for all members will like to have adjournment earlier. As this week's program has been arranged the four bouts will be held, but next week, it is hoped that but three bouts will be scheduled and all will be happy.

HAVERHILL TO KEEP CLUB

Clohecy and Marshall Expect to Avert Its Transfer to Some Other City—Fall River Shift Pending

HAVERHILL, Jan. 7.—The Haverhill team probably will not be transferred to any other city, according to an announcement made last night by Secretary J. C. Morse of the New England Baseball league. At a recent meeting of the stockholders of the Haverhill club Daniel F. Clohecy, a former president, and Sherman H. Marshall, a member of the board of directors, agreed to be responsible for the finances of the club, and they expect, Mr. Morse said, to remain in Haverhill.

The matter of the transfer of the Fall River club is still pending.

Henri Gross, an Alleged Deserter, Leaps From Train Into Snowbank Near Rouses Point and Escapes

MONTREAL, Jan. 7.—While being taken to Plattsburg, N. Y., to answer a double charge of grand larceny and desertion from the United States army, Henri Gross yesterday jumped through the window of an express train and escaped. He landed into a snow drift, apparently unhurt, and could not be found when the train was stopped and backed.

The train was approaching Rouses Point when Gross, who was in custody of Deputy Marshal Foster of Plattsburg, obtained permission to have his handcuffs removed. Slamming and locking the door of a lavatory in the face of his guard, he smashed a double window and jumped.

ASKS $24,000

Marie Dressler, Actress, Sues Weber & Fields, Charging Breach of Contract

NEW YORK, Jan. 7.—Marie Dressler filed suit in the supreme court yesterday against Weber & Fields for breach of contract.

The actress asks $24,000 on the ground that she had a contract in "Roly Poly" at $1500 a week and the contract was broken at the end of four weeks. The defense is that Miss Dressler broke the contract herself after announcing that she was dissatisfied with her part.

The Textile School

The Textile school opened yesterday morning after the three weeks' vacation. Only a few are still absent. The semi-final examinations will be held during the week of January 27.

Charles Sylvian of the third year engineering class had a part of his finger cut off in a lathe in which he was turning some stock. The injury was dressed at the Lowell General hospital.

The members of the football squad will be measured for their sweaters next Thursday.

HE SUSPECTS MURDER

Father of Mrs. Donovan Changes Views

HE SAYS BRUISE ON NOSE WAS PROOF OF VIOLENCE

James B. Jennings Arraigned in Court and His Case Was Put Over to January 13

BOSTON, Jan. 7.—Frank A. Menard, the father of Mrs. Mildred Donovan, now believes that his daughter was murdered. He told a reporter yesterday afternoon that although it was true that he had said immediately after the identification that Mildred had possibly died following an attack of epilepsy, his opinion had changed since the body was received from the mortuary for burial.

When asked to explain his change of opinion, Mr. Menard intimated that the bruise on the nose alone was proof of violence. Mr. Menard did not want to talk much about the case yesterday as the police, he declared, had advised him not to have anything to say until the investigation had been completed.

It is because of Mr. Menard's persistency that the state police took a hand in the case, and now Dist. Atty. Higgins has interested himself in the mystery. Yesterday afternoon he is said to have conferred with State Detective Smith, Inspector Greenleaf of Malden and Mrs. Donovan's relatives.

Detectives Smith and Greenleaf had not returned to their homes at midnight. At noon they met at police headquarters in this city and in the afternoon were at East Cambridge.

Jennings Arraigned

James B. Jennings was arraigned before Judge Creed yesterday, but Detective Sergt. Irwin said, the government desired to have the examination of the boxer on the charge of slaying William H. MacPherson postponed until Jan. 13. The court consented and Jennings was held without bail.

Today it is expected that the grand jury will consider the murder charge against Jennings. Capt. Armstrong had the evidence prepared and will be ready at a moment's notice to introduce it. The grand jury will make a report Saturday morning.

Inspector Greenleaf conferred with Capt. Armstrong yesterday and following it talked earnestly with State Detective Smith outside of police headquarters. It had been planned to interview Jennings, but why this plan was not carried out is not known.

Jennings was represented by Delvin N. Breath of Chelsea before Judge Creed yesterday. The family engaged Mr. Breath and it was stated last evening that until Mr. Breath has a good talk with his client, he will have no statement to make. Jennings has been advised to stop talking and has promised to obey the instructions.

MAY CAUSE FRUIT FAMINE

Records Broken by Cold Wave in California

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 7.—Thousands of men were out last night in an effort to save from further damage by cold weather southern California's orange and lemon crop, valued at $50,000,000.

The loss entailed by Sunday night's freeze cannot be estimated accurately, but it was so serious, growers and citrus experts say, that it will have an appreciable effect upon the price of the fruit.

The weather bureau predicted for last night temperatures as low as, or lower, than those which Sunday night shattered the record of 30 years.

Within a radius of 125 miles of Los Angeles, smudge pots by the thousands smouldered, emitting dense clouds of smoke which it was hoped would raise the temperature within the groves sufficiently to prevent further freezing of fruit on the trees.

According to the sales managers of various growers' associations, hardly more than a 10th of the orange crop has been shipped out. The remainder, they assert, will show serious losses. Suburban trolley lines were more or less demoralized yesterday through the freezing of air-brake valves.

At Riverside, one of the orange centres, the thermometer fell to 18 degrees, and it was estimated that 99 per cent of the oranges immediately about Riverside would be a total loss.

Chicago Dealers Anxious

CHICAGO, Jan. 7.—Reports of freezing weather in Southern California and the prediction that frost might injure the orange crop was discussed here with interest yesterday. Chicago receives about 2400 cases of oranges and lemons from California annually, which is 90 per cent of the total handled here, and, next to New York, this is the largest distributing centre for citrus fruit in this country.

One of the largest local dealers said yesterday:

"Less than 10 per cent. of this year's crop has been marketed, and if the damage is anything as great as reported, there is certain to be an orange and lemon famine."

Lynn Man Struck by Automobile and Skull Fractured—Motor Car Killed Horse in Revere

BOSTON, Jan. 7.—Roland Butler of 579 Dudley street, Roxbury, was removed to the City hospital in a dying condition last night as the result of being struck by an automobile owned and operated by J. B. Higginson of 73 Seaver street, Brookline.

The boy was about to board an inward bound electric car on Seaver street, between Humboldt and Illun Hill avenues, about 9.20 last night. He had just stepped into the street and was crossing into Kindig's wood, signalled the approaching car and as it came to a stop and he stepped toward it, it is said that the automobile, driven by Higginson, who was accompanied by Fred Wagen, of 332 Seaver street, Roxbury, bore out of the darkness, coming in the opposite direction and struck Butler, the wheels passing over him.

Struck by Automobile

LYNN, Jan. 7.—Ethel Pritchard, 26 years old, of 48 Blossom street, is at the Lynn hospital suffering from a bad fracture of the skull as the result of being struck by the automobile of August Beckman, a wealthy Lynn shoe manufacturer, while crossing Sea street about 6.30 last night.

The young woman was taken to the hospital in the car that struck her, after which Beckman was taken into custody by the Lynn police and later released on $1000 bail.

NO CURSING ON COMMON

Ordinance Adopted by Boston City Council

BOSTON, Jan. 7.—Loud talk, cursing or soliciting acquaintance was forbidden on the common, public garden and other public parks of the city by an ordinance adopted by the city council yesterday.

Another ordinance adopted by the council states that no person shall walk, stand or sit on the grass, planted land, fountains, monuments, bandstands, walls or fences on the common or other public places. This same ordinance also forbids all sleeping on the benches or grass of these parks, except when permission is given by special order of the mayor.

The ordinance asked for by the police commissioner, namely, to permit patrolmen to arrest people loitering on the streets or public grounds who obstructed the way, was turned down by the council.

The mayor sent to the council a request for a loan appropriation of $15,000 to provide for the remodeling of Copley square according to the plans of Architect Frank A. Bourne. This amount will pay for the preliminary work only. This was referred to the committee on finance.

The ordinance requiring the licensing of builders and other laws that would give the building commissioner greater power over building operations was laid on the table until the next meeting of the council, two weeks from date.

The election commissioners gave notice to the council of the redividing of ward 24 into 16 instead of 15 precincts, because precinct 8 has now more than 1000 voters.

Notice was also given that a special primary will be held on Jan. 25, and a special election on Feb. 11, to fill the vacancy in the legislature caused by the death of William F. Murray of ward 2.

A letter signed by all the property holders of Comonwealth avenue, between Massachusetts avenue and Beacon street, was received, approving the plans of the park department for the reconstruction of this highway.

TWO MEN SERIOUSLY BURNED

Fires at Manchester, N. H., With a Loss of About $1200—Saloon and Tenement Damaged

MANCHESTER, N. H., Jan. 7.—Manchester had two fires last night, which resulted in two men being seriously burned. The first one was for a fire which broke out in a [illegible] kept by Joseph Dugree, 617 Elm street. Fireman Alfred Lamper was badly burned by a steam pipe.

The second fire was in the Central street tenement district, rear of 124, in a tenement occupied by John Welch and family. It started in a sleeping room and in an effort to extinguish the flames, Mr. Welch was severely burned. He was taken to a hospital. The total damage to property by the two fires is estimated at about $1200.

THREE DOLLARS PER YEAR. TWENTY-FIVE CENTS PER MONTH

LOWELL UPWARD AND ONWARD

Now that the municipal board has organized for the year, the people of this city hope to see an end to the animosities that have cropped out during the past year and in a manner disgraced our city.

It is the duty of each commissioner to show a proper sense of responsibility while at the same time working in harmony with the others to keep our city abreast of the times in everything, to move onward where progress leads and to overcome the provincialism which has been so detrimental to Lowell.

In each and every department there is room for improvement and the needs of each should be considered separately so that the policies best calculated to bring the desired results may be adopted. Lowell is a great city and it can be made much greater by wise, economical and progressive government.

We are starting upon the second year under the new charter. During the first it is only fair to say that many snags were encountered; but most of these have been overcome so that business can now be done under business principles, with a proper distribution of responsibility and yet a centralization of authority in the municipal board.

The new watchword of the board should be "Lowell upward and onward," so that we may at the end of the year have a city that has taken several steps onward towards all the varied and far reaching advantages that come from good government. Whether we shall realize those things depends almost entirely upon the efficiency, the tact and judgment of the men elected to govern our city for the coming year. If they do their duty well, they will enjoy the confidence, good will and support of the citizens at large; but if they fail they will meet the disapproval or even the reprobation of the public.

THE NEEDS OF LOWELL

That was a very interesting symposium at the social forum of the Grace Universalist church, on Sunday evening, when Mr. Harvey B. Greene, Rev. Charles T. Billings and Dr. G. Forrest Martin, gave their views as to the needs of the city of Lowell. Mr. Greene pointed out the more important needs, as public parks, and the beautification of the canals and rivers. He held that Centralville, Pawtucketville, the Highlands, Ayer City, Gerhain and Lawrence streets, together with the Wigginville section are greatly in need of public parks. This is true, and it is the duty of the park department to supply the needs if it possibly can. Rev. Mr. Billings struck a vital point when he said that a better civic spirit is necessary in order that the people may unite more in favor of better government and public improvements. Dr. Martin told a few things that are necessary in the line of improving the tenement property of the city. In each of these three different spheres there is indeed much room for improvement and all three gentlemen, in bringing these matters to public attention, only repeat what has been said many a time in the past. But it is not enough to mention needed improvements once, twice, or thrice. The public needs must be dinned into the ears of the people in order to create a sentiment strong enough to force the powers that be to bring about the improvements demanded by public necessity.

THE CANAL TOLLS

President Taft in his speech of Saturday night stated that he would be satisfied to leave the question of canal tolls to any impartial tribunal. That naturally means the Hague tribunal, which could scarcely be considered impartial towards the United States. It will be noticed that the London papers immediately took hold of President Taft's statement and applauded it vociferously. They all favor the idea of having the question submitted to the Hague tribunal, knowing what the result will be.

It is declared, on the authority of men who should know, that to exclude United States vessels from the payment of toll in passing the canal would be a violation of the Hay-Pauncefote treaty. If there is anything more than another which the United States abhors, it is the violation of treaties or the disregard of international compacts, formally made and ratified. President Taft, of course, as a lawyer, should know the force and scope of the treaty referred to, and should understand whether the canal arrangement already adopted is in violation of the said treaty. The English departments hold that the treaty has been violated, and while they so contend, we do not see any method of settlement except that which Mr. Taft has suggested.

DANGEROUS BILL BOARDS

The experience of Lowell and other cities during the wind storm of Friday and Friday night, should lead to some action that would prepare the city for an emergency of that kind. The force of the storm blew down many overhead billboards, many rotten trees and limbs of trees, together with smoking chimneys, and other objects that were in an unsteady condition. It seems that public safety demands closer attention to these matters from our city officials. Either the police or the building inspector should give warning of dangerous chimneys and dangerous billboards, while the park department is expected to take care of the trees, and remove any that may be in danger of falling. Lowell fortunately escaped without loss of life and without any very great damage to property, but there were several billboards, trees and chimneys blown down that might have had fatal results, and this should be a warning against unsafe conditions in the future.

PEACE NEGOTIATIONS

The deadlock in the peace negotiations at London are due chiefly to the unwillingness of Turkey to surrender Adrianople, and the determination of the allies to have it at any cost, even at the necessity of resuming hostilities. Turkey does not seem to realize that if the armistice had not been declared, the allies would not only have taken Adrianople, but Constantinople. Turkey must yield or else she will lose all, unless the powers intervene in her behalf.

The wily Turk is playing for intervention by the great powers in hopes of cutting down the demands of the allies.

THE STREET DEPARTMENT

The fact that Commissioner Brown, before quitting the street department, raised the pay of the men, will embarrass his successor, Mr. Donnelly. If the increase ordered by Mr. Brown should be recognized, it would mean a very material extra expense, and one for which the municipal council, and the city, it might be said, are unprepared. It was this no doubt that ruffled the very even temper of Commissioner Donnelly when he ordered the removal of the office furnishings put in by his predecessor and which remain unpaid for by the city.

LAWSON TO APPEAR

Thomas W. Lawson will appear before the committee of congress now investigating the money question. It has been finally decided that Mr. Rockefeller is too ill to appear, and Mr. Lawson will appear in his stead. The Boston man is never so happy as when he poses in the limelight and this will afford him an opportunity to gratify that desire.

CASTRO TO REMAIN

Former President Castro of Venezuela has changed his mind about going back to Europe. He now intends to put up a legal battle for the privilege of remaining here. Doubtless the courts will permit him to remain, but if so, he will be well watched by police and federal detectives.

On railroad matters as on other business concerns, Governor Foss must be accorded like other men the privilege of changing his mind. This he evidently has done on the matter of railroad mergers; and in so doing he does not tell the public why.

Beware of Aloes!

By Dr. True

Beware of laxatives containing aloes!

Aloes aids in giving free and easy bowel action—but it produces griping and piles.

Many people suffer from piles because they use some laxative that contains aloes.

There is no law that requires aloes to be mentioned as an ingredient in a laxative, so you must guard yourself.

I solemnly swear that there is not any aloes in Dr. True's Elixir. So when you need a laxative I advise you to take my own medicine, Dr. True's Elixir.

Dr. True's Elixir is a combination of the extracts, essences and juices of herbs barks, seeds and roots of known value for stomach trouble and bowel troubles. It sets the stomach right and produces free, normal, gas action of the bowels. Also, it expels all worms and other parasites from stomach or bowels except tape worms.

Thes wonderful remedial qualities are combin a with delicious, honey-flavored syrup and other pleasant-tasting aromatics, so that Dr. True's Elixir is the nicest possible medicine to take. This makes it easy to give to children also. They get so they really like to take it!

Fire insurance companies, according to statistics compiled by those concerns, lost $4,0000,00 last year through fires of arsonic origin in the city of New York alone. Four million dollars is a lot of money for one department of the business world, in one city, and through one means to lose in one year. There is a singular side to human nature, one which may partly account for the mulcting of these insurance companies, that may be noticed in the ideas entertained by about nine out of every ten men. It is this:

No wrongful act is committed when one steals or unlawfully takes money from a large corporation.

And speaking of some of the "risks" in the tire insurance business reminds me of a story I read in a New Jersey paper recently. A pleasant voiced man stepped into the office of a Newark insurance company and after talking over rates and other matters pertaining to the transaction on hand asked the agent to look over the building which he wanted insured. This was done and the two men returned to the agent's office. Papers were signed, a "Perfecto" changed hands, mutual expressions of satisfaction were exchanged, and, taking up his hat, the new policyholder started for the door.

"Just a moment, Mr. Z————," exclaimed the agent, "there's a little matter yet standing between us, you know."

"What's that?" was the rejoinder.

"Oh, about twenty dollars—the premium."

"Twenty dollars, you say? Well, thats all right. Deduct it when I call to collect the insurance."

AT THE CLUB

"Grab a cue and I'll show you some class in billiards," remarked Bill to Joe, in a tone that indicated a challenge. The two were lounging in the club room.

Joe grunted, grinned in derision and hoisting his long lank self from out of the Morris chair near the window from which vantage point he had been lazily gazing down upon the Merrimack Square crowds, he ambled toward the rack.

"Haven't handled a stick in a month, but I'll just take down your swelled head," he drawled as he selected his cue. The game was soon in progress. Bill executed several neat shots while the other looked on, and then as his ivory sphere barely missed the second ball in a three cushion try, he added six buttons to his tally on the string above.

"Haven't been coming down to the joint as much as usual Joe?" questioned Bill reaching for the chalk.

"No, not so much, been pretty busy lately."

"Last Friday was meeting night."

"By George! So it was, I clean forgot about it. I happened down by the new Sun building and a friend of mine took me through the place. Take your uncle's word for it. It's sure some plant and the way they handle the news and get the editions on the streets is a caution. I'm invited to go up in the day time and get the view from the roof and from what I hear it's worth while. Better come along with us."

"Very glad to," came back from Bill, as he paused to search through his pockets for a match. "Let me know when you're going."

The game was close and the contact of the three ivory balls had added considerably to the scores of both contestants. There was a period of silence as they alternately leaned over the table, the better to guide the slender cue. Then as he watched Sir Joe through an unusual streak of good luck, Bill offered the following:

"By the way, I see they've shuffled the commissioners in city hall; wonder if that means that the boys have been making New Year's resolutions not to borrow any more money and to keep the streets clean. Oh! speaking of cleaning the streets, did you ever wade through the mess on the west side of Central street just above the junction of Prescott? Say, it's fierce; full of dust, sand and loose papers in the middle of the sidewalk, and a fellow needs to be gone over with a vacuum cleaner when he gets home. It's—it's—look here, are you listening to me or am I talking to myself, you lobster?" Joe was carefully balancing his cue and eyeing the object ball at the far end of the table, apparently not heeding the mouthings of the other.

"What's that?" he exclaimed glancing up, "sure I'm listening, rave on, old man, rave on" and he resumed preparations for the difficult shot.

"Well, if you had been obliged to walk through the place during that blow the other day, you wouldn't call it raving. It is—Fine! good work! (as the other accomplished a neat carom) It's more like a country road than a city street and funny thing, they can't seem to keep the place clean though they surely do try. I had to smile at the poor fellow who was pushing a broom there this morning; as soon as he got the dirt away from one spot and well started on another, a gust of wind would blow it back again, and incidentally into the eyes, nose and mouth of people who were passing. He said things that you don't hear in church, too," laughing at the memory. "Do you know, I think there is something the matter with that place, for no one can say it is neglected."

Joe glanced up at the tally string with a satisfied smile, 'Maybe they built the sidewalk too close to the road," he suggested. "They ought to move it."

"Ye-es, maybe they——aw shut up." Bill suddenly realized that he was being "kidded." "You're as funny as a meeting of the municipal council; you ought to go on the stage."

Joe laid down his cue, and lighted a cigar. "I was thinking of it; saw an advertisement for a couple of scene shifters—want a job? "Did you say you could play billiards?" he continued tauntingly. "Come around and practice every day for a month or so and then we'll have another go at it. It's no fun to beat you now. I'll give you ten points in fifty and bet you the smokes I'll wallop you worse than I did just now. What say (licking his lips), have a nip?"

"No thanks," replied Bill, "On the wagon, New Year's resolu——"

"By the sacred ox, that's right," interrupted the victor. "I made one of those fool resolves myself. S'pose I might as well stick now that I've put my foot in it, eh?"

"You're on, that's the right dope; stick it out and be a hero, and they'll preserve your name in history as the first man to take a New Year's promise seriously. Well, I'm going home to see what they've got to eat; coming?"

"Nope, too lazy—I mean tired; I'll take on fuel here." Then as Bill hurried toward the door with a few seconds in which to make the Pawtuckville car, Joe yelled: "Don't forget to practice your billiards, son;" and then he laughed at Bill's growling reply.

TWO CHURCHES UNITE

Worthen Street and Central M. E. Met

AND VOTED ALMOST UNANIMOUSLY TO JOIN

Articles of Agreement Drawn Up and Ratified—The Plan to Be Submitted to the Quarterly Conference

The members of the Central and of the Worthen Street Methodist Episcopal churches have now both agreed almost unanimously to unite. The former so voted last night and the latter on Sunday. The matter must now rest until it is ratified by the quarterly conference in April, but there is no doubt of its acceptance. The meeting of the Central church was very well attended, nearly all the members being present. Dr. Whittaker, the pastor of the church, presented the plan on which the union of the churches is to be made. They are the following:

"1—The board of trustees of the proposed new united church for at least one year after such union shall consist of eight members, four from each of the present churches, these trustees to hold all the property now held by both churches.

"2—The board of stewards shall be selected from each church, twelve in all, six from each church.

"3—All committees to be chosen by the quarterly, official board, and board of trustees, shall be chosen in, as nearly as possible, equal numbers from each church.

"4—The class leaders will be chosen in the same way.

"5—The proposed consolidation shall go into effect after the next session of the New England annual conference in April, 1913.

"6—The name of the proposed church shall be chosen by its official board, to be ratified by the quarterly conference.

"7—The bishop in charge of the New England annual conference shall be asked to see that the provisions of the union are carried out."

The church board then assembled in one of the smaller rooms, and drew up resolutions declaring that they felt that the purpose of the union was to better serve the best interests of the church and of the people. This will be referred to the next quarterly conference.

The pastors and the trustees of both churches first met to discuss the plan officially on December 16. They agreed almost at once on the plan, and chose a committee to set forth the idea of the meeting. This committee on December 23 reaffirmed the previous vote, and formulated the working plan, which was referred to the adult members of the two churches, with the result which has been stated.

The course in Spanish at the Naval academy has been extended from two to four years.

The Syrian Protestant college at Beirut, Syria, has a commercial department that aims to fit its students for positions in the business houses of the Levant.

The new compulsory continuation school for girls at Berlin will give six hours of instruction weekly, one-fourth of which must be given to courses dealing with "education for the home."

Of the million dollars spent by the city of Stockholm, Sweden, for its school system last year, $5500 was for domestic science, $17,500 for school lunches, $3400 for school physicians and $2400 for the dental clinic.

The Kansas state board of health has issued a health almanac that is an important contribution to the campaign of health education. In form it is like the traditional almanac, but the hygienic advice it contains is clear, specific, and thoroughly up-to-date. It is patterned after the "Virginia Health Almanac" for 1911.

Dr. George Kerschensteiner, the German vocational expert, is impressed by the success of the American public schools in the task of assimilating immigrants. "What the great cities have been doing in transforming immigrants from all parts of the world into thinking citizens," he declares, "seems to me from my personal observations in the country itself to be unexampled in the history of education of civilized nations."

The city of Breslau, Germany, has a new "school museum," where the best things in educational progress are shown for the benefit of the public. On the first floor are exhibits of school architecture, school furnishings, hygiene and statistics, mathematics, physics and chemistry, and a testing room for scientific apparatus used in the school. On the second floor are busts of well known educators of the past—Comenius, Pestalozzi, Diesterweg and Froebel; exhibits showing the teaching of religion, history, language, geography, astronomy, natural history and industrial economics, and the library. Above are the exhibits of manual training and domestic science; of auxiliary schools, kindergarten, and instruction of the blind; of drawing, singing and physical training; and a large hall containing example of school work from Germany and other lands. The Breslau school museum is one of 15 permanent educational expositions established in the German empire since 1904.

NIGGER IN WOODPILE

Mrs. Wells Puzzled Over Her Arrest

IS CHARGED WITH POISONING HER CHILDREN

Says Enemy of Husband Might Have Had Something To Do With Arrest—Writes Poems

ST. ALBANS, Vt., Jan. 7.—Mrs. Julius Wells, accused poisoner of her own children, declared yesterday that the whole affair was a puzzle, but intimated that an enemy of her husband might have had something to do with it. Meanwhile to demonstrate that she is not mentally unsound she wrote a poem.

"There's a nigger in the woodpile somewhere," she said.

Content to remain in jail until her innocence is proven, still she misses the two children she left in Swanton. She has been reading the newspapers and has found out that there is an idea abroad that she is not quite right mentally. She takes serious objections to talk of insanity.

She admits she has had grave mental illnesses, but insists she is all right now. Yesterday in her cell she composed several verses.

"No insane person could write poetry," she said.

In reply to an alleged statement of Mrs. Peter Fisher, her sister-in-law in Swanton, that Mrs. Wells had said she wished "those children were dead," Mrs. Wells denied she ever said any such thing.

"No mother would," she added.

Mrs. Wells bears up well under the strain, but her sleep is troubled. The exact method to be pursued in her case has not yet been determined. A special jury may take the place of the grand jury. If the attorney general thinks his evidence insufficient he may order her discharge.

Many relatives and friends visited Mrs. Wells yesterday and have taken many things for her comfort, a pillow, a rocking chair, but those of her immediate family have taken her no food, seeming to have fear of doing so.

"We have arranged to have a pint of milk left for her each day," said her sister, Mrs. Bombard, "and we shall have one meal a day sent her from a restaurant, but we have taken her no food."

Mrs. Wells, while calm outwardly, cries, it is said, when she thinks herself alone.

The Men's club of the Grace Universalist church will hold its monthly meeting on Thursday evening. Mr. Eames, the principal of the Textile school, will give the address on "Education in the Textile Industry." After this there will be a discussion by the members.

WOMEN FOR CITY JOBS

Two Named by Waltham Mayor

WALTHAM, Jan. 7.—Mayor Patrick J. Duane announced in his inaugural yesterday his intention of appointing a woman as head of the public buildings department and a woman member of the board of assessors, provided adequate salaries are voted by the aldermen.

Ida Anna Ryan is his candidate for superintendent of the building department and Vera Ryan for the assessorship, he stated. The first-named is at present acting head of the department through the retirement of the superintendent, and the latter is clerk of the board of assessors at present.

The mayor, in his address, among other things, urged the abolition of all party lines in municipal elections and a change in the present form of charter. He suggested that the question of a new city hall and library be separated, because he felt that one was handicapping the other.

He criticised the police department a year ago, but yesterday he complimented the force and urged that an increase be made in the number of patrolmen, which, he believed, was badly needed if efficiency was to be retained.

The aldermen organized with the election of William J. Bannan as chairman and Luman N. Hall clerk.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

Lowell Opera House

On Friday evening, Jan. 10th, P. Paul Marcel and his clever company of French artists will play a return engagement at the Opera House presenting for this engagement a three-act comedy, "Vingt Jours a L'Ombre," said to be a bright and witty play and full of action. Seats for the engagement are now on sale at the box office.

YIDDISH PLAYERS

Thursday evening Jan. 9th, the talented actor, Jacob Silbert, supported by Mme. Liza Silbert and a company of Yiddish players, will be seen at the Opera House in the musical drama, "Benjamin the Soldier." Seats are now on sale.

HARRY LAUDER

Since the arrival of Harry Lauder in this country for his fifth American tour a corner of the office of William Morris, in the Times building, New York, is occupied by a massive handsome bronze bust of the great Scottish comedian, the actor's gift to his manager.

The bronze is the work of Reid Dycke of the Royal Academy of London and was made after many months of arduous and intimate work during Lauders' recent stay in England. A great friendship has existed between the noted sculptor and Lauder for many years past, and this is the first time that a bronze of the comedian has been made. A duplicate will be executed on Lauder's return to England to be placed in the London Museum.

STAGE JOHNNIES ARE BARRED

Stage Johnnies and other curious persons who loiter around stage entrances no longer have any terrors for pretty little Minerva Coverdale, the dancer appearing with Raymond Hitchcock in "The Red Widow," which comes to the Opera House Jan. 14th. "She is entirely too young to travel alone without an escort," her mother thinks, so one of her husky brothers has been delegated to do escort duty for her. Wherever the dancer goes, there's big brother Bill, and it takes a pretty hardy Romeo to withstand his stern glances.

Keith's Theatre

A rattling lively show is the one to be seen this week at Keith's. There is nothing doing on any of the sentiment stuff, on any compressed-while-you-wait dramas or any freak turns. It's just laugh, laugh, laugh. The headliner, "The Second Generation," with our old friends, William H. Macart and Ethlynne Bradford & Co. in charge of the side-splitters' department, is a head-liner indeed. It has a little something to say about one Dennis Mulligan, a broth of a boy of an old-time politician, about his propensity for getting into arguments with the members of his family, and those of other families to boot, about his views on higher education, woman suffrage and all the other subjects known to an aggressive, pugnacious son of the old sod, and about the strenuous methods by which Mr. Mulligan emphasizes these views on all those fortunate or unfortunate enough to come within his reach. George Dixon, the "musical clown," should have been billed as the "Magic Musician," for George can draw his music from about anything he has a mind to and draw it in such a fashion that his audience is tickled both over the heart and between the ribs. "When Casey Hit the Ball," a 1913 adaptation to the famous song is the medium by which Connery and Legault win the hearts of their audience. They were right up to snuff on the dancing line, too. "The Piano Movers" is a very funny skit. Miss McDevitt is the lady in charge of this movement of mirth. She has "form" from every viewpoint. She's a catchy singer, clever comedienne bewitching soubrette and then there's some more "form." Assisting her are Mr. Kelly and Lucy. Whoever said skinny men can't be funny? Kelly and Lucy just make one roar with laughter by their comical antics and ludicrous meanderings around the stage in their portrayal of how real piano movers earn their daily bread. Harvard and Cornell do a pleasing singing turn that is mighty charming. They have better-than-the-ordinary tuneful voices and so are always sure of a rousing hand. Sam Harris, who from his accent must come from south of Mason and Dixon, is one of these monologists who absolutely compels an audience to laugh. With a rapid fire delivery and a droll manner of putting his mirth shoots across the plate. Sam started right in to mow down the long-faces in the gathering before him last night. And Sam succeeded. From the hand he got when he backed into the rear scenery, it was self evident that Sam had entertained his audience. "The Chinaman and the Coon," Stevens and Cook respectively, are the traveling names of a couple of laugh manufacturers who, in their line, can't be beat. Cook, who is a real colored man, is as clever an entertainer as any of his race who have appeared on the boards in Lowell. Not alone is he a pleasing singer, but he has the real "darky" dialect, the real facial contortions of the southern negro, the real light-heartedness that make these simple folks the most carefree and jolly people in the world. And Mr. Cook knows the art of making his audience feel these characteristics which distinguish his race. His partner, Stevens, has a corking good Chinese dialect, a perfect makeup, and a delivery that would make one think that a "John Chinaman" had inadvertently strayed behind the footlights. This team is remarkably good. The Carroll Gillette Trio, three skilful equilibrists, are up to all the latest wrinkles in the acrobatic line and so please their audience. The program closes with a realistic motion picture, of a comical description, of scenes in the jungle.

Merrimack Square

This is Irish week at the Merrimack Square theatre, and the bill provided is one of the best ever presented at this theatre. The headliner is the Temple Players in a clever act, entitled "In Dublin Town." It is a piece containing considerable music and dancing, interspersed with rich comedy, and is well worth seeing. Miss Hawthorne, the favorite prima donna, is again with the company and her success last night was wonderful. All in all, the act is a very good one and sure to please the many patrons of this popular house.

Another very interesting number on the program is "Niblo's Lecture on Ireland." The lecturer, with the assistance of numerous views and a series of motion pictures, carries his listeners through the various cities of importance in the land of the shamrock, shows the many interesting points visited by the traveler and relates in a most entertaining manner the characteristics, customs and practices of the people.

Ralfe O'Reilly, a Lowell musician, is another who made a decided hit. He plays several instruments and plays them well, too, and his audiences, it seems, never tire of listening to him.

D. A. Sullivan & Co., in an Irish singing and comedy sketch, gives added pleasure to the week's program, which Manager Carroll has so carefully and cleverly gathered. The young woman member of the cast has a charming stage presence, while the male members of the trio are unusually good. The act is a hummer.

Patrons who plan to attend the Friday night's performance are advised to secure their seats immediately. Indications at this time point to an early "sell out" on that night as a special program has been arranged.

The Playhouse

Mr. J. Anthony Smythe and Miss Constance Jackson are seen at their best in "Sowing the Wind" which Mr. Kendal Weston is presenting at The Playhouse during this week and it was a highly pleased audience that departed from the doors of that theatre last night after the opening performance.

The play itself needs no other recommendation beyond the statement that it is from the pen of Sidney Grundy, and when the announcement is made that it was played by the Drama Players then to all who have grasped the splendid opportunity of seeing this clever body of artists, it will at once become clear that "Sowing the Wind" was interpreted to perfection and brought out to its full strength.

"Sowing the Wind" is far from being a new production but even though it has delighted audiences for years past, it is a story that is never old and its long life is due to the clever insight of its author into human life. Without exception the entire cast is given an unusual opportunity and no less than every member of that well known company makes the best of that opportunity. Mr. Smythe and Miss Jackson demand special mention for their work in this presentation and they received ample reward for their efforts in the appreciative applause which was accorded them last night. If you have been to The Playhouse you noted that the audiences wait expectantly for the appearance of these two and that when they finally do enter upon the stage the play has to be momentarily suspended while the people in the audience make manifest their pleasure.

The stage effect is an important factor in the success of any piece and it is a leading characteristic of every production which is staged at The Playhouse by Mr. Weston. Moreover, the scenic effects which are arranged at this theatre are a source of great delight to patrons on all occasions. You cannot help but enjoy a play ever so much more if you feel that the company is exerting every effort just to please you and if you go to the home of the Drama Players it is impossible for you to escape this latter feeling, for both the management and the members of the company impress one in a manner far different from the ordinary stock company. What is more, in the various characters which they are required to assume each succeeding week they appear as different people altogether, so great is their faculty of character interpretation.

Performances of "Sowing the Wind" are to be given every afternoon and evening during the remainder of the week, and every one will greatly enjoy witnessing the piece.

JARVIS JOCELYN,
With the Temple Players at the Merrimack Square Theatre this Week.

Theatre Voyons

No character in history is grander or better suited to dramatic depiction than that of Napoleon the Great. In "At Napoleon's Command" shown today at the Theatre Voyons a true picture is given of the great Corsican in one of his campaigns and a story involving two of his field marshals is well told. The production is adequate in every way.

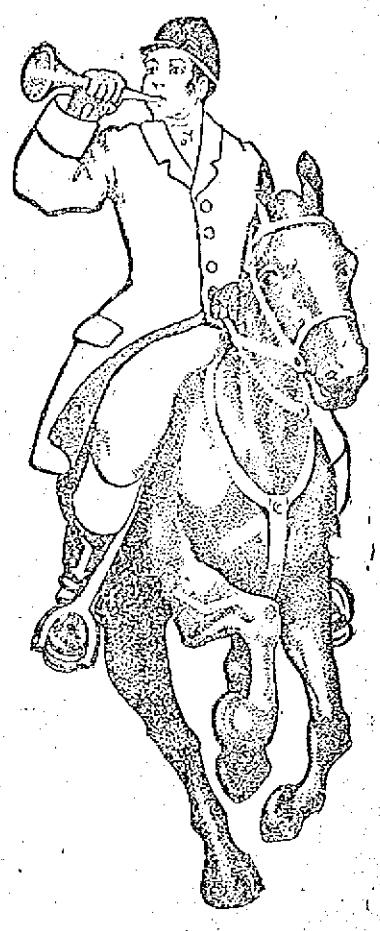

The Kasino

How many revolutions do the little rollers make in the course of an hour's skating? That's a hard question to answer, but if you had a penny for every revolution in that time, you would never be put to the painful necessity of working again. Because of the tremendous wear thus imposed, one must have the very latest and best skates, if one is to thoroughly enjoy this exhilarating indoor sport. The Kasino offers the very best.

STEAMER IN BATTLE WITH STORM

Pilot House and Bridge on Carisbrook Crumbled by Seas—Thrilling Experiences

BOSTON, Jan. 7.—Battered from stern to stern, with her steel pilot and charthouse and bridge twisted and torn as though she had passed through a severe naval engagement, with a decided list to port and holding her course by means of temporary arrangement to control her steam-steering gear, the British tramp steamer Carisbrook, from Huelva, Spain, felt her way into the harbor early last night and dropped anchor at quarantine.

The stout, steel and iron craft, built at Sunderland, Eng., only 10 years ago, and loaded with the most dreaded of winter cargoes—iron pyrites—was caught in the full fury of the hurricane and before the gale subsided she was a partial wreck, and her master and crew were completely worn out.

Only a miracle prevented loss of life, for in the midst of the storm a huge sea broke over the bow of the Carisbrook, burying her steel pilothouse, chart room and bridge as though it had been paper, and swept away every movable article on deck.

Standing on the bridge were Capt. D. A. Hunter of Liverpool, E. Pierce, the second officer, and a sailor, Hendricks of Vitte of Borneo.

After the wave had passed the officers found that she was in a helpless condition. Her steam steering system had been rendered useless by the giant sea.

Capt. Hunter and his crew faced the problem of devising a substitute for the useless steering gear.

Even while the great ship wallowed amid mountainous seas, at the mercy of the elements, every man of the 22 aboard the crippled steamer stood by ready to carry out the orders of Capt. Hunter. They knew there was but one way to save the craft and that was to get her bow into the seas again.

Followed by his men, Capt. Hunter scrambled aft to the hand steering apparatus. Already the rudder had became jammed to starboard. The strength of a dozen men was required to swing the rudder to port, and every man of the 22 figured in the task of swinging the Carisbrook's head up into the seas. Then the wheel was lashed fast.

That probably was the most thrilling incident of the whole experience of the crew. Had there been any longer delay, the crew said last night, there is no knowing what would have happened, for the heavy hull, loaded with iron ore, was trembling from stem to stern and was already badly down by the head.

Y. M. C. A.

Efficient life is the slogan of the physical department of the Y. M. C. A. The most important factor in attaining physical efficiency is the gymnasium. The new "Gym" is very complete in all of its parts and appointments and will attract many boys, young and middle aged men who desire to increase their physical powers. It is quite necessary that every person who uses the gymnasium, use it intelligently, not as a pastime but as a beneficial agency. It will be presided over at all times by a very efficient director, Mr. Albert J. Wicke. Before entering into athletic work every person will undergo a very careful physical examination by a physician of the Y. M. C. A. staff to be sure that no physical defects exist, which would render some of the more active exercises and games harmful rather than beneficial. If a young man has a weak heart or hernia, or weak lungs this will be detected and he will be advised what to do and what not to do. If he has any skin disease or any communicable disease he will of course be barred from the swimming pool or any activities which would endanger others. The staff of physicians will be under the supervision of Dr. G. M. Randall and will be made up of the following: Mr. Nathan Pulsifer, William I. Wiggin, M. A. Long, R. C. Stewart, M. L. Alling, L. F. Gage, R. L. Jones. One of the staff of physicians will be at the rooms to examine applicants each afternoon from 4.30 to 5.30 and each evening from 7.30 to 8.30.

TREASURES OF CHINESE

Boston Man to Travel in China

BOSTON, Jan. 7.—Langdon Warner, a Boston man until recently connected with the Boston Museum of Fine Arts, who within the next few months is to head an expedition into the interior of China to bring to light the hidden treasures to the nation in the fields of art and archeology, expects to walk or go by cart over all China.

His 18 months' tour, part of which will be made on foot and a part in carts, is intended to provide a preliminary survey of the art treasures of the Chinese people. The expedition will penetrate to the heart of the country, to places where white men are hardly known, and Mr. Warner hopes that he will be successful in making available for occidental use at least a part of the vast fund of information accumulated by Chinese scholars, which is now almost unknown to Europeans.

On his return Mr. Warner is to report on the best location for a school, to be known as the American school of archeology, similar in objects and under the same auspices as the schools already established at Rome, in Athens, in the Holy Land and at Santa Fe. These schools, all established by the American Archeological Institute, are doing extensive research work in the various countries in which they are located.

"I expect to cover most of China on foot or in carts," said Mr. Warner in describing his plans yesterday. "We hope to be able to persuade the owners of the great Chinese art collections to allow their use by visiting Americans for study and classification. Hitherto they have been exceedingly difficult to approach, for their owners are suspicious of anyone who asks to see them.

"It used to be the custom in China, under the old Manchu dynasty, for any ruler who happened to take a fancy to the treasures in some private collection to ask to borrow the treasures. The owner had to give them up, and he almost never saw them again. Naturally, the collectors are cautious and try to keep their collections secret. Nothing but personal negotiation can persuade them that we are not trying to defraud them of their collections."

Mr. Warner is already a traveller of wide experience, having spent much time in Japan, as an emissary of the Boston Museum, and in the Thibet. Until a month ago he was connected with the museum. He now goes under the direction of a committee composed of Dr. H. L. Wilson, president of the Archeological institute, Charles D. Walcot, secretary of the Smithsonian Institute at Washington, and Charles L. Freer, a wealthy resident of Detroit, who recently decided to the business, try The Sun "Want" column.

Smithsonian a collection of Japanese paintings and ceramics valued at $1,000,000.

The object of the school, for which Mr. Warner will make preliminary survey, will be to give American and foreign students opportunity to study the old monuments and artistic treasures of the continent. Mr. Warner believes that there are thousands of valuable statues absolutely unknown to American archeologists.

SENATOR HOKE SMITH

To Confer With President Elect Wilson

TRENTON, N. J., Jan. 7.—Gov. Wilson was at his desk today long before any of the employes or department heads reached their offices. He explained that he had a great amount of work to do.

Senator Hoke Smith of Georgia will confer with Gov. Wilson here tomorrow. The meeting is regarded as one of the most important which Gov. Wilson has had since he began to consult democratic leaders. The president-elect has not declared himself explicitly on the senate rule in committee organization but the activity of Sen. Smith and other democrats immediately identified with the Wilson organization has led some to believe that he tacitly approves the reorganization.

Gov. Wilson also wants to learn the views of the Georgia senator covering presidential appointments to the cabinet. Although Mr. Smith's name has been among those mentioned for a cabinet portfolio it is believed he wishes to remain in the senate.

Senator Thomas Gore of Oklahoma will accompany Senator Smith tomorrow. The Oklahoma senator has been conspicuous in the movement to reorganize senate committees and it is known both he and Senator Smith have been in correspondence with Gov. Wilson on the situation in the senate.

The New Style Shuttle Now Used Entirely in the Company's Plant—More Satisfactory Than the Old

At the Hamilton mills the self-threading shuttle has been in operation ever since the beginning, and the agent declares that they are far more satisfactory than the suction kind and are quicker to handle. Dr. Simpson, who is a sort of medical advisor to the mill, says that in Fall River about 40 per cent. of the shuttles are of the old kind, and in New Bedford the percentage is even greater.

Dracut Grange

The members of the Dracut Grange installed their new board of officers last night, the affair being largely attended. The installation was carried out in a most pleasing manner by Worthy State Chaplain Rev. H. H. Wheelock, he being assisted by Past Master Eva C. Blanchard.

After the installation and following the disposal of the usual business routine, there were remarks by Fred L. Fletcher, past master of Chelmsford grange; James Ruth, past master of Middlesex North Pomona grange; Arthur Peabody, past master of Pelham grange, and Murray Parish, master of Tyngsboro grange.

The concluding number of the evening's program was a supper served in the lower hall, under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. Fred P. Vinal and Mrs. Lucy Fox.

GET INCREASE IN SALARY

Boston Truant Officers Get Raise

BOSTON, Jan. 7.—The salaries of twenty-two Boston truant officers were increased $108 a year and four new truant officers were appointed at the meeting of the Boston school committee last night. The increase, which calls for an addition of $2300 to the payroll, creates a new minimum salary for the truant officers of $1512. The former maximum was $1400. The truant officers start in as before with a salary of $1080 annually and receive $108 additional each year for five years until the maximum is reached.

The four new truant officers appointed and the salaries which they will receive are: Francis P. Aleta, third year rating, $1296; Michael C. Tiernan, second year rating, $1188; William J. Marren, second year rating, $1188; John J. Sullivan, fifth year rating, $1512.

The salary of Supervisor Regan of licensed minors was also boosted. He will receive $1296 this year and $108 additional until a maximum of $1512 is reached.

On recommendation of Superintendent Dyer eighty-two minors were licensed to sell newspapers, seven minors were licensed to work as bootblacks and one was licensed to peddle.

The regulations applying to the Boston industrial school and the trade school for girls was changed so that any resident of Boston between the ages of 14 and 25 may be admitted to either school, according to sex and any non-resident in Boston may be admitted on being approved by the state board of education.

The salary increase to the truant officers was not asked for, but it was not wholly unexpected. The increases start Jan. 1.

As a result of the criticism of the fire department, when Principal King of the Dearborn school refused to allow his pupils to answer a fire signal sounded by one other than an official of the schools, Supt. Dyer and School Committeeman Corcoran paid an unexpected visit to the school last week and rang in the fire signal. They reported last night that the pupils left the building in three and a half minutes.

GAME COCK IS BARRED

From Admission as a Parcel Post Package

BOSTON, Jan. 7.—If the laws of the post office department restricting the sending of live stock by parcel post were not enforced the post offices and railway mail trains would very likely resemble good sized poultry yards. Many hens and chickens have been offered at the Boston post office, but all were refused.

Among these was a lively gamecock, closely crated in a wire cage, which kept his limbs inactive, but which did not in any way effect his lungs. The few minutes which the would-be sender spent at the window trying to ship his bird were trying ones for the ears and nerves of the clerks and patrons standing in line. His "cock-a-doodle-doos" rang through the air, and it was only by the greatest perseverance that the clerk in charge finally made the sender understand, above the uproar, that the sending of live stock was forbidden.

A great deal of butter is sent out through this department. If it is hermetically sealed in air-tight packages it is passed along to any zone.

But if it is packed in the ordinary wooden box or in heavy paper it can be sent only in the local or first zone. Fresh fish is also sent only in the first zone, and there is a fear that when the summer comes this distance may be too far.

Arrangements are underway whereby a large poultry firm of Northern New York is to send its egg shipments to this city through the parcel post, instead of by express, as it has formerly done. The eggs will have to be separately packed in excelsior or cotton placed in an individual paper-mache protector, and then a dozen of them packed in a card-board box. Such a combination, box and all, will weigh about two pounds. Four of these dozen boxes will then be packed in a wooden box, which will just about reach the limit of weight, 11 pounds.

Suicide Caused by Worry

DES MOINES, Ia., Jan. 7.—Worry because he could not understand the workings of the parcel post is said to have been the reason Earl Sheetz, 22, a rural mail carrier living at Yale, Ia., committed suicide yesterday. The body was found hanging to a rafter by Ira Sheetz, the youth's father.

Promises to Shave Negroes

CONCORD, Jan. 7.—Albert Oliver, a Main street barber, was found guilty yesterday of discriminating against a person of color in refusing to shave a colored man in his shop. Oliver had a sign up, "Only White People Shaved Here."

The case was placed on file upon Oliver's promise to take down the objectionable sign, and shave colored citizens. He denied he had discriminated.

"I never pointed out the sign to a colored customer," he told Judge Keyes. "I may have pointed to the hair tonic sign next to it, because I recommend it to all my customers."

The presence of the sign and the probability of its effect was considered by the court and a verdict of guilty rendered. Last night Oliver expressed willingness to shave any body in Concord whose face was looking like sprout land.

STRIKERS ATTACK COPS

Police Used Clubs to Protect Girls

NEW YORK, Jan. 7.—In their efforts to intercept 350 young women employed in the wholesale clothing manufacturing concern of J. L. Taylor & Co., as they were leaving work last evening, 500 striking garment workers, the majority of them women, attacked the police on guard in front of the building.

Automobiles were waiting to take the young women to their homes and the police had formed a cordon on either side of the doorway across the sidewalk to the curb.

The police used their clubs on the outstretched arms of the strikers who reached under their arms to seize the coats and dresses of the girls. The automobiles were quickly filled and rushed away.

Five strikers arrested on charges of conducting the strike in an unlawful manner were sentenced by a magistrate to ten days each in the workhouse.

Leaders of the strike claimed late yesterday that 110,000 garment workers are out.

The independent clothing manufacturers met representatives of the various clothing associations last night, final arrangements being made to fight the strike.

AEROPLANE FOR MAIL

Jones Offers Services to Postmaster

BOSTON, Jan. 7.—Harry M. Jones, the young aviator who made descents on the common and on Franklin Field, applied yesterday to Postmaster Mansfield for permission to carry 25 pounds of parcel post mail by aeroplane from Boston to Providence, New London, New Haven, Bridgeport and New York.

The postmaster telegraphed to Joseph Stewart, second assistant Postmaster general at Washington, for permission to establish such a temporary aeroplane route, and expects to receive an answer this morning.

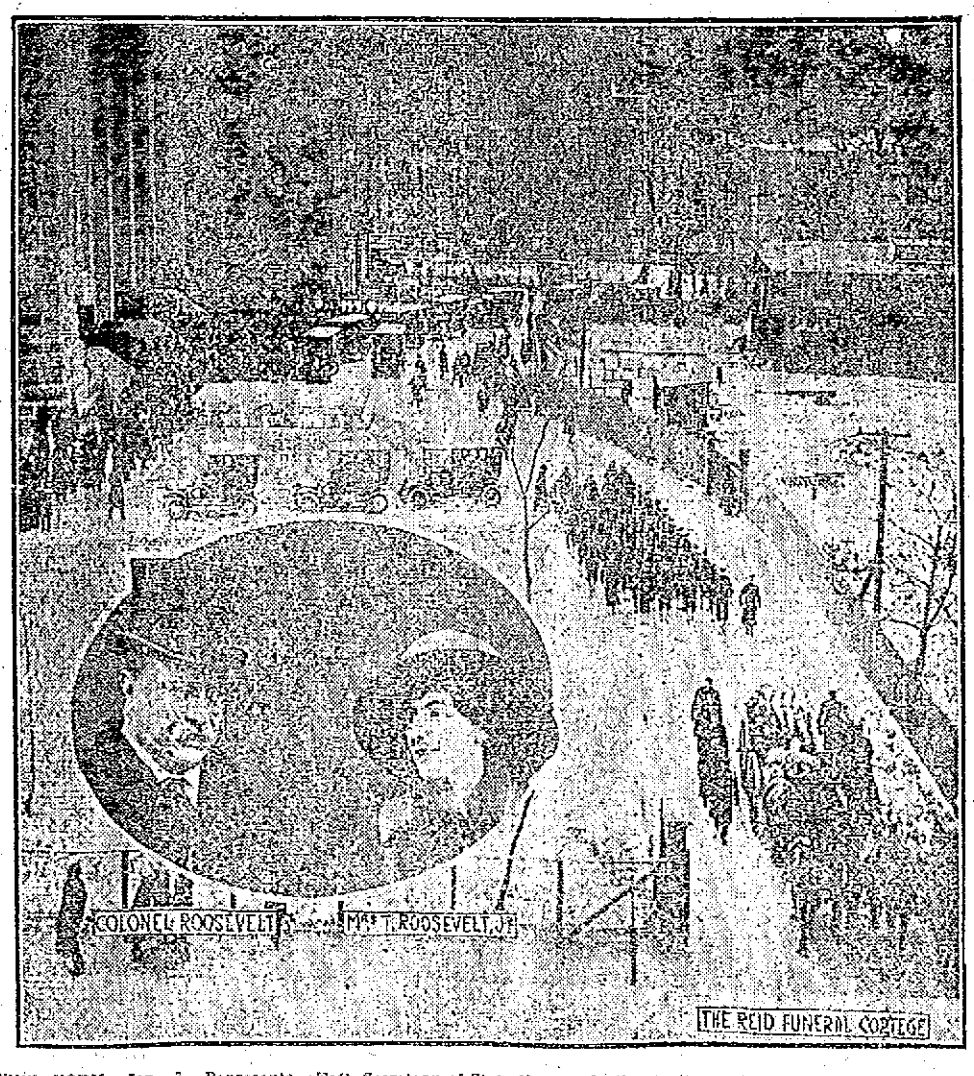

If the answer is favorable, Mr. Jones will be sworn in as a United States mail carrier. Other aviators have been granted permission for carrying letters, but this will be the first time for an aeroplane to carry parcel post matter.

Luther McCarty, White Heavyweight Champion, Wants Crack at Wells, the English Title Holder

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 7.—After taking a much needed rest, the white heavyweight champion, Luther McCarty, will consent to meet Bombardier Wells, the English title holder, in a 20-round bout, Promoter Tom McCarey, who handled McCarty a bout emblematic of the championship he won by decisively thrashing Al Palzer, is willing to stage the contest either Washington's birthday or July 4 next. McCarty has become very popular with the fight fans here. They have seen him stop two tough men, and many of them are of the opinion that at this time he would prove a formidable opponent for Jack Johnson. According to reliable information, McCarty won't put a glove on to box a negro, in connection with McCarty's victory over Al Palzer recently it is interesting to know there is little difference in the measurements between McCarty and Johnson when the latter was at his prime in the ring. McCarty is 20 years old, unusually young to establish a claim for the championship. Johnson was 32 years old when he defeated Jeffries. McCarty has had an eventful career. At various times he has been miner, lumber-jack, cowboy, sailor, roustabout and many other things as the opportunity offered. Picture shows McCarty with his pet bear.

All Great Nations Joined in Honoring Whitelaw Reid at Imposing Funeral Service in New York

NEW YORK, Jan. 7.—Representatives of every great nation in the world joined with their fellow countrymen in the last tribute of respect to the memory of Whitelaw Reid, the dead ambassador of the United States to the United Kingdom. The funeral services in the Cathedral of St. John the Divine were even more impressive than that held in Westminster abbey before the body left London. President Taft, Secretary of State Knox and other cabinet ministers, members of the diplomatic corps, headed by Ambassador James Bryce, with his entire official household; senators and representatives in congress, officers of the army and navy, the officers of the British cruiser Natal, which brought the body across the ocean; representatives of societies and clubs, and personal friends filled the great nave of the cathedral to its utmost capacity. The pallbearers were Hart Lyman, Donald Nicholson, Ambassador James Bryce, W. D. Sloane, Admiral William Sheffield Cowles, Robert Lincoln, Senator Elihu Root, John Cadwalader, Secretary of State Philander C. Knox, Joseph H. Choate, Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, J. Pierpont Morgan, Judge George Gray, Chauncey M. Depew, Robert Bacon and Henry White.

DOCTOR OPERATES ON HIMSELF

Standing Before Mirror He Made Incision, Cut Flesh, Scraped Bone and Sewed Up Wound

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Jan. 7.—Driven to desperation by pain under his inability to find a surgeon who could relieve him, Dr. William Breck of Clarkfield, Minn., stood before a mirror in his office, made an incision just below his left jaw, cut away the flesh from the chin almost to the left ear, scraped the bone and then sewed up the wound. His operation, however, failed to relieve him of a growth which threatened to destroy the jawbone and today he is in a local hospital, where another operation has been performed.

When Dr. Breck performed his own operation he was aided only by a nurse, who was the first to give away under the strain.

30 DEGREES BELOW ZERO

At Miles City, Montana, This Morning

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—Thirty degrees below zero at Miles City, Mont., this morning formed the climax of the cold through the west, extending southeastward to the gulf states. The northeastern part of the country has temporary protection by the development of an area of high pressure over the Atlantic near the coast but this territory, according to the weather bureau sharps, gradually will feel the cold shortly. In Colorado this morning it was below zero, at Salt Lake 20 below, at Cheyenne 24 below, in Manitoba 36 below, at El Paso, Texas, 6 above; Amarillo, Texas, two below, and the freezing temperatures extend through Texas to the Mexican border and eastward to Louisiana. The thermometer reading at Omaha was zero, at St. Louis 22 above, Fort Worth 14, San Antonio 20, Chicago 28, Memphis 34, Atlanta 58, and New Orleans 68.

Bell Breaks Silence

BOSTON Jan. 7.—The heavy clanging of the big burglar alarm bell in the offices of the Cambridge Trust company at the corner of Massachusetts avenue and Holyoke street, Cambridge, last evening at 6 o'clock attracted a squad of policemen and a large number of Harvard students to the bank to capture a supposed burglar who was thought to have set the alarm going.

For 18 minutes the bell kept ringing and in the meantime the crowd grew larger. The whole of Holyoke house, a Harvard dormitory, was emptied of students who joined the watch for the phantom burglar, and scores of other college men, on their way to dinner from the Gold Coast, stopped to watch the police as they tried to get into the trust company's rooms.

The door was finally opened and the police pounced in, only to find the safety vaults untampered with and nobody within the building.

The false alarm was at first thought to have been a student's prank, but later it was decided that the bell started ringing of its own accord just to break the monotony of its long continued silence.

Nat'l Commission Postponed Meeting

CINCINNATI, Jan. 7.—The annual meeting of the national baseball commission was postponed today until some time next week in Chicago. This announcement was made by Chairman Herrmann when it became definitely known that President Johnson of the American league would not be able to come here for at least a week.

A preliminary meeting which was attended by Chairman Herrmann and President T. J. Lynch of the National league, was held, however, and the committee from the National Association of Minor Leagues was heard regarding the fixing of a uniform contract and the individual salary question.

It was announced previous to the meeting that no discussion would be rendered on either subject until the evidence was submitted to Mr. Johnson.

Members of I. W. W. Strike

FRESNO, Cal., Jan. 7.—A camp of the Pacific, Light & Power Co. in the Sierra Nevada mountains, 75 miles from here, reported that a large force of employes of Stone & Webster, contractors, had gone on strike and seized the company's stores pending settlement of the dispute. The men object to their food and living quarters. All are said to be members of the I. W. W.

At the request of the local agents of the company several deputy sheriffs were sent to the camp.

A storm in the mountains has crippled the telephone wires and only meagre information regarding the trouble has been received.

ARM CRUSHED BY BOOM

Second Mate on Boat Made Heroic Rescue

NEW YORK, Jan. 7.—With one arm hanging crushed and helpless, Second Mate William Webb of the British steamer Sagamore, as the vessel was being swept by big seas in mid-ocean, dashed to the rail and rescued an apprentice from going over the side.

Webb's arm had just been crushed by a swinging derrick boom when he saw the apprentice floundering about in the scuppers. He ploughed his way through the water and grabbed the boy by the collar as a big wave tumbled on board. Part of the Sagamore's rail, all her cattle fittings and a portion of her bridge were carried away by the series of westerly gales which she encountered nearly the entire voyage.

PAUPER DEPARTMENT

Greatly Benefits by the Mild Winter

Officials in the pauper department are elated over the fact that there is not so much misery in this city this time of the year as there was in the two previous years. The clerk stated this morning that there were by far less demands for aid during the month of December than last year or the year before. This he said he believes is due to the mild winter, also to the fact that there is considerable more work in Lowell than before.

Miss Eva Turcotte, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Turcotte of 23 Endicott street, left this morning for Danville, Que., where she will resume her studies, after spending the holidays in this city.

MARKET DULL

AT THE OPENING, BUT PRICES OF LEADING ISSUES WENT UP

Beet Sugar Went Down 4 Points at 10 O'Clock—The Market Closed Very Strong

NEW YORK, Jan. 7.—The stock market was dull at the opening today but prices of the leading issues rose generally. Southern Pacific and St. Paul advanced a point each on the first transactions. Beet Sugar and Western Maryland developed further weakness.

A broad inquiry arose for some of the more active stocks after the opening and trading was brisk. Prices moved to a substantially higher level. Union Pacific improved two points and a dozen other favorites half as much.

The bear party received the check at the outset today in the failure of the London market to reflect yesterday's weakness here, quotations abroad showing general improvement. The whole market opened strong and efforts of shorts to cover lifted the representative stocks materially. There was a halt in the urgent liquidation of minor stocks and trading in these issues was limited to comparatively small amounts with the exception of Beet Sugar, which fell to 36, a new low level for the decline.

Forenoon advances were shaded after prices of some of the specialties began to crumble. Beet Sugar went down almost four points to 35⅝, Western Maryland 1 and the pfd. 4.

The chill which the market received from the development of weakness in certain specialties put a restraint on general trading but there was no pressure of stocks. Leading issues ruled from half to 1½ above yesterday's close.

The market closed strong. Beet Sugar went to its lowest figure since 1910, touching 35. Its movement was ignored by the general market which stiffened appreciably in the late dealings. Amalgamated was especially strong and sold at 97 1-4.

MOTHER DEAD AND SON DYING

Young Man Slashed Mother With Razor, Then Cut His Own Throat

NEW YORK, Jan. 7.—When his mother refused to let him have his mandolin today Harold Harrison, a young musical genius in Brooklyn, jumped out of bed and slashed her to death with a razor. Then he locked himself in the bathroom of their apartment and cut his throat. He cannot recover.

Neighbors said that Harrison, who is 24 years old, was affected by overstudy and subject to fits of insanity. He was suffering from one of these fits today and his mother had induced him to go to bed. He was heard to demand his mandolin and Mrs. Harrison told him he could not have it. Then followed the sound of a struggle and neighbors rushed in to find the mother dead and the son dying.

ARCHBALD ON STAND

Judge Cross-Examined at Today's Session

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—Managers for the house of representatives were ready for the cross examination of Judge Archbald of the commerce court when the witness took the stand today before the senate sitting as a court of impeachment, where he is answering charges of misconduct in office and corrupt use of his judicial influence to attain private ends. Judge Archbald's testimony yesterday was limited to direct questioning by his own attorneys. This took the form of a narrative that ran through the 13 articles of impeachment filed against him and gave his own version of the acts charged to have been illegal or connected with the misuse of his judicial power. While Judge Archbald has admitted many of the circumstances of the charges he denied yesterday any wrongful motives, corrupt acts or purposes.

The end of the testimony, expected late today probably will be followed by three days of arguments divided between the house managers and Judge Archbald's attorneys before the senate passes on Judge Archbald's guilt or innocence.

Judge Archbald Testified

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—Judge Robert W. Archbald of the commerce court, under impeachment for alleged misuse of office, continued to testify today in his defense that none of the acts charged against him was wrongful or improper.

The judge testified that when E. E. Williams of Scranton first asked him to communicate with Captain May, manager of the Erie railroad coal properties, about the Katydid Culm dump, around which some of the impeachment charges center, Williams merely asked for a letter of introduction to May and had not asked for the judge's influence as is charged.

Stocks Sold Three Times

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—An examination of the operations whereby the capital stock of the California Petroleum Co was sold three times over on the New York stock exchange in the first month of the company's existence was today's program before the house money trust committee. G. G. Henry of the firm of Solomon & Co., New York city, who with Hallgarten & Co., and Lewisohn Bros. marketed the stock was to be the first witness. Mr. Henry's examination was begun yesterday. He produced the contracts and agreements by which a large part of the California Petroleum stock was sold to syndicates formed by the three banking houses and by them sold to investors. These agreements the committee had endeavored to secure from Lewisohn Brothers, but failed.

33 OF CREW LOST

When the Steamer Rosecrans Sank---3 Saved

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 7.—Advices to the chamber of commerce here from Astoria say the Rosecrans had disappeared when tugs and lifesavers went out to the rescue.

Shortly before 10 o'clock the tanker's hull had sunk from sight. Three men of her crew of 36 clung to a topmast which projected above the waves. All the others, it was believed, perished. It seemed impossible that the three survivors could be saved.

NORTH CHELMSFORD

The first annual meeting of St. John's Catholic club has been held in their hall. The club was organized one year ago and has made rapid strides during the past year. While the club has been very successful, both socially, and financially, it still needs quite a sum of money to help renovate the hall. To raise this money, a performance of "The Old Country Store" is to be given in the local town hall at the end of the month, and the club members, with the assistance of several young ladies, are working hard to make that affair a successful one. The reports of the past year were read by the officers and passed upon. At the next meeting of the club, the newly elected officers will be installed.

Court Wannalancit, M. C. O. F., recently held a special meeting in St. John's hall, for the election of officers. The newly elected officers are: Chief ranger, James F. Daley; vice chief ranger, Arthur Miner; recording secretary, Denis McClusky; financial secretary, Owen F. McNally; treasurer, John F. McManomin; senior conductor, William Donnelly; junior conductor, Fred Beady; inside sentinel, Michael McPhillips; outside sentinel, George Stanley; delegates to the high court, Henry O. Miner, and Jas. B. McQuaid; trustees, John F. Finnegan, George Jones and Perley Constantino. The new officers will be installed at a later meeting.

THICK WITH BRICKBATS

Strikers and Employes Clash in New York

NEW YORK, Jan. 7.—The air was thick with brickbats today when striking garment workers and employes who refused to join them fought in Cooper square. About 400 strikers gathered about a store entrance when the employes went to work. Arguments led to pitched battles in which any available missile served as ammunition. The police, with clubs dispersed the mob and they arrested two of the strikers.

The garment workers today declared that independent manufacturers were making advances and that a series of conferences with these employers would begin tomorrow. None of the employes said to be making overtures belongs to the Manufacturers association.

War Against U. S. Commerce

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—Charges of a war against United States commerce in South America, combinations of European-owned steamship lines to divert American business to European ports and of the operation of the alleged shipping trusts to drive out independent steamship lines were today laid before the house merchant marine committee investigating the so-called shipping combine by Sidney Storey of New Orleans, one of the organizers of the Pan-American mail line. Mr. Storey testified that when European lines plying to South America heard of large orders for cement going to the United States they cut the rate to divert the business to Europe; that they paid rebates to shippers who used their ships exclusively and that the ships of the Pan-American mail were a failure because they were forced to sail back to New Orleans from South America without cargoes.

AUTOMOBILE NEWS

COMPLETE CONTROL SHOWS THE EFFICIENT DRIVER

Wheels of Motor Cars Should Be Equipped With Chains When Roads Are In Slippery Condition

The reports of commissioners of highways and other officers having duties of a similar nature, throughout the country, show the usual increase in the number of fatal automobile accidents. With the rapid increase in the number of automobiles, this result was to a certain extent inevitable, but the number of accidents seems to have increased out of proportion to the number of automobiles, and the causes of accidents are now being more carefully investigated than they have been in the past.

The commissioner of highways, of one county, who is himself an enthusiastic motorist, has gone into the matter with great thoroughness, and after carefully analyzing the reports on automobile accidents in his own and neighboring counties, he makes some interesting recommendations.

As usual the first recommendation is for more stringent enforcement of the laws passed to check excessive speed and racing on the public highways.

His next recommendation is that the wheels of all motor cars be equipped with tire chains in rainy weather or at any time when roads and pavements are in a wet, slippery condition. The commissioner finds that 90 per cent of the auto accidents reported to him were caused by cars not equipped with tire chains skidding into collision with other vehicles or stationary objects like trolley poles, trees etc. The commissioner believes moreover, that a considerable number of accidents classed under "speeding" could have been averted had the drivers of these automobiles had the adequate brake control over their cars which can only be gained in wet weather by the use of tire chains properly fitted to the rear wheels.

The following from his report should be of interest to every man who drives a motor car:

"It is surely self-evident that no one may properly be called an efficient and safe driver of a motor car unless he has at all times complete control over the machine which he is driving. No person driving over a slippery road has complete control of a motor car with wheels equipped with nothing but rubber tires. In an emergency he cannot apply his brakes with full force without starting his car spinning about a slippery road, likely to land in the ditch or against the nearest tree.

"Any man who will take the trouble to study the reports of automobile accidents made to this office, will see by a mere glance over the figures that at least 90 per cent. of all the accidents to motor cars are primarily caused by skidding.

"There is just one way in which a motorist can adequately control his car on a slippery road, and that is by tire chains properly adjusted to all four wheels. Equipped with tire chains not the slightest difficulty will be experienced in gaining complete brake control, and such a thing as skidding will not be possible."

If motorists conscientiously followed recommendation to always carry tire chains and use them whenever conditions indicate the necessity of their application to the rear wheels to insure safe driving, they would go a long way toward starting an effective campaign of accident prevention. But there is still another influence of the greatest importance that should be brought to bear—that of the automobile manufacturer himself. It is certainly to the interests of the manufacturer that his customers should enjoy the use of their machines without accidents. He is not in the repair business and would be only too glad to be relieved of that encumbrance—repair shops and service departments are conducted simply as an accommodation. If there were fewer accidents there would not be the pressing need for such large establishments of this class that exist today, and the freedom from damage from such causes would be beneficial in more ways than one, as an accident frequently gives a car a black eye in the owner's estimation, regardless of whether it was the machine or himself that was actually at fault. The automobile manufacturer should lend a hand in the cause of accident prevention by making a full set of chains a part of the regular equipment of every car he turns out, and include directions for their use in the direction book which accompanies the machine, thus emphasizing their importance. It is only by such foresight that accidents can be prevented.

HIGH PRICE OF GASOLINE

Has Not Affected Sale of Automobiles

OPTIMISTS BELIEVE THERE WILL BE A DROP IN PRICE

Automobile Owners Have to Pay the High Price or Stop Using Their Cars—Good Business For Local Men

The recent jump in the price of gasoline has not had the demoralizing effect on the automobile business that many predicted, for the optimistic person is of the opinion that after a short period the price will take a drop and owners of self-propelled vehicles will be able to purchase gasoline for 15 cents per gallon as formerly.

The writer questioned several local dealers as to what effect the increase in price had on the trade and all agreed that there was no perceptible change. Persons who owned cars are trading them in for new machines and others who never owned a car are placing orders.

It is true that the owner of an automobile does not like the idea of paying 22 cents a gallon, but if he does not want to pay the price demanded he must either stop using his car or sell it.

As one dealer put it, the Standard Oil has spent a "barrel of money" during the recent investigation and instead of the trust standing the expense we have got to be the goats. It is a case of they pull the string and we have to dance. The jump of seven cents a gallon is a big one and adds greatly to the expense of operating a machine, but I am of the opinion that as soon as the poor (?) Standard Oil receives the amount of money expended during the investigation the price will drop."

Manager Emerson of the Lowell Automobile corporation reports a good business during the past week and orders were taken for a number of cars for future delivery. Mr. Arthur D. Prince purchased a model 24 Buick and H. T. Patterson of Nashua, N. H. has ordered a model 40 Buick. A Little Four has been purchased by W. A. Gregg of Westford street and Mr. Hugh Gillon has entered an order for a Little Four for his niece, Miss Sadie A. Gillon. The names of others who purchased automobiles through this agency are withheld until the cars are delivered.

Moody Bridge Garage

The Moody Bridge garage, which was gutted by fire last week, is being repaired, a big gang of workmen being engaged in the work of remodeling. Mr. Joseph Marin, the proprietor, expects that he will be open for business in a few days. It is expected that the Mitchell demonstrating car will arrive at the garage within a few days.

Many owners of commercial vehicles are substituting filled and airless tires for the pneumatic tires and a number of people who own pleasure cars and have not got the speed mania are doing likewise. Stephen Rochette, of the Lowell Motor Mart, has secured the agency for the Dayton airless clincher tire and he expects that there will be a good market for that particular kind of tire during the coming season. He has sold a number to owners of commercial automobiles and a local doctor is having his touring car equipped with the Dayton.

MOTOR SPEEDWAY RACES

Purse of $50,000 to be Divided

Two Stutz cars are the first to be entered in the 500-mile race to be run at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway Memorial day. The cars were entered New Year's day, the day for the opening of the entries for the big grind.

Charley Merz and Gil Anderson, famous as Stutz drivers, were named to pilot the machines. Relief driver for either car was not named. Both Merz and Anderson drove in the 500-mile last year, Merz finishing fourth, and Zengal sixth. Anderson, however, did not finish, going into the ditch at 200 miles with two blown tires.

The cars were entered by the Ideal Motor Car company of Indianapolis, manufacturers of the Stutz car. On both cars will be four-cylinder motors, made to conform to the condition which names 450 cubic inches as a maximum piston displacement.

This year the $50,000 prize will be divided into ten prizes, instead of twelve as last year, as follows: First, $20,000; second, $10,000; third, $5,000; fourth, $3,500; fifth, $3,000; sixth, $2,200; seventh, $1,800; eighth, $1,600; ninth, $1,500; tenth, $1,400.

FOR MOTHERS' CONGRESS

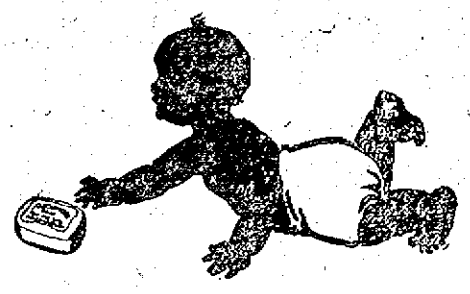

Women to Take Charge of Juveniles

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—Plans are almost complete for the mothers' congress of the District of Columbia whereby leading society women and the wives of senators and representatives and government officials will shortly adopt the role of foster mothers to the delinquents and youthful strayers who come under the jurisdiction of the juvenile court. The finishing preparations probably will be made at a meeting of a committee of the congress Jan. 21 over which Mrs. Fred Dubois, wife of the former senator from Idaho will preside. It is planned to have each woman undertake to watch over one child who has been placed on probation by the court until the probationer is freed from league supervision. The movement is to be organized on the plan in vogue in New York and Chicago and other large cities.

Church News

A Twelfth Night party was held in the parish rooms of St. Anne's church by the Girls' Friendly society last night. Gifts in the nature of souvenirs were given. Refreshments were served and the evening was closed with a service led by the pastor.

There will be a meeting of the Woman's Missionary circle of the First Baptist church Wednesday at three o'clock with Mrs. Harry Stocks, at her home, 141 Parkview avenue. Rev. A. C. Ferrin will be the speaker.

FOYE-BAGSHAW WEDDING

Solemnized at St. Margaret's Church

One of the prettiest weddings of the season took place this morning, when Miss Emma M. Bagshaw and Mr. Francis W. Foye, of Westford street, were married in St. Margaret's church. The young couple are well known in the Highland section, and throngs of their friends and relatives attended the nuptial mass, which was celebrated at 9 o'clock by Rev. Fr. Galligan, the pastor, assisted by Rev. Fr. Reardon.

The bride was beautifully gowned in white duchess satin made with a court train, and trimmed with princess lace. Her tulle veil was fastened with lilies of the valley, and she carried a shower bouquet of roses and lilies of the valley. The bride entered the church on the arm of her mother, Mrs Margaret B. Bagshaw, who wore a becoming dress of lavender satin, with black lace trimming. Miss Margaret Bagshaw, a sister of the bride was bridesmaid. Her dress was of yellow satin, with dainty crystal ornaments on the waist, and touches of yellow velvet. She wore a regular bridesmaid's veil of white tulle, and carried a large bouquet of marguerites. The best man was Harold Foye, a brother of the groom. There were no other attendants.

The musical program of the wedding mass, was under the direction of Mr. L. Guilbault, the organist of St. Margaret's. Two of the bride's favorite songs were sung during the ceremony; "Oh, For the Wings of a Dove," by Miss Catherine V. Hennessy; soprano, and the other, "Oh, Perfect Love," was sung by Mr. James E. Donnelly.

After the ceremony, there was a reception and wedding breakfast at the home of the bride's mother, 24 Marlborough street, furnished by the D. L. Page company, at which only the immediate families were present, together with Rev. Fr. Galligan and Fr. Reardon. The house was decorated for the happy occasion with a profusion of ferns and Jacqueminot roses.

The bride and groom have succeeded in keeping their honeymoon plans a profound secret, even from their nearest relatives. They left soon after the wedding breakfast, but nobody knew their destination. However, judging from the vast quantity of rice used as they departed, not to mention an additional supply that was stuffed into their suit cases, it is safe to say that everyone the young couple will meet on their travels will know that they are on their honeymoon.

Mr. Francis W. Foye, the groom, is the son of Mr. James H. Foye, a conductor on the Bay State street railway, residing in Westford street. He is connected with the Daniels Cornell Co. of Manchester, N. H.

After an extended wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Foye will reside at their new home, 4 Bond street.

Catholic Societies Meet to Make Plans

The annual convention of all the Catholic societies of this city to make arrangements for a fitting observance of St. Patrick's day is scheduled to open in Hibernian hall on next Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The gathering will be called to order by Chairman Daniel Cosgrove, who was elected at a similar meeting last year.

Among the societies which will be represented at this convention are five divisions of the Ancient Order of Hibernians, the Holy Name societies of all the parishes of Lowell, the Catholic Young Men's Lyceum, Young Men's Catholic Institute, Mathew Temperance Institute, Burke Temperance Institute, Sheridan Guards, Wolfe Tone guards, Meagher guards, Irish National Foresters and others. All of these are making preparations for taking active part in this convention and the event promises to be even larger and more successful than that of last year.

As to the method in which St. Patrick's feast will be celebrated, there have been many and various suggestions, and these will be brought up and acted upon by the convention on next Sunday afternoon. All appear to be unanimous in the opinion that a parade is out of the question and it is likely that this feature will be done away with. There are rumors to the effect that all the societies might unite in some form of celebration that would be appropriate to the day.

Another matter, apart from the general celebration, which the various Catholic organizations deemed most fitting for the observing of St. Patrick's day was the receiving in a body of Holy Communion in one of the churches.

Aside from the regular report of the meeting of the societies last year the Secretary has an interesting supplementary report to make in regard to resolutions adopted at the last convention. Letters will be read from Congressman Ames, Speaker Clark, Senator Crane and Senator Lodge.

Patrol Sea for Ice Peril

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—Beginning about April 15, two fast ships of the United States navy will patrol the steamship lanes of the North Atlantic ocean for the purpose of discovering and warning ships of the presence of ice in the route of the liners. It was said at the navy department yesterday afternoon that the fast scout cruisers Salem and Birmingham probably will be chosen for this work. The patrol will be maintained as long as the icebergs drift into the path of the transatlantic steamships. The reports of the patrol ships will be sent out by wireless to vessels at sea and the naval hydrographic office in Washington.

Similar patrol was instituted last May, following the Titanic disaster. Many data will be gathered regarding the movement of ice and means of detecting its presence at sea.

FATHER KILLED AT FIRE

Fell, Breaking Neck---Son Injured

WEST SPRINGFIELD, Jan. 7.—Leander Wendt, aged 49, lost his life, and Leonard Wendt, 14, his son, was injured in a fire which broke out yesterday in their home, corner of Park and River streets.

Otto Wendt, the eldest son, rescued Leonard. He then went into the burning building and pulled his father out of bed and carried him to a window above a veranda. When the father and son were assisted to a place of safety, the former was unconscious from smoke and later fell from the roof of the veranda to the ground.

Mr. Wendt struck on his head, breaking his neck. Edward Wendt, aged 10, and Hilma, aged 17, two other members of the family, were rescued by volunteer firemen.

The fire is thought to have been caused by an incendiary, as a suspicious looking character was seen about the house during the morning. The blaze was discovered by Hilma, who awoke nearly suffocated with smoke. Her cries were heard by her brothers who told her to go to the nearest box and ring in a fire alarm.

Otto then began the work of rescuing the family. Dr. H. A. Downey was telephoned for and summoned Simon J. Russell of Springfield, medical examiner.

Leonard Wendt fractured his arm in some manner and Dr. Downey reduced the fracture. It is thought that he broke it when he ran back into the fire. The apparatus from the Merrick and Mittineague fire stations responded, but not until after the inmates had either made their escape or had been removed. The house was only partially burned. The loss is estimated at $2500. The contents, which were damaged by fire and smoke, were valued at $500.

CHANCE ENTHUSIASTIC

Over Plantation---Meets Owner Farrell Today

CHICAGO, Jan. 7.—An early edition of an afternoon paper prints an extended interview with Frank Chance in which Chance states positively that he will not appear in baseball this season and that his purpose in coming to Chicago was to explain fully his attitude to Frank Farrell, who wants the former leader of the Chicago Nationals to manage the New York club of the American league.

Interviewed On Train

CHICAGO, Jan. 7.—Frank Farrell, owner of the New York American league club and Frank Chance, former manager of the Chicago Nationals, were expected to engage in a conference here today which would terminate in the former National league star becoming the manager of Farrell's team.

Farrell announced on leaving New York that he expected little trouble in inducing Chance to attach his name to a contract.

The amount for which Chance would go to the New York club has been variously estimated at from $10,000 to $20,000 a year with a percentage of the receipts.

The interview is claimed to have been obtained on the train which is bringing Chance to Chicago. The train was due here at 10.45, but was reported several hours late.

According to the story, Chance wishes to stay out of baseball for a year to care for his orange ranch about which he is very enthusiastic.

A LITTLE NONSENSE

CAPT. WM. F. NORTON

Of Volunteer Life Savers in Town

Captain William F. Norton of the Volunteer Life Savers of the New England coast is calling upon the business men of Lowell for the purpose of soliciting contributions to establish a fund for the continued and extended operation of the life saving system.

Captain Norton has been in the service for the past seven years. During five years he was stationed at Salisbury beach and at the end of that time was made a captain of the land department, that is of the stations which are located on the shore. His duties in this office require him to patrol the coast in a patrol boat and this he has done for the past two years.

This morning Captain Norton called at The Sun office and told a reporter an interesting story of the work of the Volunteer Life Savers of the New England coast. During the past six years, he said, they have saved 42 lives and this itself is sufficient inducement for its continued activity and growth.

The system extends from Gloucester to Portland harbor, Maine, and the officers are now making preparations for the season of 1913. At all the beach resorts, the Volunteer corps has established stations and crews and these have accomplished a great deal of good. The corps has gone to the assistance of more than thirty power boats which were in distress off the coast and in each case they were found to have from three to eight persons aboard, all in danger of death.

The men in all the stations are exceedingly well trained for the work and only the most capable are taken. That there is a need for stations of this kind all along the coast is evident from their achievements in saving lives along the entire territory. In order to increase as it should, said Captain Norton, the corps must have more funds for the purchasing of the necessary equipment such as coats, life belts, boats, etc.

Captain Norton is the possessor of several beautiful medals which he has received from different humane societies for his activity in life saving. He is exceedingly well known along the coast and enjoys great popularity among the men in the service. In his duties he is intimately associated with Captain Cornwell Hill of the Patrol boat on which Capt. Norton is located. On the same boat are Howard F. Wentworth, engineer, William Donahue, James Sullivan, who is a well known swimmer and who has received laurels in this for his aquatic performances, William A. Fellows and John Harris.

Captain Norton expressed his intention of remaining in town for several days in the work of soliciting subscriptions for the department.

SAVES WIFE AND BABY

Man Dares Flames in Providence Fire

PROVIDENCE, Jan. 7.—Louis Papernow of 159 Cranston street made a daring rescue of his family yesterday when his house caught fire. After taking his wife out of their burning tenement, Papernow rushed back through the smoke and saved his 1-year-old son, Joseph.

Papernow was in his grocery and fish store on the ground floor when he heard sharp raps on the steampipes. He went to the window and looked up. His wife was in an upper window, crying "Fire!"

He ran up the back stairs and took her out of the building. Then he ran to box 285 and rang in the alarm. Returning to his wife, he found her nearly frantic because she had forgotten the baby.

By this time smoke was pouring out of the upper windows, but Papernow ran into the store and again made the trip up the stairs. He picked up the boy and wrapping him in a blanket stumbled through the burning kitchen and ran down the stairs to the open air.

Atmore L. Crandall, in the same house, was also burned out. The loss is $1500.

CHELMSFORD

The class of '13 met yesterday morning at 10.30 in the Chelmsford High school.

Mr. Henry Smith a former resident of Chelmsford, but now of Wakefield, is spending a few days with his relatives in town.

The parcels coming through this post office are of a large size. It took two men instead of one as usual, to carry the mailbags from the depot last night.

The electric car leaving Lowell at 4.05 ran over a handsome large bulldog near the city line. The owner is unknown.

Mr. Frederic C. Bailey, one of Lowell's oldest and most prominent druggists, spent the day at his camp on Robins hill. Mr. Bailey enjoys visiting his camp in both winter and summer.

Mrs. Harry Flemings of the North Chelmsford road has returned home from the Lowell General hospital and is fast gaining in health.

Mrs. John Skelton of Cambridge who has been visiting her mother, Mrs. Charles Nichols, of North street, has returned home.

Unclaimed letters for this week at the post office are for Mr. and Mrs. Adams and Mrs. Frank Cheney.

W. D. Howels will be the subject of discussion at the Literary union meeting this evening by A. H. Davis.

CRUSHED BY WAGON

Frank X. Leclair, the Driver, Fell From Seat in Gardner and Died of Injuries

GARDNER, Jan. 7.—Frank X. Leclair, a teamster, was fatally injured by being crushed by the wheels of a heavy dumpcart, loaded with sand, when he fell beneath the wagon on North Main street yesterday. He died while being taken to the Henry Heywood hospital.

Mr. Leclair was employed by John T. Lynch and was delivering a load on Chestnut street when the accident occurred. When picked up his body was wedged beneath the rear wheels of the dumpcart, the horses being stopped by Theophile Fredette, a witness to the accident.

He was removed to the L. G. Mc-Knight & Son factory and Associate Medical Examiner Dr. A. F. Lowell notified. After giving first aid, Dr. Lowell ordered his removal to the hospital, but Leclair died before arriving there. He was 43 years of age, and besides his wife, leaves a family of five children who live at 123 Parker street.

National Baseball Commission

CINCINNATI, Jan. 7.—All of the business scheduled to come before the national baseball commission except the election of officers was expected to be undertaken today in spite of the illness of Ban Johnson, which prevented the American league president from attending the meeting. This was according to the announcement of Chairman Herrmann.

A demand for a uniform playing contract, it is expected will be made by a committee of minor league presidents. The committee also is expected to take up the salary limit question.

Three-Cornered Rowing Race

CAMBRIDGE, Jan. 7.—Harvard, Princeton and the University of Pennsylvania will meet in a three-cornered rowing race on the Charles river early in May, according to plans announced here today. The date has not been set but the race will probably take place about two weeks before Harvard meets Cornell at Ithaca. The event will make Pennsylvania's first rowing appearance at Harvard for many years and will be the second annual visit of the Tiger crew.

It was a triangular race last year, Cornell won and Harvard finished second, a length and a half ahead of Princeton.

Breeders Make Nominations

NEW YORK, Jan. 7.—Notwithstanding the suspension of horse-racing in many sections of the country and the fact that no futurity has been run in New York state since 1910, horse-breeders continue the nominations for future events. Those for the futurity of 1913 made public today reached the large total of 1907 or 116 more than for the preceding year, an increase of 20 per cent. Seventy-one different breeders made nominations although there has been no definite assurance that the race will ever be run. The large entry, however, was taken to indicate the hopefulness among breeders that the cloud over racing might be lifted by 1915. John E. Madden is the most extensive nominator for the event, having named 106 mares, many in foal to Ogden.

ALL YOU NEED IS A CASCARET TONIGHT.

NO HEADACHE, SOUR STOMACH BILIOUSNESS OR CONSTIPATION BY MORNING

Turn the rascals out—the headache, the biliousness, the indigestion, the sick, sour stomach and foul gases—turn them out tonight and keep them out with Cascarets.

Millions of men and women take a Cascaret now and then and never know the misery caused by a lazy liver, clogged bowels or an upset stomach.

Don't put in another day of distress. Let Cascarets cleanse and regulate your stomach; remove the sour, undigested and fermenting food and that misery-making gas; take the excess bile from your liver and carry out of the system all the constipated waste matter and poison in the intestines and bowels. Then you will feel great.

A Cascaret tonight will surely straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep. A 10-cent box from any drug store means a clear head, sweet stomach and clean, healthy liver and bowel action for months. Children love to take Cascarets because they taste good—never gripe or sicken.

THE CEMETERY RECEIPTS

Should Go to Cemeteries Says Ald. Cummings

Relative to the bill which will be presented at the legislature, providing that the receipts for public cemeteries in Lowell shall be devoted to paying the expenses of the cemeteries and for no other purpose, Commissioner Cummings has sent the following letter to each local member of the legislature:

January 1, 1913.

To Members of the Legislature from Lowell and Neighboring Towns:

Gentlemen:

In the legislature of this year there will be a bill introduced providing that the receipts for public cemeteries in Lowell shall be devoted to paying the expenses of the cemeteries and for no other purpose.

As a sample, the receipts for public cemeteries of Lowell in 1912 were $10,637. The appropriation for cemeteries in the same year was $8,000. The balance was used for general purposes of the city.

With a year's experience as a commissioner of public cemeteries I do not believe any appropriation should be made by the municipal council for public cemeteries of Lowell. In place of it the receipts for cemeteries should be used in caring for cemeteries. The receipts of the water works of Lowell are devoted to the water department.

If this meets your approval I will be obliged if you will favor it. I will be pleased to answer any inquiries regarding it.

Sincerely yours,
Commissioner of Public Cemeteries of Lowell.

VISITED MILLIONAIRES

Suffragettes Called at Fifth Ave. Residences

NEW YORK, Jan. 7.—The personal visit campaign of 50 young and pretty women suffrage workers was directed at millionaires' row on Fifth avenue for its first trial last night with varying success. Thirty of the suffragettes reported disappointment today because they could not find their quarry at home.

Andrew Carnegie sent word to two young women who visited his home that he was a "strong anti" but not strong enough to invite the visitors to a personal interview. They thrust a large amount of literature into the hands of the butler, suggesting that both he and Andy peruse it carefully.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Borden Harriman, Mrs. John Jacob Astor and a number of other wealthy people were reported "out" but in each instance plenty of literature was left.

OPERATION ON KNEE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—John Henry, the Washington Americans' mainstay behind the bat, is resting easy in a local hospital today after a serious operation on his knee for the removal of a loose cartilage. The surgeons are hopeful that the operation will be successful and say that unless blood poisoning develops the senators' premier backstop should be in condition for the spring training.

ROWING REGATTA

Intercollegiate Event Will Be Held at Poughkeepsie on June 21, Day After Harvard-Yale Race at New London

NEW YORK, Jan. 7.—The Intercollegiate rowing regatta held annually on the Hudson at Poughkeepsie will be held this year only a day after the Yale-Harvard race at New London, according to announcement of dates made today. The date has been set for June 21, nearly a week earlier than usual because tidal conditions in the Hudson are deemed unsatisfactory later in the month.

The stewards of the association also have set dates for next year when the regatta will be held June 26 and for 1915, when it will be rowed on June 28. The advisability of sustaining a race of junior eight-oared crews for the varsity four-oared race which has been a part of the regatta since 1899 is to be considered at a meeting of the stewards here shortly. Although the four-oared race has been one of the most picturesque contests the argument in favor of a junior eight-oared event is that it will give more men an opportunity to row in the regatta and there would necessarily be a better incentive for more candidates to train.

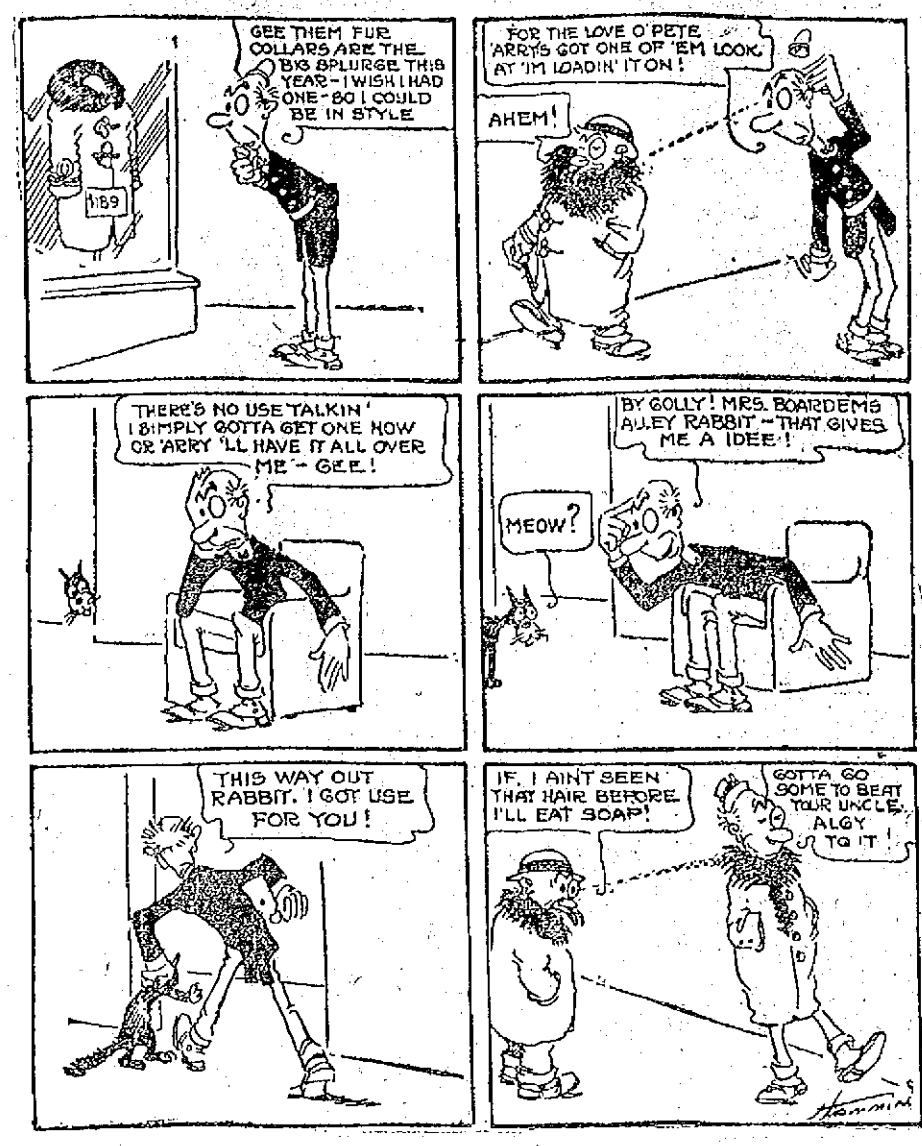

500 WOMEN DELEGATES

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—Women from all over the United States gathered here today for the first annual convention of the Women's National Democratic league which will remain in session three days. Mrs. Crosby was prepared to make a response and Mrs. Matthew Scott, president general of the Daughters of the American Revolution, was ready with an address of welcome. Business of the convention then was taken up.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—Seeking to evolve a new currency system plan to be recommended to congress as a substitute for the one proposed by the national monetary commission, a subcommittee of the house committee on banking and currency today began a series of public hearings that probably will continue several weeks. Bankers and financial experts from all parts of the country have been invited to give their views. Those who were to be heard today included A. Barton Hepburn and Paul Waurberg New York bankers, and Victor Morawetz, a writer.

ALGY THE COP

STUBBORN HUSBAND YIELDS

Agreed to Support Family When Judge Enright Imposed Stiff Sentence to Jail

Michael Economakos, a man devoid of principle with no respect for the court and no regard for his wife and five children who are starving, was the most stubborn man that Judge Enright has had to deal with since he took his place on the bench of the local police court. Economakos has been gambling his wages away and leaving his family in want and it was only recently that the case was brought to the attention of Agent Richardson of the Lowell Humane society and after an investigation had been made, a warrant for neglect was sworn out and served on Economakos. Judge Enright endeavored to reason with the man but the latter was stubborn and said he would prefer to go to jail than turn his earnings over to the probation officer but when the court took the man at his word and sentenced him to five months in jail Economakos came to time and agreed to abide by the original order of the court.

Agent Richardson testified that as a result of information received he paid a visit to the house in the rear of 585 Market street and found the house in a filthy condition. There was nothing to eat and the wife and five children had very little clothing. He said the six-months-old-baby had nothing on but a print dress, the five year-old child had neither shoes nor stockings and one child about seven years of age was in about the same condition.

Nicholas Spyropoules said he knew the defendant to be a gambler who spent his weekly wages playing cards. Another witness said he had seen the defendant's children barefooted on the streets when there was snow on the ground.

Economakos said he received $8 a week and claimed to provide for his family. Judge Enright ordered the man to turn his pay over to Probation Officer Slattery every week and the latter would see that the family was provided for but the defendant refused to do this.

"What is going to happen to your family?" asked the court.

"I don't care," answered the defendant through an interpreter.

"Here is a man who absolutely refuses to turn money over to a person who will give it to his wife. The only question in my mind is what will become of the family if he is sent away?"

The court then sentenced Economakos to five months in jail and the latter went down stairs but a few minutes later word came back that he would abide by the order of the court if given a chance to do so and Economakos was then ordered to turn his wages over to Mr. Slattery every week.

Sent to House of Correction

Michael J. Connors charged with drunkenness and the larceny of wearing apparel, amounting to $20.35, the property of A. K. Barain, pleaded guilty to both complaints. Patrolman Abbott testified to having been notified of the theft and with the assistance of one of the residents of the Syrian colony, located Connors. Connors is well known to the police, having been before the court on 25 different occasions. He was found guilty on both charges and sentenced to three months in the house of correction for drunkenness and four months in the same institution for larceny.

Larceny Case Resumed

The case of George and Theodorus Glatas, charged with the larceny of $410 from Xanthe Coulitsas, was resumed this morning at the conclusion of the routine business. According to the complaint Xanthe was left in the care of the defendants when her brother went back to Greece. The girl worked in the Boott mill every day and did housework for the brothers at night, and it is alleged that she turned the greater portion of her wages over to the Glatas brothers. A short time ago she got married and when she asked the defendants for the money which she had given them they told her that her brother owed them a big bill and that she had got her board and room from them and there was nothing more coming to her. She reported the matter to a local lawyer and warrants were issued for the arrest of George and Theodorus Glatas.

Raised a Disturbance

Frank Litoski went on the rampage Saturday night and while in an intoxicated condition entered a house in Wall street and refused to leave when ordered to do so. Patrolmen Molony and John J. Sullivan were called and they placed Litoski under arrest. He was charged with drunkenness in court yesterday morning, but pleaded not guilty and the case was continued until this morning. The court, after hearing the testimony of the officers ordered the defendant to pay a fine of $5.

Other Offenders

Fannie Barnes, who was arrested for drunkenness on Nov. 23 and who has been at the City hospital since that time, was brought into this court and placed in the custody of the probation officer for a term of six months.

Mateos Zuposka was fined $5 and two simple drunks were released.

Case Continued

The case of John Dores charged with concealing a watch valued at $65 was continued until tomorrow at the request of the government.

Will Not Indorse Any Candidates

BOSTON, Jan. 7.—It was decided by the democratic city committee at its meeting last evening not to indorse any of the candidates for the city council to be voted on at the coming city election.

Arrangements were made at the meeting for a number of rallies in the various sections of this city from now until election day. It was suggested that the three municipal league candidates be invited to speak at these meetings. This was objected to and it was finally left to the ward chairmen in the wards where the rallies are to be held to decide whether the municipal leaguers should be invited to some of the democratic meetings or not.

Democratic Gov. of N. H.

CONCORD, N. H., Jan. 7.—Gov. Samuel Felker, the first democratic chief executive of New Hampshire in many years, took the oath of office today in the presence of the members of the state legislature and a crowd which packed the state house galleries. The ceremonies of inauguration were simple and brief. In his first message to the general court Gov. Felker dwelt at some length on the questions now occupying the attention of the people of the state.

MANY MANUFACTURERS

Present at Hearing on Chemical Schedule

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—Manufacturing interests all over the country were represented today at the second hearing on the chemical schedule before the house ways and means committee. The hearings are to continue until January 31 and the tariff schedules will be taken up in sequence. The committee is keeping the witnesses as closely as possible to their allotted time, allowing each a 15 minute headway for interrupted arguments followed by a more or less close examination by the committee. Failure of a witness to appear at the appointed time forfeits the right to speak and no one is permitted to file a supplemental brief. The plan of Chairman Underwood is to get through with the hearings as expeditiously as is consistent with the policy of allowing all interests an opportunity to present views.

The first witness today was Theodore Ricksecker of New York, who voiced the opposition of the Manufacturing Perfumers association to the transfer of distilled and essential oils used in perfumery preparation from the free list to a 20 per cent. advalorem duty. He said he regarded it as a mistaken notion that perfumery was a luxury and that he has known of working girls who spent much of their week's wages for it.

Mr. Ricksecker made a plea that "we are all entitled to a slice of happiness" and that perfumery was virtually a necessity for servant girls as well as a necessity for womankind generally.

The manufacture of dry colors in the United States was taken up by A. S. Somers of New York as a witness. He asked for an equalization of the tariff reductions of coal tar dyes and on dry colors. Mr. Somers said he was not in sympathy with the idea of a tax on raw materials which enter into manufacture.

"This is no pipe dream," he said, "if you put paris green on the free list you will wipe out every paris green factory in the United States. Canada has a 10 per cent duty shutting out our manufactures and without protection the Canadians would drive us out of business."

"The general opinion is that you're robber barons," suggested Rep. Hall of Connecticut, smilingly.

"I don't see why. There is the greatest competition in the paris green business."

P. H. Callahan of Louisville, Ky., speaking for the National Varnish association, said the varnish industry could not stand a free trade basis. He declared he asked for protection and protested that removing the duty on sugar and putting a tax on non-competitive varnish raw materials would "not improve the situation at all."

Gov. Pothier Inaugurated

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Jan. 7.—Governor Pothier, the other general officers of the state and the legislature were inaugurated today for the first time under the new biennial election law. It was the fifth consecutive time Governor Pothier took the oath of office as the state's chief executive, and the other general officers, with the exception of Lieut. Gov. Roswell B. Burchard of Little Compton, succeeded themselves. Despite the fact that there will be no inauguration next year there were no changes in the ceremonies which have always characterized the occasion. As each official was sworn in a deputy sheriff from the balcony of the state house "proclaimed to the multitude assembled" as provided in the constitution. At the announcement of the governor's inauguration a salute of 17 guns was fired.

All the general officers are republicans, and there is a republican majority in both branches of the legislature.

Navigation Impeded

BOSTON, Jan. 7.—Navigation in the harbor was impeded today by a thick fog which settled over the city and suburbs. The mist and heavy clouds made the morning so dark that nearly all business houses in Boston found it necessary to use artificial lights. The temperature, which rose to 62 degrees last night, stood at 50 at 10 a. m.
